PRICEVILLE & GLENELG

We feel like the man who said he could not see London on his way to many buildings. So we don't know where to head our writing from on account of so many first class correspondents in all directions. However Priceville and Glenelg are closely situated and we take the liberty of crossing the town line up main street and arrive at the busiest part of the town and we find that this is old Priceville where in years past and gone away we did business on week days and attended the kirk on Sabbath, the latter from the days of our youth and somewhat regular at the house of prayer in the old Presbyterian church. Now our privilege of attending is somewhat a difficult matter on account of a Sabbath day's journey being many miles more than our usual number in the years of our existence on the S. Line and in former years on the Durham Road, Glenelg. And in all probability we will be deprived of attending services there during our short stay of life: the spirit is willing but the flesh is weak.

In giving a backward look of the many years since the prime of our activity, we often wonder of the changes time has made and this leads us to ask the question "What is man?"—only as a shadow seen on a beautiful summer day, then the shades of night vanish it out of sight. So is man. The days of his activity are past and like the fading of the shadow, on account of the approaching darkness, he has passed away from the scenes of life, or in the words of the poet: "The race appointed I have run, The combats o'er, the prize is won, etc."

On Saturday last we attended the funeral of an old resident of Glenelg in the person of Mrs. Ector. Our thoughts went back to the place of our birth on the 7th con., Vaughan, Co York, 1/2 mile apart, and where the subject of our writing was born—just across 100 acres from our birthplace. Although Mrs. Ector was a number of years older than the writer, we went to school together at Purkville, 1/2 con., the teacher was a John Fleming. Time passed and although residents of Glenelg for 70 or 75 years, our acquaintance with one another ceased. Mrs. Ector's mother married Mr. Thos. Ginn and he with our father helped another at different kinds of work on the farm. But we will not say any more for some other writer will be giving a fuller account of the funeral which was largely attended. Rev. Mr. Sillars officiated.

We had the pleasure of hearing the Rev. Hugh Matheson of Toronto in Durham Presbyterian Church last Sunday. We had Mr. Matheson's brother, the Rev. Finlay when a student one summer in the Presbyterian church, Priceville. We had a short conversation with Mr. Matheson and spoke that ancient language, the Gaelic to us, which is something not often heard in Durham church, but quite familiar in our old church at Priceville, though even the dying away fast. Mr. Matheson's brother preached in that language, though a young man at the time, about 27 years ago.

The pastor of Priceville Pres. Ch. Rev. James McPherson is expected to take his own charge next Sunday at the usual time. We don't intend to trespass upon the regular correspondent at Priceville.

We had fine showers of rain on Saturday evening which was welcomed with a sense and not in another way for those having grain to haul in would like to see it keep dry for a few days.

Mrs. McPherson of Toronto, is spending a few days at her brother's, John McLean, Top Cliff, and others.

The Glenelg Board of Health met at the Hall on Friday afternoon of last week.

We were pleased to hear Dr. Hutton was able to attend to duties again, August 20th, 1923.

This Monday morning is somewhat cool, grain is not fit to garner yet on account of the heavy showers Saturday evening. If this week would keep favorable for harvesting a number of farmers would finish. The general run of farmers at Edge Hill are preparing to put in fall wheat. Corn and buckwheat look good and potatoes are doing fairly well. The wheat was well come to restore pasture fields which was getting bare and sunburnt.

Cream gatherers are complaining that the quantity is getting smaller every week.

Teachers will find the next ten days shorter than the former part of the vacation. They will soon be gathering their flock to the folds from all parts of Ontario and will be catechizing them as to the manner they spent their holidays. Some of them may be like Pat. When he finished drinking his glass of whiskey, he said "I wish the school boards would wish teachers and scholars may be wishing that the vacation was another couple of months."

County Women's Institute Meets in Flesherton

Attendance Estimated at 200 at this Annual Convention

The morning session of the 17th annual convention of Grey County Women's Institute was held in the Methodist Church, Flesherton, on Friday last, 17th August. The meeting opened by singing the National Anthem, followed by a talk on "Bible Women" by Mrs. J. E. Knechtel of Hanover, showing how many of the problems we have to meet to-day, were problems they had to meet long ago.

Mrs. Downs of Flesherton then gave the address of welcome and welcomed all very heartily to Flesherton. On speaking on the Institute, she said that the women were taking more interest in community affairs and still doing more for her home and urged all to make more of our friends.

Mrs. Leslie Elliot of Springwood, made a very neat reply and this was followed by a few remarks from the President, Mrs. Wm. Rogers, Holstein, who, after reviewing the work of the year, spoke on the privilege of the homemaker in moulding the lives of the children and on "Co-operation" as the only means through which we may attain to the ideals and aims of the Women's Institute. "To maintain the highest ideals of home life: to count children the most important possession, and to so mother them that their bodies may be sound, their minds clear, their spirits happy and their characters generous: to place service above comfort: to lay loyalty to high purposes silence discordant notes: to be discouraged never: to lose self in generous enthusiasms: to extend to the less fortunate a helping hand: to believe one's community may become the best of communities, and to co-operate with others for the common end of a more abundant home and community life. Co-operation was defined as to conducting myself that others may work with me."

Mrs. Jas. Gardner, O. Sound, the County Secretary, gave a useful and interesting reading of the minutes of last annual meeting held at Kemble. It was the 21st anniversary of the founding of the Institute. The first branch in Grey Co. being instituted at Kemble. North Grey Institute gave $1470 to the Northern Ontario fire sufferers in money and help. The help given by South and East Grey was not mentioned.

