NORTH EGREMONT

A telegram received from Mr. Angus McKelvie of New Liskeard, to his brother David in Durham Wednesday morning, conveyed the intelligence of the death of his mother there. Reaching the good old age of 84 she had always enjoyed good health. The body will arrive in Durham on Friday evening, the funeral taking place on Saturday a.m. from the Presbyterian church. Living for some years in Durham, she moved up ening and report a good time. to New Liskeard seven years ago now, and has lived with and near her two sons there, Angus and Dan.

Miss Millie Wilson of Milverton, is up at present on a visit to her brothers and uncle, looking well.

A VAST IMPROVEMENT The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal starts its fall and winter campaign for subscriptions a vastly improved paper over what previously looked like perfection. To those who have read that great weekly for years a would seem impossible to make improvements. Nevertheless the publishers seem determined regardless of cost to make the Family Herald better value than ever before. Every department is being strengthened and new features added. In fact the Family Herald and Week-ly Star during 1923 will be of such value that no Canadian home
