Not so Glad in the West. A letter to Mr. Jas. Burt from his nephew in Bagot, Man., has a cheery note in it in spite of the bogies of west and other detriments circulated there. He says, Aug. 16th, "Our crop is a good average one, but not ripening up as we would like. Weather has been too wet and cold and near frost every night, and a little rain almost every day. I am sending a little box containing some wheat. The bearded stuff is Kota Wheat, "rust proof," but there is some on mine. The other is Marquis. The long straw will show you we have no rust. Too bad the crop is not ripening better, but still everything is in a much better state than last year. People are finding out they can live and live well and from now on the farmers will be gradually getting on their feet again—at least the sensible will, and by paying more attention to cows, hogs and hens, they are increasing their revenue, and by buying only real necessities they are cutting down expenditures, and so a good many will be able to hold their heads up this year." (Anyone interested can see the wheat and straw referred to at the Review Office.—Ed.)

Severely Stung by Bees; One Horse Killed. An unusual and serious occurrence took place last Friday morning at the home of Jos. Ellis, on baseline, Egremont, when four persons and four horses were badly stung by swarms of bees, one horse so severely it had to be shot.

The bees hives, 167 of them, were in rows alongside the fence near the house, Mr. Ellis having one of the largest bee colonies in this district. His son-in-law, Robert Webber, had four horses (three of his own) hitched to the buggy, and about 9.15 a. m. commenced to cut a field of oats next to the hives. He was on his third round, when in passing opposite the hives, a bee stung one of the horses. It reared, and several more bees, then handed, followed, stinging the horses so heavily they grew frantic. Mr. Ellis and grandson William assisted Mr. Webber in cutting harness and freeing the frenzied animals, Mr. Ellis' horses tearing up the road when loose, not to return till dark. All three men were also covered with stings on face and arms. Mr. Ellis even having three on his eyelid which were exceptionally painful.

The men took the suffering horses back to the bush, tied them there, then went to Holstein for medical treatment. Around noon Dr. Ellis of Holstein, phoned his mother, left alone at home and getting no response, jumped in his car and motored up. On arrival, he found that one of the horses had broken loose, rushed back to the scene of the stinging and was now plastered with bees. Mrs. Ellis also being badly stung trying to drive it away. The horse roared and bellowed and Dr. Ellis, also finding it impossible to drive it away, and seeing it could not live long, shot it to end its misery. It was a mare about 8 or 9 years old and fairly valuable. Mrs. Ellis was then brought to Holstein and had her wounds attended to. All the sufferers are now practically recovered.

Bentnick Council minutes crowded out this week. The Canadian Pacific Railway will place a stripped tourist car at Durham Station for the accommodation of Western Harvesters from this vicinity, to be attached to the special train, leaving Durham at 7.15 a. m., Sept. 3rd, going right through to Winnipeg without change. The latter meet the Hanover-Durham team in the finals for the Junior championship. There are seven Durham lads, more than half the team, on Hanover's line up, and this is the first time in lacrosse, a Durham bunch has reached the finals. Dates are not yet set. Hanover won from Wallaceburg in the finals for the Junior championship, in Hanover, Wednesday, the home team took the first of the second round semi-finals, Intermediate lacrosse, from Wallaceburg, the score being 7 to 4. It was 2-2 at the half. Jim McLachlan and Mack Saunders, Durham, and two Mercers of Markdale, played with Hanover. Wallaceburg is touted as being a championship contender, but opinion is divided locally, as to whether or not Hanover's three goal lead will carry them through in the return game, Labor Day.

Mr and Mrs Fred Shewell, Dornoch, Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary. On Monday, Aug. 17, 1874, the marriage of Catharine Barry, daughter of the late Mr and Mrs John Barry of Glengie Township and Frederick Shewell, son of the late Mr and Mrs. Edna Shewell of Bentnick, was solemnized in a small log church where now stands a beautiful brick structure known as St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, Dornoch. This young couple started out in life on a farm which was practically all forest with the exception of a small part where buildings were erected. All the early difficulties of pioneer days were experienced, but by long days of faithful toil these lands were cleared and modern buildings took the place of the first structures.

