Railways now Preparing for Harvest Rush

Cutting of all wheat is expected to begin within about a week, says a report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, and as a rule fall wheat is looking very promising. Western reports are also very encouraging, but just what the harvest is expected to be will not be generally known until representatives of the three prairie Provincial Governments and the two railroads meet in Winnipeg to discuss the labor situation and the best means of securing help to harvest whatever crop there is. However, the crop reports issued to date by the Agricultural Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway have been very optimistic and this company is already gathering and distributing equipment to various points in anticipation of a heavy movement of harvest workers.

The movement of harvesters has developed into quite a department in railroad transportation offices. As once the movement starts it must be pushed through to completion as speedily and effectively as possible, the attention of a large staff of men is concentrated for nearly a month before, during and for some time after the rush on assembling equipment, distributing it to the various parts of the country from whence the harvesters are drawn, making up the special trains, securing supplies for the lunch cars, and the hundred and one things which have to be looked after in order to ensure smooth running and of which the traveler usually knows nothing and probably cares less.

During the last four years the Canadian Pacific Railway has handled some 85,000 west-bound harvesters. Last year this company inaugurated the Lunch Counter car which afforded facilities hitherder can be supplied by the three Prairie Provinces and British Columbia.

This information is the outcome of a conference held at Winnipeg between representatives of Canadian National Railways, Provincial and Federal Governments and the Labor Boards. It was also brought out at this meeting that harvesting is expected to commence in Manitoba about Aug. 20th and in Saskatchewan and Alberta about Aug. 25th.

A further meeting is to be held about Aug. 2nd in Winnipeg to decide upon the date when the special rail fares for harvesters will go into effect. This date will be governed by the time when the farmers are prepared to accept harvesters. Representatives of Canadian National Railways were asked by the Government Officials to state how well they were prepared to handle this traffic and they were told that the National Railway System has approximately 400 cars of the very latest type of colonist equipment held in readiness for the handling of the excursion. In addition there are ready for service on these trains a number of specially designed lunch counter cars, all of them larger and better equipped than any other cars of this type in the country.

DROMORE

We were pleased to meet with Miss Mildred Scott, up from Toronto on her holidays, looking the pink of health and contentment.

Miss E. Brooks, visiting her relatives here, the Renton family, and the little McMillan girls visiting Milne's, left for Buffalo and Toronto respectively on Friday last.

Later—Since writing the above we learn that her mother, Mrs Brooks of Buffalo, passed away shortly after her arrival home. Mrs John Renton, her sister, left on Tuesday morning to attend the last sad rites.

Mr. Dane, brother-in-law of Mr Wm. Brown, in conversation can give some very interesting information, in regard to his winter sojourn in Florida and the remarkable changes in the matter of growth witnessed on the way home to good old Ontario, in every State passed through.

Mrs Dundock, after a two week's visit with her husband here, returned to Toronto one day last week. A Miss Stewart (I think is her name) is his housekeeper.

Mr Chas. Watson has been down to Toronto, consulting a specialist in regard to his injury received in the mill some months ago. He gets some encouragement, incurment on certain 'ifs'. As it is though he is making improvement in the use of his arm. Here's wishing him success.

HENS AND EGG LAYING

A Melange About the Handling of Barnyard Poultry

How to Tell the Layers—Conditions Necessary for Production—High Egg-Yielding Distribution of Eggs—More Poultry Points.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Can you tell which hens are laying without the use of trap nests? This is easy to determine if one will go to the trouble of handling each bird suspected of being a layer. When a hen commences to lay, conditions in the organs concerned in reproduction are quite different from conditions observed during the period of idleness. When the ovary is dormant and no eggs are being produced the distance between the pelvic bones is small. The vent is dry, small, puckered, and, in yellow fleshed chickens, has a band of yellow pigment around the inside. When laying commences the pelvic bones become pliable and spread apart to permit the passage of the egg. The vent becomes large and moist and the ring of yellow pigment disappears. A visit to the poultry house on an early winter evening and a half hour spent in going over the hens will be profitable.

Conditions Necessary for Production.