Under the heading of new business, the parking of cars by many motorists in lonely roads and waysides for suspicious purposes, was brought up. It was resolved that the President and Secretary of each of the Institutes go to the Provincial Convention in Toronto, for that body to lay it before the Provincial Parliament.

Also a committee was appointed to go to the House of Refuge to investigate the trouble reported there.

Mrs. Jamieson, Hanover, brought up the question of women being represented on more of the school boards as women know more of the needs of children and more used to a personal eye over them than the men.

Also a resolution was passed that the County Council take over the entire support of the Children's Shelter in Owen Sound, as it is a county institution.

Miss Chapman, assistant Supt. to Mr. G. A. Putnam, with her bright and cheery manner, congratulated the 3 Grey branches on their work as institutions—the only County having three divisions. She wished all branches would send in more reports of their work and how they raised money for their work. She gave a fine report of Institute work being done at Hanover, Northern Ontario, and a new one at that. She gave many examples of what work was being done to help others. Some visited Old Ladies Homes and Houses of Refuge, looked after schools, etc. A woman from 25 to 50 is busy raising her family, after that she should give part of her life to help others.

The various Institutes had received 230 lecture courses in sewing, millinery, nursing and cooking during the year. She gave several ideas for Institutes to work on, viz: there should be more judging courses for boys and girls—silver cups for girls' courses as well as boys. She also spoke on Mr. Spiro's campaign in Ontario for Co-operative Marketing and its value to the farmer and his wife, instancing by eggs and cold storage. Also a seed exchange would be a good thing for farmers and their wives.

Another suggestion was to have hospitals give short nursing courses for 6 months or so, for practical assistance for women, so as to eliminate expense as much as possible in sickness for many cannot afford trained nurses.

To have reception for new teachers, to get acquainted with the parents and invite school board and inspector.

Medical inspection was now a necessity. In 1917 there were 150 per cent defective children in schools, two years after there were 116 per cent: 1920 97 per cent: 1922 65 per cent.

Mrs. Moffat of Bognor gave a good address on the work in N. Grey by its 16 branches with 590 members. All are in readiness to help for any reasonable need. Any good thing "pass it on" was the spirit of the women. Women is the constructive spirit in the home: Co-discipline of leaving to help. Together is what makes the home. The Branch Institute class does not exist for making money but for educational or community work.

Mrs. Todd, President of the Federated Women's Institute, then addressed the Institute. She read from attending the Biennial meeting at Fredericton, N. B., where 7 provinces with over 2000 branches were represented. In 1893 Mr. Putnam had taken on hold of the work and it has grown so that the Gov't now depends on the Institute to help in various things as medical inspection, health nursing and education.

Mrs. Ezra Halliday, Glenelg, then gave one of the best addresses of the day "Doing One's Best." As the Re-

Enjoyed Sunny California

Miss Lizzie McCuaig of Top Cliff, and a former teacher of S. S. No. 1, Glenelg, is now teaching in the West. With her sister, Miss Ida, who is nursing in Calgary, they took a very fine trip to Los Angeles and other points along the Pacific Coast. In a letter to her cousin, Mrs. Neil McCannel, she gives a readable sketch of her travels with former South Grey people she came in contact with, and we re-produce a section of the letter for the benefit of her friends, both east and west.

"Ida and I are having a wonderful trip—are now in San Francisco on our return to Vancouver. The water was fairly rough on the 475 miles between Los Angeles and here, so we are enjoying the rest from the rocking motion till to-morrow evening. We met in Calgary July 6th and spent three delightful days there renewing friendships I found at Xmas with Arch. McCannel's; also met P. D. McArthur when at dinner with Mrs. A. J. in her wonderful home; met Uncle Alex's Donald and he is surely a McCannel for fun. Had a nice visit with Mrs. (Rev.) McLeod. Mrs. McLeod is much better than at Xmas and looks very well; Norman and Margaret were home, Gertrude and nephew being in Vancouver.

On the 10th we came to Banff where we put in a wonderful week. I just so enjoyed the magnificent trip to Vancouver from observation and parlor car. Coming directly to Seattle we stayed 3 days and liked it so much. From there we took a S.S. and enjoyed a delightful trip to Frisco and Los Angeles. In Los Angeles we took three tours, first through the city, second to beautiful Pasadena, third to Redlands and Riverside, the last an all day trip.

The homes, beautiful in architecture, and so adorned with charming lawns of flowers, palms, cypress, pepper trees, etc. is an inspiration. In the park at Pasadena under canopies of trees are arranged singular groups of wax statuary, one representing the animal family, the other the human. Riding Hood and the Wolf, one Rip Van Winkle and the nine pin players, one the poor fox family eating from bones and near it the rich fox family with their rabbit slaughtered at the door another the Cinder girl with her doves, etc. These were all for the entertainment and education of the Bush children whose grandmother owned the Park. Mrs. Bush offered to donate the Park to the city but it cost $150,000 annual upkeep so they had to decline. Here most of the star movies get the settings for their plays. Mary Pickford paid $350 a day for the use of the Bush home for the setting for a play (two weeks). It would have cost her $200,000 to build a setting so even at that rate it paid her. On the Riverside trip we passed thousands of acres of groves of walnut, orange, lemon, some date, fig, olive, grape fruit, saw camphor and rubber trees, visited the famous Glenwood Mission Inn, a perpetuation of the 53 missions established along the Californian coast by the Franciscan Friars 1783—1830, but long since destroyed by Mexican invasion and the Inn is a conception of an interesting person in the Missions and is really a great museum with its curios and relics. By car we climbed round Mt. Rubidoux (13 or 14000 ft in height) till we reached the summit where is a cross erected and where between two and three hundred thousand gather for sunrise Easter services each year."
