The Durham Furniture Company have for a month past been installing two large new boilers with greatly increased capacity. These boilers will allow of expansion of the plant, as the old ones were not adequate for even present requirements. A large part of the building they occupy had to be torn down, to permit of them being erected, but it is now expected the familiar whistle which has been silent over a month, will be heard again by Monday next.

Mr. Don Graham while bicycling to the furniture factory lately, where he is working during the vacation met with an unusual accident. The brakes not working, he applied his rubber-soled shoe to the front tire to act as a brake. It worked too well, as it almost suddenly stopped the wheel with the result that he was pitched forward on hands and face and is badly scratched, his hands being quite raw.

During the absence of Rev. W. H. Smith from the pulpit of the Presbyterian church for the coming four Sabbaths, the pulpit will be filled in the following manner: On Sunday a. m. next Aug. 6th, Mr. Thos. Allan will give his experiences and impressions of the big General Assembly to which he was lay delegate in June last to Winnipeg. The evening service the pulpit will be vacant. The following three Sabbaths, Rev. Hugh Cowan, B. A., B. D., of Toronto will have charge of the services. Mr. Cowan is well known in Durham and Bentinck, being a frequent visitor to this part. He is a brother to Mrs. Neil Clark, Upper town.

ESCAPED WALL.—Mr and Mrs Jno. Burgess, and Mrs A. McKinnon, with Mr and Mrs J. L. Stedman, figured in an auto accident on Sunday last on returning from Owen Sound, but in which happily were no casualties or broken bones. The car was ascending the hill at Inglis Falls, when for some reason the brakes refused to work properly, the car backed down the hill and fortunately lodged against a tree, and saving them from an otherwise fall over an embankment. The car is damaged to some extent and is in an Owen Sound garage for repairs and another car chartered to bring the party home.

NOSE PRINTS FOR CATTLE.—The latest thing for identification of livestock is to take a nose print of the beast and have a copy attached to the pedigree papers. It is better than branding or any other mark formerly used and does not disfigure the animal.

FINES WILL BE IMPOSED.—All animals are now prohibited from running at large on the provincial highway, and fines to be imposed are $5.00 each for horses, $3.00 for cows and $1.00 for all other animals, costs to be added in each case. This should be sufficient warning to all, as the provincial government has instructed all their highway officials to prosecute in every case, it is more than likely that the law will be fully enforced.

I. O. O. F. Decoration Services For Departed Brethren

The first Decoration Day service in Durham was held on Sunday afternoon by the Oddfellows of Grey Lodge assisted by about twenty brethren from Walkerston lodge. It was a beautiful and well conducted ceremony, and instilled into the minds of the large gathering at the Durham Cemetery, where the service was held, a feeling of the respect and reverence the Society hold for their deceased brethren.

The brethren met at the lodge room at 2.30, almost sixty in number, and marched to and from the Cemetery, preceded by Durham band, whose members generously offered their services for the day, and rendered several sacred selections on the march.

At the cemetery the brethren lined up around the rockery, where service was held. "Abide with me" was the opening hymn, and after prayer by Mr A. T. McNeill, who is supplying the Baptist pulpit, several of the Past Grand of the local lodge carried baskets of flowers which were hung over each of the seven graves of departed brethren. These are:

James McFarlane, died June 26th, 1867
Ben Warner, died July 24th, 1905
Daniel Campbell, died May 27, 1906
George Wilson, died Dec. 21, 1909
Will Fairman, died Nov. 19, 1917
Arthur K. Smith, died April 28, 1918
John H. Rose, died July 22nd, 1921
Floral remembrances were afterwards placed on two brothers graves in Trinity Church cemetery, John McLean and Harry Kress, who died in 1881 and 1879, and on one in the old cemetery, John Moodie, who died in 1876.

All joined in singing "Shall we gather at the river", Mr McNeill read the scripture lesson, then followed the address of the day by Rev. Bro. W. H. Smith, the theme of whose discourse was that if we endeavor to walk in the pathway God has planned and desired we should follow. He will walk with us and be our guide and companion through life. Another hymn "Work for the night is coming" was sung and the Oddfellows address was eloquently given by Bro. E. D. McClocklin, the sentiment and delivery of which could not be improved upon. It pointed out man's mortality, the uncertainty of life, and the need of preparation for the life that is to come. With the doxology, and the benediction pronounced by Rev. W. H. Smith, an impressive service was brought to a close.

Mr. D. L. Hamilton, after acting as Principal of Warton High School for 10 years, has resigned to accept the Principalship of Carlton Place High School at an increase in salary. Mr. Hamilton is a nephew of Messrs Bert and Charles Smith of Guelph, and formerly of Gleneel, and Mr. Wm. Smith, Bentinck.

Took Car Numbers. — Provincial Constable Balmer, who polices the Garraux in this northern half, was busy in town, assisted by Cons. McKay of O. Sound on Saturday night, jotting down numbers of the cars appearing on our streets without tail-lights lit, or other infractions of the Motor Vehicles Act. He secured the numbers of twenty offenders, so another bunch of small fines is likely to ensue shortly. As Constable Balmer is acting entirely under Provincial authority, no blame can be attached on the Town Council or any local individuals, by anyone who is 'pinched'. There's a girl in Shelburne who knows how to handle bees, seems a swarm of bees from a local honey manufacturing depot wandered away from home a few days ago and landed on a big burdock in the rear of a business block. Word to the applier brought along a girl with a hive. Evidently she knew her business, for wearing a veil but not bothering with gloves, she soon had those bees hived and on their way to their proper quarters. She would cut a bee-laden branch off the burdock, stick it in the hive till the bees were off, withdraw the branch and toss it to one side. Then off would come another branch. And so the process continued until the wanderers were all safely housed again. The women seem to know how to do pretty nearly everything nowadays.

Durham citizens have lost a familiar figure from its streets when Miss Jane Bell was taken to Owen Sound Hospital Saturday last. The patient is suffering from a growth of a cancerous nature and it is quite evident that she will not gather any more cedar or fragments from Durham streets. Jane was a popular person to the school boy and girl and many readers of this paper that have now left Durham, will also recall her ready characteristic wit. POWER FARMING

With the Fordson Tractor

WHEN you have adopted the power farming idea you will find there is not a month in the whole year in which the always dependable Fordson will not prove itself a paying investment because of its economy and rugged efficiency for every power farming job.

If it has paid you to keep horses the year round, it will be abundantly more profitable to use a Fordson.

There is not a job that horses can do that cannot be done more quickly and at less cost with a Fordson.

When it is idle it is not eating up your profits. At work its fuel cost is low—about 2 gallons kerosene per acre plowing.

Hauling your manure spreader, disc, cultivator, seed drill, mower, binder, spring and fall ploughing, and all kinds of belt work—there is always some job waiting for the handy powerful Fordson that will more than pay for its service over the summer and winter.

—And when the opportune moment comes in the Spring for quick action, your Fordson is ready on the ground to give you 100 per cent service. You then know precisely what it can do and put in larger crops, secure in the knowledge that you can put through every operation in quick time.

Spare parts and repair service are as handy to secure as the cheap kerosene it burns so economically.

It will pay you to buy the Fordson now and replace several horses. Come and talk it over with us. Let us demonstrate on your farm the Fordson on both the drawbar and the belt, that it will do what we claim.

Price $395 plus Sales Tax Freight and exch.