A family of five sons and four daughters were born to them and sorrow visited their home on two occasions when their eldest son died when a year and a half old and the oldest daughter, Mrs. Ed. McConvey of Chatsworth, who died in young womanhood. The remaining members of the family are Thos. and Charles in Bentnick Twp., Alfred and George in Detroit; Mrs. Jas. Lister of Dornoch; Mrs. John Kennedy, Arthur and Mrs. Harvey Givens of Holland Centre. All of these with the exception of Alfred who could not possibly be present were present, accompanied by their families, gathered at the home of this worthy couple at Dornoch on Monday last to join with their parents in a happy family reunion.

At 8 a. m. a mass of thanksgiving was offered by the Rev. Father Roche of 50 years took their places before the altar on chairs draped with gold. Bouquets of golden glow and carnations made very effective decorations. After the mass, Father Roche gave a very impressive sermon, using the words, "What God hath joined together, let no man put asunder." Very appropriate hymns were sung by the choir. The family, making a total of 40, there being 26 grand children, spent a very happy day together. A sumptuous dinner was served, after which the parents were made the centre of the number and an address was read by Albert Shewell, the oldest grandson, and a substantial sum of money was presented to them by Miss Catharine Lister. Little Eileen Givens presented her grandmother with a bouquet of roses and carnations.

Mr and Mrs Shewell, though both over 70 years of age, are still quite active and in the best of health, the former remarking that he had never felt better in his life. The best wishes of their many friends are extended to them that they may be spared to celebrate many more anniversaries. Following is the address: BORN WEBB—In Durham, on Thursday, Aug. 21st, to Mr and Mrs George Webb, a daughter.

MURDOCK—Bentnick, on Aug. 26th, to Mr and Mrs Franklin Murdoch, a daughter. McMILLAN—In Toronto, on Friday, August 15th, to Dr. and Mrs. McMILLAN, (Elizabeth Laidlaw) a daughter.

Five Counties at Eugenia Listen to Hon. A. Meighen

Five Thousand attend big Conservative Rally.

Amid the romantic surroundings of Eugenia some thousands of people from S. East Grey and beyond gathered on Thursday last to hear Hon. Arthur Meighen deal with Dominion issues from the Conservative point of view. The majority of the crowd were doubtless of the Conservative stripe, but Liberals were present also, and of course a goodly number of Progressives, including Miss MacPhail, M. P. From the comfortable speaking pavilion the speaker viewed a picturesque natural amphitheatre. Beyond the level area just in front, all nicely seated, rises a sharp hill at an angle of 45 deg. which was covered with humanity, and all nicely shaded by trees from the afternoon sun. The hillside and the seats proved inadequate to accommodate the crowd and hundreds could not get within ear shot. It was an orderly crowd and gave best attention.

The chairman was Wm. Breece, of Owen Sound, who has an attractive platform manner, and of course his party!

"No country in the world ever had to compete with a big nation adjoining them as we have," he asserted, and he hoped of rising above this difficulty except by the weapon of a higher tariff. The King policy was the cause of depopulation, Gouin believed that that policy was strangling the country. It was "humbug" to say that had reduced implements, when the sales tax was considered.

Only one third as many men were employed in agricultural industries as three years ago. King had said that a Massey Harris man had declared that they had hope of rising above this difficulty. The States by their high tariff had "made themselves a magnet for population greater than any country in the world," and depopulated the Dominion. "We must stand on our own feet," Farmers, on account of low tariff, suffered more, he asserted, than other classes, and he roused the enthusiasm of his followers before him by a fine oration in return for their support and generally the morale of the King Gov't was gone already.

