PRICEVILLE & GLENELG
 We have passed a fine week of harvest weather and thousands of acres have been cut down and put in sheaf and stooked. But we notice some fields cut down and left as they came from the binder for in general one man has to do both as everybody is busy, each one having to attend to his own business as well as possible.

We have really the heat of summer now and not in its natural season. May or June. We have entered into September and by the appearance of the weather we may not yet find fine weather to finish the harvest. Those sowing fall wheat find they are pressed in a double manner. The fields that are ready to be hauled into shelter demand attention, while fall wheat seeding should be done this week.

It is said that a man cannot whistle and chew oatmeal, so he cannot attend to harvesting and seeding at the same time. However every one will be endeavoring to do the best they can. If the seeding is a little late it is better than no seeding at all.

Quite a number thrashed their fall wheat and early barley and some oats around Edge Hill. The yield is good on all kinds of grain.

We attended the funeral of the late Duncan McArthur last Monday week and it was fairly well attended being the busy season of the year. He was buried in McNeal's cemetery at the town line, Priceville, as by some mistake or other, the plot in the old cemetery was partly taken up by some one else. Here his father and mother were buried many years ago. Rev. E. A. Taylor preached the funeral obsequies in the old orchard at deceased's residence, taking for his text, I go to prepare a place for you. Mr Taylor is a powerful speaker. Mr McArthur was in religion a Presbyterian and many years ago when in the prime of health, he attended occasionally the Presbyterian church, Priceville, and the collection plate was made richer by a bill being placed on the plate. Mr McArthur in his dying hours, expressed the assurance of the happiness awaiting him after so long a severe suffering of the body. The 23rd Psalm was sung by request, and "Nearer My God to Thee," led by the undertaker, Mr Allan Bell. It would be only a matter of duty to all those interested in McNeal's cemetery to have a large sign placed by the gate in large letters, "McNeal's Cemetery." It would show that they appreciated the liberality of Mr McNeal in making a grant of five acres for the resting place of the dead. If all would put 10c in a box, it would erect a nice sign.

We had the pleasure of a call from the venerable John S. Black and son Alex from Ft. William, with Mr Rowsmith and some youngsters. Mr Black looks well and always a good reminder of old times.

While at Priceville we visited the old home, Durham Road, where we spent our youthful days. We found brother and sister in their usual health, but not much improvement otherwise.

Monday morning, Sept 1st, 1924
 This is Labor Day and rightly called for the farmers at least, for they are out bright and early, some hitching on their wagons to haul in the contents of the fields cut over a week ago, some putting in stook that big field, left as it came from the binder on Saturday, some trying to finish this forenoon cutting the remainder of a field left as it stood on Saturday evening, etc.

Sunday was a hot day and hard on those who cannot bear heat or cold to a certain extent. We notice in church the ladies were all fanning themselves, some with their pocket handkerchiefs, and some with fans for the purpose, but the gentlemen perhaps rubbed the sweat off their brow with the palm of the hand for convenience sake, for some wear the long old fashioned dress coat with their pocket behind, making it not so convenient to get the handkerchief when in a hurry. We noticed some of the gentlemen pulling off their coats after coming out of church. One good hearted fellow told us not to be afraid that he intended to fight, though all the same fighting the heat as well as possible.

Teachers will have to resume their duties tomorrow morning and they now wonder where the two month's vacation went to so fast. In our school days there were only two good weeks at harvest time. Teaching all week; the second Saturday was laid off as a holiday and later on each Saturday, $200 to $300 was the highest paid.

The many friends of Premier John Oliver will be pleased to know that he is again the premier of B. Columbia.

Miss Kate McFayden we see is home again after spending a pleasant vacation in the western country with her uncle, and other friends.

A few of those who have time at their disposal, will take in a day or two at Toronto Exhibition. We congratulate those young girls and boys who passed their examinations lately and those who failed take courage. Success may be theirs next time.

Harvesting in the vicinity of Priceville is only general this week and crops good.

Those that were alling for a long time are getting better. Mrs McMillan, S. Line, Artemesia, is able to be about now after a spell of ailment and others also.

We are sending this week a writing in honor of Rev. J. A. Matheson from his late congregation at Mono Mills. The clipping is from a Lindsay paper.

Glenelg Centre Baptist Church Anniversary Services
 Rev. W. W. Wylie of Alisa Craig Back Among Former Congregation

Through periods of sunshine and shadow, the Baptist congregation of Glenelg Centre have kept the altar fires burning, and to-day, though the membership is still small, they are all "workmen needing not to be ashamed" and this saying of St Paul of biblical times to Timothy, has proven itself to be just as applicable now as then.

