PRICEVILLE AND VICINITY

PRICEVILLE AND SOUTH LINE

The passing of the old year and the entering of the New Year. We wish all a happy and prosperous New Year. The big wheel of Time has rolled over the universe, proclaiming that the funeral procession of the old year was snared at hand and would be buried with its predecessors of thousands of years ago, sharp at 12 o'clock 31st of December, 1922. This reminds us that we are a year older and a year nearer our journey's end. Now we are entering on the New Year we look backwards and find that to some the years of their future existence at best, will be only few in numbers.

The old year has passed with all its pleasures and disappointments. We looked forward at the beginning of the dying year and thought it a long way to the end of it, but to now look back we imagine it a short time since January 1922. In this manner, year after year is passing and when they come to an end what can we say, but that we spent them all as a tale that is told.

We cannot reflect on the years and months gone past without a feeling of loneliness. As we are standing this morning on the doorsteps of a new year, it becomes us to consider the many changes before the close of the new year. We again think of the joys of our youth and what we set the desires of our hearts upon, remembering our birth places, etc. But what of reminding those events in comparison to dear friends who have departed during the year that closed. The dear old father who sat at the end of the feast table of the family circle, who solemnly thanked the Giver of All Good for permitting him to see his family surround the New Year feast prepared for them. On this New Year feast his chair is vacant and gloom and sorrow is in the old home. The mother who sat at the other end of the feast table, who with joy, administered of the menu prepared for the occasion of the family homecoming—her place is vacant also and sorrow instead of joy are felt at the New Year morn.

We have passed 365 days in the past year. We ask ourselves the question, "How did we spend each day?" Did we take it down in a notebook the proceedings of each day? No! We passed 52 Sundays; we ask ourselves "How did we spend the Lord's Day?" With shame we have to confess of not remembering the Sabbath day to keep it holy. Let us remember how uncertain are our days in this world. Many who are here at the beginning of this year, will be moulding in the dust before the close of it. What are our lives? They are as a passing cloud or as a tender plant that is seen in the morning but vanishes out of sight before night.

The poet said that he had seen the smiling of fortune beguiling and the flowers of the forest all withered away, &c. How often have we been disappointed in our expectations—do this, that and the other thing, not knowing what the morrow may bring forth. Many will be building castles in the air and making for themselves great prosperity during the year now entered upon. Many will find their expectations are only bubbles on the deep ocean which vanished away in the twinkling of an eye.

Wishing the Editor and all his helpers and all readers of the Review, a happy and prosperous New Year.

Coroner's Jury Finds Death was Accidental

Investigating the death of Samuel McGirr, aged 48, formerly of Glenelg, who died on the night of Dec. 26th in the Toronto General Hospital, six hours after being injured on Dundas St., near Spadina Ave. Coroner G. W. Clendannan's jury at the inquest, found that McGirr had been struck by an east bound street car and thrown into the path of a west bound street car, being crushed under the truck. They believed that his death was purely an unavoidable accident. There were 20 witnesses called, including the driver of an auto, Jno. E. Palin, 233 Sterling Road, who is out on bail on a charge of manslaughter in connection with McGirr's death.

The evidence was very confusing, but the story of the accident as gleaned from the whole testimony was that the deceased was crossing to the south side of Dundas St., his companion, Mrs. Grace Morris, 270 Spadina Road, having preceded him. He had reached the south track when the eastbound car approached, and according to the motorman, McGirr staggered back. Palin said he was following a westbound auto and suddenly saw the man lying on the track. His auto straddled the man and as he stopped his car it was bumped by the west bound street car and driven into a pole. McGirr was pinned under the life guard in front of the front wheels and was released when the street car had been jacked up. He died in hospital from shock as the result of injuries received.

Some of the witnesses swore that the east bound street car had struck McGirr, while others were of the impression that he had been struck by Palin's auto. Others again, said that the man was lying in full view of the westbound street car when it was some 40 feet away, but the motorman stated that he did not see the man until about 10 feet away, as the auto passed over him.

In summing up the coroner said that if there was any negligence, he believed it was on the part of the deceased. The accident occurred about 5.45 p. m., during the rush hour. The street lights were on and the night was wet.

