Baptist Anniversary, Oct. 19th
Anniversary Services will be held at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. in the Durham Baptist Church, Sunday, Oct. 19th. The preacher for the occasion will be Prof. J. W. A. Stewart of the Theological Seminary, Rochester, N.Y., son of the late Rev. Alexander Stewart, Durham's first Baptist pastor.

The Women's Institute for October will be held at the home of Mrs. C. Ramage, on Friday, Oct. 3rd, instead of Oct. 2nd. The program consists of a paper entitled "The stranger within our gates" by Miss E. Scott. "Some Points in Banking," Mr. J. A. Rowland; Roll call, Halle's legends, customs and superstitions, Miss Margaret McGirr will also contribute a talk on the coming Plebiscite.

Red Cross Concert Good
The concert under Red Cross auspices, put on by the Brunswick Trio here on Tuesday night, sustaining reputation they earned on a previous visit here. The company of three male singers are good, nothing rough appearing in their numbers. They are also good singers and actors and something to every taste.

Found in the program presented, so varied was it. The numbers included secular, sacred, patriotic and comic, and each and all were much enjoyed. They had the assistance of Miss Ruth Fitzgerald, a charming dancer, and her numbers received the applause they deserved. The Red Cross Society will have $40 of a balance on hand, after expenses are deducted.

Hanover Fair drew Large Crowds
Hanover Fair on Wednesday and Thursday and Friday of last week, drew large numbers from Durham and vicinity. It was more than an Agricultural Show—it proved to be an Amusement Show as well and to these latter attractions, may be attributed in a great measure the large attendance. The Palmer circus people with their numerous sideshows must have reaped a harvest and altogether it was a good place to part with your money. The inside Hall exhibit was fair, but this appeared to get scant attention while music and excitement lay near by. The Directors, we learn, received in gate receipts, $1600, from the two days' admittance to the public. It is evident that the three day fair was a success and will be continued.

METHODIST W. M. S. MEET AT HOME OF PRESIDENT
The Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church met on Thursday afternoon, the 18th Sept., at the home of the President, Mrs. Arthur McClocklin.

The devotional exercises were led by Mrs. McClocklin, the key note of the scripture reading being "Lord, teach us to pray." Mrs. Peters followed with prayer. It being Fee day a goodly number were present and added to the first sum to be remitted to the General Treasurer this new Conference year. Mrs. Hay read a very interesting leaflet on the meaning of the letters of "W. M. S." A circular letter was read from the Branch President, thanking the interest and splendid giving of the last year and urging three objectives for the year, viz: Greater development of prayer life in each individual and in each society; increase of membership and the formation of circles and bands in every place on the district, as it is to younger members of the church we are to look for recruits for the mission field.

Reports of the welfare of our work on the mission fields in Japan, China, Vancouver, All Peoples' Churches in Winnipeg, Montreal and Toronto, all very encouraging, were read by Mesdames Wiggins, Knechtel, Moon, Hay and Glass. Two splendid quilts which have lately been made by the members, were on exhibition and will be soon dispatched to their destination amongst the Indians of the West. The meeting closed with a word of warning for the women all to be ready to do their part on the 23rd of October and to see now without fail that their name is on the list.

Stirring Address on the Coming Plebiscite

Rev. W. H. Smith Makes a Powerful Appeal

"You can't make it easier to obtain liquor and have less liquor drunk."

Such was one of the most important dictums stressed by Rev. W. H. Smith from Durham Presbyterian pulpit on Sunday morning last. It was the most logical and powerful collection of arguments against the traffic that we have heard so far in this Plebiscite campaign, said arguments being condemnatory of the second question on the ballot and most powerful reasons why the voter should make the one cross he or she is allowed opposite the first question: "Are you in favor of the continuance of the Ontario Temperance Act?"

It was a sermon, as he said, to take stock of the situation in view of the coming Plebiscite and constituted also an appeal to the young who did not know the evil of the traffic let loose. He urged a unity of all "dry" forces, and avoid making it a political cry. The "Wets," he said, never divide.

Rowell, Hearst, Drury, all strong temperance men, went down to defeat because Temperance forces were divided into political camps, and the wets smugly enjoyed the situation. "Don't make it a political cry."

Another danger was that people forgot. One drunken man now awakes comment when in past days 100 would not have been noted. Every man and woman should embrace their God given privilege of voting either for or against, but he could not believe that a majority of over 400,000 could now be overturned.

The so-called "Moderation League" were the very same men that fought for the open bar. They claim to be the best temperance men now and preach the absurd doctrine "make it easier for a man to get liquor and he won't want it." There were varying opinions among them however, some thought the O. T. A. too tight, others too loose. They don't want the bar, but they want to be able to buy a bottle when they want it! Referring to the claim that liquor was useful in sickness, he said temperance people never denied that if a man were ill and needed liquor on a doctor's advice he should have it. It was the beverage they were after.

Another danger was that there was more liquor sold under the O. T. A. than formerly, he quoted the Toronto police who stated that there was twice as much sold illegally under license as now. The O. T. A. was not a failure, it may have its weak spots, but what caused a reduction of 36,000,000 gallons of liquor under license to 4,000,000 gallons more? Twenty four million gallons of beer, now down to six millions were good proof the Act was not a failure. On the other hand Quebec told a different story for consumption, under Government Control, too, increased from 14 million gallons to 23 million.

He contended if the law was broken, it was not the fault of the law but of its enforcement. He paid a tribute to Mr. Ayrault, for his efforts in this direction, an official who had held office under three governments. No one, said the speaker, was foolish enough to believe that every drop of illegal liquor would be eliminated. There were laws against bribery, slander, theft, murder, &c., every one violated, yet no one thought of repealing them.