On such occasions as these anniversaries—milestones in the life of any church,—some outstanding speaker is invited to be present to commemorate the occasion with them, and in this case the honor fell to a former and respected pastor, Rev. W. Wylie, now of Alisa Craig. With Mrs. Wylie they motored to Durham and Glenelg and visited among old friends till Tuesday. Mr Wylie has changed little and still retains his pulpit power in setting forth the gospel message. The church, both a.m. and p.m., was nicely filled for the occasion, several friends from Durham being in the audience. At the morning service Mr Wylie chose his text from Matt. 13, bearing on the parables of the Tares, and drew from this chapter, many new thoughts and ideas. He also charged the audience to retain a reverence for the "old" things—our pioneers, churches, the "book," etc., at the same time keeping abreast with the present day. The discourse was eagerly absorbed and found a warm response. In the evening he went into a later period of Bible history, the time of St. Paul, dwelling on the story of Lydia, and drew from this story the necessity of conversion.

Special music was prepared by the choir for the occasion and as well as the morning service, a duet was rendered by Mrs J. P. McGillivray and Miss Hazel Beaton and a solo by Miss Violet Fallaise. At the evening service the choir had the assistance of Mr Grant McComb and Misses Esther McComb and Beulah Stonehouse, the latter two contributing a duet. Mr Wylie also gave a solo in good form.

On Monday evening the social side of the anniversary was uppermost, and at this function, the present pastor, Rev. Jas. Taylor presided. The choir again contributed music and Mr Wylie favored the audience with a solo. Mr Bert Saunders of town was present to assist in the musical line, as was Miss Ada Brown with her violin. Recitations were given by Beth McGillivray, Annabel McArthur and Mary Beaton. Rev. Mr Wylie addressed the gathering and Mr Geo. Binlie, one of the props of the church, also said a few words. A generous lunch closed the evening's program and another anniversary occasion passed on. About $21 was made at the Monday evening function.

Former Priceville Pastor Remembered

Rev. J. A. Matheson and family Honored by Mono Mills Citizens

Rev. J. A. Matheson, who recently took charge of the St. Andrew's, Eldon and Eldon Station Presbyterian church, was paid singular tribute by the members of his former congregation at Mono Mills. The following is from the Orangeville Banner of July 24th.

"About 200 people of the community gathered together in the Union Sunday School Hall, on Monday, July 14th, to spend a few hours with the Rev. J. A. Matheson and family previous to their removal to their new pastorate at Eldon and Eldon Station. The high esteem in which Mr Matheson has been held was expressed in many ways and by all denominations.

Since his coming to Mono Mills about six years ago, he has been a worthy citizen and besides his pastoral work, he has always been a good and obliging neighbor. He has also brought honor to Mono Mills by the appointment to the high office of Moderator of the Synod of Toronto and Kingston. He has always been a man of a broad mind in matters concerning the church and has done many things to foster the spirit of unity which we trust will yet result in a united Christian church, not only in Mono Mills, but in all places where church work is being carried on. During the evening, W. G. Duke, Superintendent of the Union Sunday School, called Mr Matheson and family to the platform and Mr Jno. A. Vance read the following address, Mrs W. G. Duke, Miss Elsie Cliff, Mrs D. N. Porter and Mr John Moon making the presentations. Speeches by prominent representatives of the different denominations, music and lunch followed.

To Rev. J. A. Matheson, Mrs Matheson and family:—

We, the teachers, officers and pupils of the Union Sunday School, and friends in the community, have gathered together this evening to say good bye and to wish you God speed in your new field of labor.

You are one of those to whom we feel deeply thankful for the organization of our Union Sunday and in its successful continuation you have always been a willing helper and counsellor. In whatever influence for good that the spirit of unity which we trust is being fostered in our Sunday School work here, you will always be associated.

In your pastoral work your influence in the lives of the people has always been to uplift to the highest ideals of life. You are a friend worth having, faithful and true.

In times of adversity and sorrow, your ministering care and your thoughtful attention and sympathy have established bonds of affection and gratitude that will be hard to break. Your messages from the pulpit have been the product of a deep thought and careful study and now, as we are coming to the parting of the ways, we hope for a place in your remembrance, and in token of our love and esteem, we would ask you and Mrs Matheson to accept these chairs, Miss Ursula this club bag, and Kenneth this fountain pen and trust that you and your loved ones may prosper abundantly and that your lives may be a blessing to others even as they have been a blessing to us.

Signed at Mono Mills, July 14, 1924
 —W. G. Duke, Jno. Moon, T. Holmes, W. A. Donaldson, Fred Elan, Jno. Vance.