An Evening of Harmony

The famous Adanae Male Quartette of Toronto appeared here last Friday evening, and delighted music lovers with their rendition of Scottish and other splendid songs. They appeared frequently in quartette work, one in a duet and each member in solo. Each possesses a superb voice, clear enunciation and they were selected for quartette work because of their blending qualities. Most appreciated were the quartettes where it was a treat to listen to perfect harmony, whether in strong sonorous tones or shaded down to a whisper or even fainter. Their best number to exemplify this was perhaps "The March of the Guards." The majority of the quartettes were old favorites (some with verses solo work with humming accompaniment) such as "Ye banks and braes o' Bonnie Doon", "Annie Laurie", "Boys of the Old Brigade," etc. All were without piano accompaniment.

Harry Lightbown, 1st tenor, rendered "Lassie o' Mine" and Jos. O. Meara, baritone, enthused the house with his stirring solo, "Cameron's Marching Men." J. Reilly Hallman, 2nd tenor, exhibited wonderful voice control and range in "Lorraine" and "Bonnie Mary of Argyll," while Ruthven McDonald, basso, sang the "Floral Dance" most effectively, relating its origin as well. McDonald also is a raconteur, giving several amusing stories and two sketches, "I forgot" and "Soliloquy on a boot." The only duet was entitled "Tenor and Baritone" by the latter and 2nd tenor. Miss Smith, accompanist, rendered a piano selection from "Il Trovatore." The hall was well filled and there remains now only one more concert of the series arranged by Trinity Ch., that by the Bob. Wilson Co. in February.

ANNUAL MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the S. E. Grey U. F. O.—I. L. P. Political Association will be held in Watson's Hall in the Village of Priceville on TUESDAY, JAN. 16th, 1923, at 2 o'clock, p.m. At this meeting Miss A. C. McPhail, M. P., and Dr. G. M. Leeson, M.P.P., will render an account of their respective stewardships to the electors for the year 1922. Election of Officers and other general business will be in order. Everybody like-minded with the U. F. O. are cordially invited to attend. JOS. GOODFELLOW, Dundalk, President M. E. MURRAY, Neustadt, Riding Secy-Treas.

BANFF IN WINTER

Skiing at Banff

Taking a Ski Jump at Banff

NATURE has made Banff, Alberta, one of the finest summer and winter resorts in the world. Heretofore most of the visitors came in the summer. Within the last few years large numbers have been attracted in winter when sports carnivals have been held with great success. The season 1922-1923 is likely to make a new record in the popularity of Banff as a winter sports centre. Did you ever ski down a mile-long ski-slide in a pass in the Rocky Mountains? Did you ever swim in a hot sulphur swimming pool and gather snow from the sides to snow-ball your companions? Did you ever meet a deer suddenly on a mountain road and find it unafraid? Did you ever waltz on skates? Did you ever climb a mountain and slide all the way down its side on your snow-shoes?

All these things you can do in winter at Banff—famous Canadian mountain resort, 4,534 feet above sea level in the clear bracing air of the Rocky Mountains. One of the most unique attractions of Banff is the swimming in the hot pools. Sulphur Mountain is named for its remarkable health-giving springs of sulphur water. These gush out of the side of the mountain, and even in zero weather are so warm that they are delightful for swimming. Ample opportunity is afforded for every variety of winter sport. Down on the river is a rink where one may practise figure-skating, or watch some accomplished skaters waltzing to music. One of the best toboggan runs comes down the side of Tunnel Mountain. Skiing is also a popular sport here and splendid opportunities are offered for jumps on the mountain slopes. The little mountain town is also famous for hockey and a number of fast teams have their home here among which those of the ladies are far from the least important. There are walks with unique attractions around Banff. You may be coming down one of the beautifully graded roads, flanked by the slender ranks of the mountain pines, and a deer will walk out of the woods just ahead of you and stand and gaze at you. This is because Banff is in a government park where it is against the law to shoot wild animals. Any day walking down the main street, you may meet a large mountain sheep. But he is no longer a wild one—he is the mascot of the mounted police stationed here. There is also the buffalo park to visit, and a glimpse of one of these magnificent animals is largely sought.

But the outstanding wonder of Banff is its mountains. Whatever winter sports you may delight in, you are always ringed by an amphitheatre of mountains. Range upon range, and snow-covered peak beyond peak, they tower above one and stretch away into the distance. Against the snow on their sides the dark mountain pines stand out in sharp relief. In climbing one is tempted to stop often, for every new level brings into view fresh peaks, and hitherto unguessed valleys. Banff is easy of access, being on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, three and a half hours' journey from Calgary.
