Sensational statements were made hast year regarding the discovery of tungsten in this district, and careful investigations went to show the occurrence of the ore at several points, and that prospects were bright for small production from the intelligent development of the prospects found. No further developments have, however, taken place.

Molybdenite discoveries were made in the district during the same period and were considered to be of importance, and the possibilities of development were favorably reported upon. No developments along this line have taken place.

The pack was only 15 per cent. below that of 1918, although the catch during June and July was exceptionally light. The pickled and cold storage output is larger than last year.

The canned pack on the river is estimated at about 530,000 cases "as they This is conservative and is equivalent to about 357,750 full cases of 48 lbs. each, and represents 21,465,-000 pounds of raw salmon. The cold ! storage output consists of 24,242,500 pounds of fish cured at the canneries and cold storage plants.

This means that since the season opened on May 1st, the gill-netters, trollers, seiners, purse seiners, and trappers have altogether been paid the sum of $2,706,280 for their catches. This is worked out at the ruling price of 11% cents a pound and does not include other large sums expended for labor. Figuring $13.00 a case for the canned salmon and 18 cents a pound for the pickled fish, the output of the Columbia River fisheries during the season is worth $5,403,000.

Lost People of Arizona.

By far the most interesting remains of the lost people of Arizona are their network of canals which prevail through the valleys. The longest is the one tapping the Gila river and which supplied with water the ancient city, now marked with the one standing building. This is the Casa Grande, about which so much has been written and which has excited so much interest among archaelogists in the last

The volume of water taken out by this canal must have been immense, for it supported millions of acres. In most places the canal has been filled with drifting sand, but its course is easily traced. Engineers who located the Maricopa canal made use of the old Aztec ditch and to-day water runs over its pebbly bottom just as it did 2,000 or 3,000 years ago.

For miles and miles around mounds tell the tale of houses destroyed by the ravages of time. Phoenix was 000. built on the ruins of this ancient city and there relics frequently are found of this ancient civilization.