Mr Meighen is a fluent speaker and he sat down amid applause. Those who could not agree with him will admit he is a really sincere and his eloquence is admitted by all.

Later a reception was held at the pretty monument, when a large number shook hands with the distinguished visitor.

THE LATE DUNCAN McARTHUR

Early Sunday last the call came to this pioneer of Glengie, the last of a family of five sons, whose parents were James McArthur and Janet McLean, who came from Mull, Scotland, over 80 years ago. The deceased came to this country over 80 years ago with his parents when quite young and here reached the patriarchal age of 85 years. He was never married and for most of his life lived alone on his farm, lot 27, con. 3, N. D. R. Glengie. He had been ill for about 10 years, although always moving around and was bedfast only a few days. He was a Presbyterian in religion and in politics a Liberal. He was a great reader in days when his eyes allowed him and was kindly in disposition and of unbending integrity. A conciliatory action is given as the cause of his death.

His brothers were John, well known in Glengie; Neil, who operated for a time in the Klondyke; Charles, teacher, editor and merchant, by turns, and Hugh of Glengie. Nephews and nieces are chief mourners, and he will long be remembered in the community of which he was a member. He was buried Monday in McNeil's cemetery.

Ladies' Bowling Tournament

The local Ladies' Bowling Tournament was an event of Friday last, and the weather man lent a kindly ear and furnished excellent weather for the occasion. Eight "inks of lady bowlers were on the green and much close play was in evidence throughout the afternoon. The J. H. Harding silver trophy was again fought for, which goes to Miss Eleanor Kress' rink, until again challenged for. Prizes as well as consolation prizes went to the losers. The winning rinks were skipped by Miss Eleanor Kress and Mrs. H. Morlock, each lady of the former's rink receiving cups and saucers and the ladies of Mrs. Morlock's rink, dainty salts and peppers. To Mrs. (Dr.) Pickering's rink went the consolation prize of pretty handkerchiefs.

A large number paid the last tribute and old school mates from several outside points were present. The item below from the Winnipeg Free Press explains how he met his death; somebody careless with a switch.

Four brothers survive: Thos. and John, Wilson, N. Y.; James in California and William of Fiesherston. Thos. and James could not be present. Deceased's sister, Mrs. Jas. Morice of Lancer, Sask., came east with the remains. Reaching Toronto Sunday a. m., she was met by her brother Will and motored home. The remains came Monday night.

Winnipeg Free Press, Aug. 20, 1924. Jos. Moore, 50 years old, motorman, the oldest employee of the Winnipeg Electric Company in point of service, died at 6.10 a. m. to-day in the Winnipeg General Hospital from injuries received at 12.25 p. m. Tuesday, in a street car collision at the intersection of the St. Charles line and the spur to the St. Charles Country Club. He was hurled through the front window of the car by the force of the impact, his skull was fractured, inducing severe cerebral hemorrhage, and he died without regaining consciousness.

Dr. Cameron, Prov. Coroner, ordered the body to Gardiner's Undertaking rooms and will conduct an inquest at 8 p. m. Thursday. The cause of the accident is attributed to an open switch at a junction of the two lines. The car, Mr. Moore was operating, struck the switch, ran up the spur, telescoped a car standing on the line to the Club, and carried it back 75 yards. No passengers were in either car. He was in the employ of the Winnipeg Electric Ry. 22 years and was a valued employee. He was switched over to the St. Charles run last March.

The floral offerings were many and beautiful and gave silent testimony, as to regard deceased was held in. They comprised: spray, Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Moore and family; spray, J. E. The Dominion Conservative whip, Mr. Boyes, had a dash of humor and praised the ladies. He could say "nice things about Miss MacPhail if this were not a Tory gathering." Meighen was going to bring back prosperity after next election, when Quebec was going to do alright.

Mr Blair, Conservative leader in Alberta, said they "were not overburdened with Tories, but had lots of prodigal sons." He thought they should support Meighen because (1) he had brains (2) because he was honest and sincere.
