Navy Week

An aggressive campaign is being waged to arouse interest throughout Ontario in the work of the British Navy and of our own Canadian merchant marine.

Ontario being an inland Province, lacks what is called "sea-consciousness" and it is hoped this campaign will create it. The development of a great land heritage is shown to be dependent in no small degree on the maritime markets of the world are open to Canadians. Trade follows the flag.

The Navy League of Canada has a wonderful vision of the future of Canada and is planning between Oct. 18 and 23, "Naval Week" to raise $750,000 to stimulate the building of Canadian ships and the furthering of Canadian sea-borne trade in general. Canada stood third among the nations 70 years ago in her merchant marine. Today she is 8th. The sea-conscious spirit must be developed or she will drop lower still and one way to help development is to support the efforts of the Navy League.

Canada can reduce her taxes, pay her war debts, keep workers busy, make farmers prosperous by selling her surplus grain, fruits, dairy produce, manufactures to the nations of the British Empire. The key to the market is ships—Canadian ships. Canada can do what Britain has done—make and control her own trade routes with Canadian ships. Protected by the British Empire Navy of which the Canadian Navy will be a unit, it will be an honor to all-British sea power in keeping with Canada's premier place within the Empire.

There are 8,700 ships under the Canadian flag today. The value of the merchant fleet of Canada is $250,000,000. Through lack of interest of Canadians in their maritime affairs these ships are neither officered nor manned by Canadians. Today the protection of Canadian trade routes is not given by Canada. The burden of the British Navy is $17 per head of British taxpayer. The "Barden" of the Canadian navy is twenty-five cents per head of Canadian taxpayer.

These letters are being frequently used to stand for the electoral idea

"Proportional Representation" which was tried out in Winnipeg recently with great success. "P. R." where ever investigated is almost unanimously endorsed and its use obviates the unfairness the present system imposes where three or more candidates are in the field.

In these days when parties are numerous, U. F. O., Labor, Independent, in addition to the two old parties, there is a greater likelihood than ever of there being more than two candidates in an election. Hence the importance of the "P. R." method.

Under the old system with 3 candidates you marked an X opposite your choice and you were done. Under the new system you mark the figure 1 opposite your first choice, 2 after your second choice and you are done. If a first Winnipeg there were 3 candidates to be elected out of 41 voters you could go on marking 3rd, 4th, 5th, choices up to 10 or as far as you cared to express preferences. The Ottawa City is:

Voting by this system of proportional representation is sometimes called the single transferable vote. Each elector has one vote and one vote only. The effect of marking second and subsequent choices is virtually to instruct the returning officer to transfer the vote under certain conditions. It means that in the event of the voter's first choice receiving more votes than he needs to elect him, the returning officer is instructed to transfer the voters' ballot to the candidate marked as next preference. Or, likewise in the event of the voter's first choice having so few votes as to be at the bottom of the poll, the returning officer is instructed where to transfer the ballot.

By the single transferable vote, every vote is made effective, none is wasted. In Winnipeg constituency with ten members to be elected on one ballot, the candidate need only receive more than one eleventh of the total votes to be sure of election. Only ten members could receive MORE THAN one-eleventh of the total votes.

This least number of votes necessary for election is called the quota. When the ballots are first sorted by the returning officer's staff the total is divided by one more than the number of representatives to be elected and the next whole number above the answer is the quota. The returning officer then proceeds to declare elected all who have received this quota on the first count, that is, by ballots marked first choice.

The surplus ballots of successful candidates—the surplus—above the quota—are distributed by the returning officer as instructed, to candidates marked as subsequent preferences on the ballot papers. Then the candidates at the bottom of the poll are eliminated in turn, beginning with the candidate receiving the least number of votes.

This process of transferring ballots is straightforward and fair to all. There is nothing more involved in the distribution of surplus ballots than the simple rule of three. The counting officers in Winnipeg were men with no previous experience of an election under proportional representation.

Winnipeg is a cosmopolitan city. It includes voters of many nationalities. But the electorate had no difficulty in voting. There were no more spoiled ballots, even though voting for the first time, under proportional representation than under the former system of marking an X.

A committee of the Legislature with all parties represented, is meeting today, 20th Oct., in Toronto to consider the method and will report at next meeting of the Legislature. Mr. H. P. Hill, Conservative member for Ottawa west, was the introducer of a bill at last session to incorporate P. R. as a part of the electoral system of Ontario.

Sugar Excitement

Thursday of last week the Board of Commerce gave a ruling forbidding the importation of American sugar which was selling at 11 1/2 to 13c in United States cities. At the same time they fixed the price to Canadian consumers of Canadian refined sugar at 21c.

This was so plainly meant to protect the refiners (who had been hoarding up great stocks) at the expense of the consumer, that a strong and insistent howl of indignation arose. The government got scared and suspended the ruling of its previous Board of Commerce until the 20th inst at least when a conference is to be held.

Nothing of recent years has so plainly revealed to the average citizen, the working of protection; a crime to buy sugar across the line at 13c, but patriotic! to buy at home for 21c! the difference going—not to the government but to swell the refiners' profits.

Later—The conference yesterday resulted in the government cancelling the Board of Commerce order permanently. It is expected the price of sugar will fall to 10c in a week or ten days. The refiners will lose $3,000,000 but no sympathy is expressed as their previous profits were large.

Lloyd George in Trouble

A fearful situation exists in Britain which is again on a war basis, owing to a strike of millions of coal miners which is paralyzing all industry and if continued will deepen the sufferings of most of Europe. Lloyd George's government would grant the two shilling increase demanded if the unions would speed up production. This they will not promise, hence the strike. If the little Welshman can cope with this situation, it will be his greatest victory.