Another argument for the success of Prohibition was that every place for the cure of inebriates in the United States and Canada is closed since Prohibition went into effect. Surely eloquent testimony. Business men say business is better, and it stands to reason if you spend $10,000 in whiskey you can't spend it in the stores. One half of all the business failures in Canada in 1923 were in Quebec! Hotel accommodation in Ontario was better, crime has been reduced, arrests for drunkenness had decreased 74 per cent, and government has not and never will control the evil effects of liquor as a beverage by making it easier to procure it as is proposed in Question 2.

A writer in the Women's Home Journal testifies that he saw more drunk men in Vancouver in one night than he had seen in the United States in four years! It has been proved that over one half of the liquor shipped into British Columbia goes into the hands of the bootleggers. B. C. has had Gov. Control for two years and the debt has been doubled. Evidence of Manitoba and other provinces is similar.

He read an account of a B. C. store by an eye witness: it had bars all around, men ragged and bearded, jostled with woman and boys and even girls.

He urged in closing every voter to vote—and to see that his neighbor did—"as a duty you owe to yourself,

September Weddings

KINNEE—WILSON

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. Andrew Wilson, Elgin Street, at two o'clock, Wednesday, Sept. 24th, when her youngest daughter, Cora Eliza, was united in marriage to Calvin Alexander Kinnee, only son of Mr. David Kinnee and the late Mrs. Kinnee, of Durham.

The drawing room was tastefully decorated with white and colored flowers.

The young couple were unattended and only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present. Rev. J. E. Peters officiated. The bride looked very attractive in a dress of Sandalwood crepe with shoes to match.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Kinnee left on the 3.15 train C. N. R. train for a short honeymoon to Toronto and Buffalo.

The bride travelled in a navy blue imported tulle suit with white blouse and hat to match and wore a ringtail opossum cloak. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Kinnee will reside in Dursey.

The Review takes this opportunity of adding their good wishes to the many in trusting that the bride and groom may have a prosperous voyage through life.

FAIRWEATHER—COOK

A pretty September wedding was solemnized at the farm home of Mr. Wm. J. Cook, Zion, on Wednesday, Sept. 24th, his daughter, Margaret Jane, became the bride of Victor Jesse Fairweather of Toronto.

The ceremony took place at 4.30 p.m. in the parlor of the home, and under a beautifully decorated arch of autumn leaves and wedding bells. Here the young couple pledged their vows before Rev. J. E. Peters. Mr. Cook led his daughter to the altar, while the bride's sister, Mrs. Wm. McFadden of Orange Valley, played the wedding music. The happy couple were supported by the bride's other sister, Miss Evelyn Cook, stenographer of Detroit, and Mr. N. A. Charlton of Toronto.

The bride was attractively dressed in white silk canton crepe trimmed with tucks and frills and wore a beautiful bridal veil, surmounted by orange blossoms. She carried a large bouquet of Ophelia roses and lily of the valley from which were suspended the groom being an electrician, in those male organdie for her costume and she also carried a sheaf of roses.

A sumptuous wedding supper at prettily decorated tables followed the ceremony and good wishes. The tables were graced by a handsome four story wedding cake to which the 60 guests present pronounced to be exceptionally good. At the close of the reception, Rev. Mr. Peters proposed a toast to the bride which was responded to by the groom. Mr. R. T. Edwards, an old family friend, also spoke in felicitous terms.

Guests were present from Toronto, Detroit, Port Perry, Ceylon, Markdale and other points. The happy couple spent the evening in the bride's old home, previous to leaving for Toronto, where they will in future reside, the groom being an electrician. Later in the evening the young people of the section were invited to share in the festivities the occasion created. The Review adds its quota of good wishes to the young couple who start life so auspiciously.

NOBLE—MURDOCK

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Methodist Parsonage, Durham, on Wednesday, Sept. 24th, at 1 p.m. when Gilbert George Noble, Bentinck, son of Mr. Jos. Noble, Durham, was united in wedlock's bonds by Rev. J. E. Peters, to Miss Reta Murdock, daughter of Mr. John Murdock, also of Bentinck. The bride was becomingly gowned in dark sand silk canton crepe, and immediately after the ceremony, the young couple left by motor for a wedding trip to Toronto, Hamilton and other points. On their return they will take up farming on the groom's farm in Bentinck. The Review joins in extending the best of wishes to the young couple.

Six Ministers in 165 Years

Rev. Dr. Farquharson in the Lighthouse at an Interesting Function

A recent copy of the Quebec Chronicle, has a lengthy article on the celebration of the 40th anniversary of Rev. Dr. Love, Pastor of St. Andrew's Church in that city, for that long time. This is the church Rev. Dr. Farquharson attends, and he it was who was honored with presenting the report of the historical committee, which was back in 1759 and in that long time only six ministers had held office.

In presenting the report, Dr. F. gave his personal testimony to Rev. Dr. Love and let his many friends hear a part of this: "I have sometimes asked myself what there is in Dr. Love's ministry that has enabled him to retain the love and confidence of his people during all these years. All his work is carefully prepared and his thoughts are clothed in chaste and even poetical language. The prayers are devout, reverent and sympathetic. The reading is given in a voice at once melodious and pleasing; the sermons are short, practical and kindly, yet the charm and power is in no one of these, but in the spirit which animates the whole. A something indefinable, which makes the whole service cheering as a ray of sunshine and refreshing as an ocean breeze. I have heard more eloquent sermons, more profound discussion of great themes and even more moving appeals, but I never felt that calming, assuring, comforting effect in such marked degree in any other church, and where people find refreshing they will go for thirty, forty or more years and still thrive for more. I think of Dr. Love as the fulfillment of the promise of the psalmist: 'He shall be like a tree that grows fast by a river side, Which in its season yields its fruit And green its leaves abide.'"
