The Budget Debate

Miss McPhail has Her Say

The Budget debate always has an interest in a two party parliament. With three parties it is even more so. A noted speech was given last week by W. G. Raymond, M. P. of Brantford, who though a Liberal, advocates moderate protection. He got considerable heckling, his theories not going down by either Liberals or Progressives. He was followed by Miss McPhail, M. P, who made a lengthy contribution to the debate, which was in the main a plea to save rural life which she alleged was suffering from the effects of protection.
