PRICEVILLE AND VICINITY

PRICEVILLE VILLAGE

The cold wave of the past week has passed away and spring like weather prevails at end of week. On Saturday evening of last week we noticed a flock of wild geese circling around between the Saugen River and Moss Lake. After a few moments they seemed to settle down on the lake for the night.

The farmers in this vicinity realize the importance of improved breeding in their cattle and other live stock. Among the importations this year, we notice that John Oliver on the O. D. R. east, has brought home a fine young imported Shorthorn Bull and over on the South Line, Jas. Turner has purchased a fine 16 months old Shorthorn Bull from Thus Nichol for a good price. From the North Line, the Durham Road and South Line, we expect to see a fine display of these animals, also registered cows and young stock at our Fall Fair next October.

Mr. Stafford, a new arrival in town, has opened a general store in the Aldcorn block and probably will be able to attract many new customers from outside points.

The several persons who have been ailing for more or less time, seem to be improving, some slowly, but we expect to see them all round again in the near future.

PRICEVILLE & SOUTH LINE

All that have maple bush are busy making syrup this week.

East wind and some rain this Monday afternoon, 28th March. The roads are in bad shape for whealing and have not seen any autos on the South Line yet.

A large quantity of wood was cut by the buzz saw during the past week. Cameron Smellie and Mr Jones from Priceville (not our good pastor) were running opposition last week. Those engaging them were satisfied with the work done.

The U. F. O. were shipping hogs from Priceville last Saturday.

A hearty welcome is given to Mr. Knox of Swinton Park, by the citizens of Priceville, in becoming a resident of their town. Mr Knox has rented the late Dougald McCormick's fine residence.

Hector McDonald spent a week in Toronto, combining business and pleasure.

Pleased to hear that Dan McKinnon of Priceville who is in the hospital at Fergus for a serious operation is getting along well and hopes he will be home soon again.

Mrs Hugh McKinnon, S. Line, is not feeling well but hopes she will be around again soon. She is chiefly attended by her good son Malcolm, who is now feeling well after his long experience in Fergus hospital.

We are also pleased to hear that Mrs Chas McDonald of Egremont, is about right again after her serious operation by Dr Groves of Fergus. Her sister who so faithfully attended her is home again at her mother's, Mrs Whitmore's, near McWilliams.

Pleased to hear Mrs. Ferguson is better also after her spell of sickness.

Mr Stifford from North Glenora, has opened up a store in Mr Aldcorn's buildings this Monday, 27th March. Hope he will do well in his change from being a farmer to a merchant.

School Fairs

During the past two weeks over 70 applications from Grey County Rural Schools for entrance into the various School Fairs have been received. Many of these are entering for the first time. The Department welcomes them and is assuring them every possible assistance.

The school fair is instituted to supply the practical side in the education of our Rural children. The work is done at home entirely so that no time from the pupils study hours are used.

The seeds for school fair work are given in free of charge by the Department of Agriculture. Any Rural School may enter upon payment of a small fee preferably $5.00, but the amount is left entirely to the discretion of the Trustees Board. Full instructions were sent out to every Secretary of every section in Grey County. The Department of Agriculture hopes for as many more applications during the next two weeks as they have received during the past. Help boost the School Fair.

No fewer than 14 of them are issued FREE by the Department of Health, Ottawa. A set of them has just reached our office and we have perused some of them with pleasure and profit. They are unique in their way, bearing the attractive directness of their author, Miss Helen McMurchy, whose fame in connection with child welfare and home economics is nation wide. Some of them have only 8 to 12 pages, a few run over 20 pages but all are alluring and highly instructive. Here is the list:

1. Beginning a Home in Canada.

2. How to build the Canadian house.

3. How to make our Canadian home.

4. How to make outpost homes in Canada.

5. Canadians need milk.

6. How to cook in Canada.

7. How to manage housework in Canada.

8. How to take care of Mother

9. How to take care of the family.

10. How to take care of the baby

11. How to take care of the children.

Something Doing in South Grey

Does Love Run Smoothly?

