Must Keep Movement Distinct

So says Miss McPhail, M. P., at a meeting at Hensall and as reported in the Sun of Tuesday. The Farmer party she said, "must remain distinct, persevere in its course and stand out in Parliament for the needs of agriculture. She did not altogether approve the name 'Progressive' rather favouring 'United Farmers'." The time might come when and it would be wiser to use the term 'U. F. C.' of which she herself was proud. In going to Ottawa she intended not to be absorbed into any other party, but do what she considered best in the interests of her constituency.

She dealt, says the Sun, with the shortcomings of the old parties, in somewhat moderate tone and told of her experiences, chiefly as observed in the House of Commons. 'Farmers,' she said "should be proud of their calling as representing the basic industry of the community. It had become necessary for them to organize as manufacturers, and others had done long before. She did not believe in class legislation but it was time for farmers to make their influence felt.

The paper says she spoke for an hour and made an excellent impression.

Lord Northcliffe, the famous English publisher, proprietor of the "Times", and other papers, died on Sunday morning, aged 57 years. While he made many enemies, he was respected because he used his great influence to strengthen the British Empire and has been called an "unofficial statesman."

The coal strike in the States is likely to be settled after 20 weeks of it. The Railway strike however goes on in spite of President Harding's efforts to bring peace. Oh for another Roosevelt! Even with the mines returning normal work, it is estimated they cannot meet more than 60 per cent of the requirements of next winter which will mean the necessity of conserving coal.

The cause of a united Ireland has suffered a great blow by the sudden death of Arthur Griffith, President of the Dail Eireann, which took place on Friday last. He was everywhere regarded as the brains of the Irish Movement, and to him was due the success of the same agreement, so lately arrived at with the British Government, establishing the Irish Free State. Michael Collins will now rank in first place.

HAMPDEN

Each family is asked to contribute one quart of fruit which is to be packed and shipped at the same time.

The third death among the pioneers of Hampden to take place within two months, occurred last Friday when Mrs. Nicholas Hopf passed away at her home in Neustadt. Death was due to apoplectic convulsions after an illness of four hours. Mrs. Hopf was 77 years of age and left the farm on the 18th con. of Normandy, now occupied by Mr. Andrew Fulton, shortly after the death of her husband nineteen years ago. A family of 8 children, 7 boys and 1 girl, are left to mourn the loss of their mother. These are: Frederick, Alexander, Nicholas, Jacob, George, Henry, Albert and Elizabeth, Mrs. Snider. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Westernman of Neustadt. Every member of the Church, of which Mrs. Hopf was a member. The pall bearers were six of the sons, Henry being unable to be present. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved ones.

A Long Sentence

Oh, don't you wish you were an agent for corn salve or corsets or carpet tacks or Christmas cards, so you could patrol the country roads, cooing and all, in a Hunka Tin, splitting the view of peat gold stooled oats with its green borders of drooping elms till you come to the farm where last year you sponged your dinner of beef-ring beef and new potatoes, green field peas and garden corn and had whole cream with both your fresh blackberries and your green apple pie, for all of which you said "thank you" with such a gallant lifting of your hat the farm folk were enchanted?
