Ottawa Letter

After an exciting evening, and also after having been modified to an extent to take care of most of the serious objections advanced against it, the budget went through the House on Wednesday morning by a majority of 18. The carrying by such a vote has had the effect of clearing the political atmosphere and settling the House down to the final stretch of the session in good humour. There will, of course, be minor changes made when the resolutions come before committee, but they will be more in matters of detail than principle.

The Drayton amendment charging non-fulfilment of pledges met the fate which has been predicted for it. With the support of some half dozen Progressives, including Miss McPhail and labor men, who had to be forced to record their votes, Mr. Meighen mustered only 51 votes behind Sir Henry's amendment while the government was supported by 169 members.

The end came after an exciting evening, and the galleries were filled to suffocation when the vote was called. For hours many people had stood in the corridors hopeful of gaining access to the galleries for the vote and when finally all were allowed in there was not a square foot of standing or seating room vacant. Jubilation reigned among the Liberal members when the result was known and members "let off steam" by flinging papers and blue books at one another and across the floor.

The modifications made by Mr. Fielding were well received. These included a change in depreciated currency regulations: taxes on automobiles are only 5 per cent up to $1200, ten per cent over $1200; the tax on candies and soft drinks was made lighter; the soda-fountain man was taxed and tax on bottled goods reduced. Cigars and cigarettes of the cheaper kinds are reduced while the man who wants dearer ones must pay more.

Fertilizers and sugarbeet pulp are put on the free list: taxes on cheques which were to be 2c for every $50 over the first $50, no matter how big the sum are now limited to 2c that is when the 2c amount to $2.00 there is no more required even if the sum goes into the millions. A new impost is put on receipts, two cents on every receipt over $10.00.

Another modification was the one cancelling all brewing of beer except by persons regularly licensed and a license costs $50.00. The freight rate committee's report will give hope of a reduction which will give joy if correct. 27 vessels of the Canadian government merchant marine are to be disposed of, yet a vote of $4,360,720.00 is being asked for in a loan. An expensive institution still.

Farmer Opinions

A recent Crop Bulletin issued by the Ontario Dept. of Agriculture, has brief extracts from letters all over the province regarding Agricultural conditions. Here are three from this district:

Proton, Grey: We generally sow about 16 acres of turnips and they are the best paying crop we have.

Bentink, Grey: Farmers seem as a class to be getting settled again and there is less buying and selling of farms. Some farmers say they are playing a losing game but the majority seem to be able with a reasonable amount of work, to pay their debts and live comfortably. From 60 to 80 per cent of them have cars and with the help of the good roads system, live less secluded lives than they have in years past.

Egrefont, Grey: Sheep raising, with the low price of wool, is discouraging and many are going out of the industry. Dairying is still flourishing and poultry raising is more extensive than for years.

The threatening appearance of the night hindered many from being present. They were made the recipient of a couple of chairs and a centre table. A joyous evening was spent in games and dancing.

Miss M. Park has been re-engaged for another year as school teacher in No. 9.

Wedding bells are constantly pealing.

An Edmonton Wedding

A wedding of interest to many friends in Bentinck is the following account, taken in part from the Edmonton Journal. The bride's mother is one of the well known McQuarrie family of Bentinck and a sister of Mr Duncan McQuarrie, Mrs L. McLean, Rocky Saugeen and Mrs Jas Ledingham, Durham.

"On Tuesday evening, June 6th, at 9 o'clock in the presence of over one hundred friends, one of the prettiest weddings of early June was solemnized at the home of Mr and Mrs W. B. Poucher, when their only daughter, Marjorie Campbell was united in marriage to Alexander Huff, younger son of Mr Jas. W. Huff of Edmonton, Rev. Dr. D. J. McQueen, who christened both bride and bridegroom, and later united them with the church, was the officiating clergyman.

To the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, the bride entered the drawing room in the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was attended by Miss Jessie Huff, sister of the bridegroom and Mr Charlie Welborn acted as best man.

The charming bride was beautifully attired in a gown of ivory duchess satin, with court train embroidered with silk and seed pearls in floral design. The bridal veil of silk net was edged with seed pearls and hung from a coronet of wired point lace and seed pearl bandeau. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and fern and wore the gift of the bridegroom, a rope of pearls.

Mrs Poucher, mother of the bride was becomingly gowned in black satin charmeuse with bodice and pannelled overskirt, heavily beaded in jet. Her corsage bouquet was of American Beauty Roses.

The ceremony was performed before a window banked with lilacs, hawthorn blossoms, palms and fern.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev Dr McQueen and ably responded to by the bridegroom. The health of the bridesmaid, the host and hostess were proposed by the best man and responded to by Mr Poucher.

A buffet supper was served from the tea-room, where the table was adorned with the bride's cake wreathed in white tulle and fern and surmounted with a small silver vase in which was placed a rosebud. Silver vases of roses were placed at the four corners of the table and suspended directly over the bride's cake was a square wire frame covered with fern, from which hung white satin streamers tied with sprays of fern.

The happy couple left on the midnight train for Banff and Lake Louise and on their return will reside in Edmonton.

Mr and Mrs Huff who are both popular members of the younger set of the city, were the recipients of many beautiful and costly gifts.
