> The development of this spirit and leadership ability is due to a combination of influences. Perhaps the most direct institution for their promotion is the boys' and girls' club work. Then there are the better rura schools, more capable teachers, live country churches, active farmers clubs and Women's Institutes, all cooperating to lead the junior farmers to enjoy the blessings and the advantages of a full life. Therefore, if the national outlook is dependent upon our rural youth the future is certainly most promising.