When A. D. Creaser was made Police Magistrate for the County of Grey it meant a lot more work for him and as a result he is now kept busy going all over the County to hear and try cases. Recently he was in a certain South Grey zone, where things were a bit wild and loose, and this case in question involves a lot more than the ordinary charge that was laid against the offender. It is like this:

Two young men both like the same girl. Each of the men has an outfit consisting of a horse and cutter and there is great rivalry as to whom the young lady goes driving with. One bright day lover No. 1 drove into the yard of the girl's home and the young lady immediately got in with him and they drove away. Lover No. 2 was close behind and saw what had happened. Whipping up his horse he passed the couple in the other cutter. As he was passing he hit Lover No. 1's horse twice, once on the back and then again on the head. As a result the horse of No. 1 became fractious and ran away. After running a quarter of a mile it upset the cutter and did a lot of damage generally. Now Lover No. 2 is in trouble and the Magistrate is in doubt as to what his judgement as he wishes to look up authorities and precedents and he also wishes to consider what influence his decision will have on the working out of this particular eternal triangle.

Men's Bible Class

"Ignorance of the law is no excuse" in the court yet no lawyer knows all the law and after the wisest of them have argued on a case, the most learned judges reserve judgment for a week.

"Justice for the poor and ignorant" will be discussed next Sunday and anyone who stops to consider the matter will realize its great importance. Law is hard; its interpretation ought to be humane. Law is intended to protect an innocent man and no court procedure ought to cost an innocent man one cent. The crown prosecutes, let the crown also defend. The prophets of old demanded justice in the name of God. The common man to-day demands it. Every man has a right to it, tempered with mercy if he is guilty. Come and tell the fellows what you think about the matter.

Death of Mrs. McMillan

From The Morning Chronicle, Halifax

The following extract comes under Antigonish news of the "Morning Chronicle," Halifax, and where the deceased lady spent her active years:

"A wide circle of friends will regret to learn of the passing away of the death of Mrs John McMillan, formerly of Antigonish, whose death on the 13th inst. took place at the home of her daughter, Mrs Robert Macfarlane, Durham, Ont. Born in Dunfermline, Scotland, the deceased whose maiden name was Margaret Gibson Bauld, after spending a portion of her younger days in Edinburgh and the Isle of Mann, came in the early 60's to Halifax, Nova Scotia, where she resided for some time with her uncle, the late John Gibson and in 1870 was united in marriage to John McMillan, late of Antigonish, in which town she made her home for the next 37 years. A lady of culture and refinement with many endearing qualities of mind and heart. A bright and interesting conversationalist, she adorned the circle in which she moved and made a host of friends wherever she was known, a few of who still survive to cherish the memory of former hours, of hours happily spent in the long ago under her hospitable roof, in the old home at 'Riverbank', Antigonish."

Veterans

Under the heading "Veteran Members of the Globe family" appears two cuts of Mr John A. MacDonald, veteran correspondent of the Review and Thorpe Wright, at one time a prominent Fiesbertonian, now living in Toronto. Both are old readers of the Globe the former since 1858. Mr Wright from 1860. The Globe says:

"Inspired by a letter from Mr Peter Ryan of Toronto, Mr MacDonald of Priceville, Grey Co., writes to say that he has recollections of reading the Globe as a youth in 1858 when the paper was a valued item in the mail that reached Priceville once weekly. Mr Wright modestly puts himself in second place as he has been a reader "only since 1880—a mere 62 years!"

—Finance Minister Fielding brought down his budget last week and a drop of $138,000,000 from last year, almost takes our breath away. If Hon. Fielding can keep up this pace he will achieve a greater honor in his old age than he did in 1897 when 25 years younger. The King government is the centre of all eyes and is making good, in spite of the unexpected bitterness of the Conservative opposition, who seem to be unoblasted by their phenomenal defeat.

Lively Legislature

Proceedings in the Legislature on Tuesday had more than "a certain liveliness" as the war dispatches used to say. Timber controversies were up and G. Howard Ferguson was on the defensive, with Attorney General Raney, rather than charging him with carelessness, even criminal disposal of timber lands. J. A. Mathies, member for Rainy River, and also General Manager of the Shelwin-Clark Co supported Ferguson, of course Premier Drury took a small share but to Raney fell the great task of exposing the inadequate even reprehensible methods employed by Ferguson when minister of Lands and Forests.

The fact that rather than face investigations contractors had returned money to the government, amounting to hundreds of thousands seems to place the present government on sure grounds.

Later—the vote that followed the debate resulted 59 to 26 in favor of the government.