The experience of the Ontario Agricultural College Poultry department has been that a hen will not lay if not in good condition. She should be healthy, free from any disease, and show plenty of vigor and activity. The first pullets to lay in the fall have been the early maturing ones. The pullets that have developed slowly in body and feather have been just as slow in starting to lay. The results of liberal feeding and general good care have always been reflected in the pullet flock and full egg basket during the period of early winter high prices.

High Egg Production.

The requirements for high egg production are clean, dry, comfortable houses, that are free from draughts over the birds, and that are well lighted. The feeding consists of a variety of grains, green feed, animal feed, grit and shell, which is clean, sweet and wholesome, and is given to the birds regularly, and in such quantities that they have all they want to eat before going to roost at night; that the supply of drinking material is clean and abundant; that the attendant is regular in his or her work, and is interested in the same; that the birds are 1 from good laying ancestors, and that they are hatched at the proper season and well reared, and are free from disease.

Distribution of Eggs.

A study of the distribution of the egg production is interesting and important from the point of the annual returns from the birds. Egg prices rise and fall with the seasons, and usually the greatest profit is made where producing eggs at a season or seasons of the year when prices are high. Pullets are the chief source of egg supply. As stated previously, they require usually from six to seven months in which to mature. It is, therefore, possible to regulate their production in the fall months at least to some extent by regulating the time they will hatch in the spring.—Dept. of Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

More Poultry Pointers.

Crows are likely to steal the eggs from the late turkey nests if the nests are made at some distance from the buildings.

Be sure that the young growing chicks are well fed to promote growth and that they are given liberal range where there is abundance of green feed and also animal feed in the form of insects, worms, etc.

It is poor economy to keep more cockerels than will be needed for next year's breeding operations. If they are sold as soon as they are of broiler or fryer size a loss will be stopped and the pullets will do better without them.

Cold, damp, poorly lighted and ventilated poultry quarters favor the spread of such diseases as roup. Such contagious diseases as these are difficult and sometimes impossible to control unless given attention in the early stages. Whenever preventive measures fail, separate sick birds from the flock as soon as there is evidence of disease and then obtain expert advice to effect a cure.

If the chickens must be confined on account of bad weather, provide a good straw litter to which their grain feed may be scattered. This will give them exercise and keep them interested and healthy. When chickens that have been accustomed to free range are closely confined this frequently checks their development for the time being unless they are made contented in their new quarters. Provide green feed for them also.

Indian Runner ducks seem to have gone out of fashion, which is a pity, as they are excellent layers. They are easily raised, do not make the disagreeable noises that other ducks do, and eat less than any other breed bred ducks. They thrive on coarse feed, and can be raised cheaply and safely, as a quick hatched usually means one raised to maturity.

Fire Seriously Menaces Town's Business Section

throughfare between the laundry and the garage.

Worshippers Were Few

Church services were sparsely attended and delayed on account of the fire. A great many worshippers stayed and fought the flames on the streets, or watched the progress of the blaze, not caring to ruin their "Sunday best."

It is said that Mr McKechnie has no insurance on the building, while the contents belonging to Mr. Noble carried some insurance. The total loss to the warehouse will reach close to $2000, it is estimated, while to effectively repair damage to other buildings, another $400 would be entailed. Stored in the Middaugh stables is a considerable quantity of sweet clover seed, owned by Messrs Guy Kearney and Albert Livingstone. It was slightly damaged by water.

Cause a Mystery

The origin of the fire is a mystery and will likely always be a mystery. It is believed the fire started in the centre of the implement building, but it is said on good authority that the building was unoccupied all day Sunday. At the time of the fire, Mr Noble was in Hanover, and though efforts were made to reach him by phone, he was unaware of his loss until reaching town.

Among the keenest fire fighters were four American boys camping further down the river. The same quartette were among the militia volunteers to Owen Sound last week and had come back on Friday night. They state they are having a busy time in this vicinity.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs N. McIntyre extends her thanks and expresses hearty appreciation to the fire fighters on Sunday evening last, but for whose efforts there might have been a disastrous conflagration of her property as well as others.
