CHAS. HOLM, WARDEN FOR 1925?

Charlie Holm is likely to be re-elected Reeve of Normanby Tp. by acclamation, says the Chesley Enterprise. There's an impression abroad that he is in line for the Wardenship of Grey. Mr Holm is one of those solid municipal men of few words but who can accomplish real work. He hasn't been bobbing up to talk on every question that comes up in Grey County Council like some representatives who are charmed most by the sound of their own voices, but he is a sound thinker and can give good reasons for his intelligent votes. Like so many of the yeomen of Normanby, Mr Holm is of German descent and has made good, not only as councillor and reeve of his Township but as a farmer. This year the Wardenship is held by Dan McTavish, the representative of one of the lowest assessed municipalities in Grey, the village of Flesherton, and it is now the turn of a Township Reeve. Who is there that has a better claim on the position than Chas. Holm, who represents one of the big tax paying municipalities of the county? Chas. Holm, Warden of Grey County, would look well in print. So mote it be.

THRIFT

As the old Scotch woman said "It's the little mak' the muckles" and the old saying is well illustrated by a study of the school penny bank which has been inaugurated at Warton Public School, says the Warton Echo. The Editor happened to be in the Union Bank in that town when the weekly deposit of the kiddies was being made, and the manager told him that the deposit averaged around $40 every Monday morning. Just multiply that by say, 40 school weeks in the year and it will give you an idea of the amount of money that can be saved, wasted or spent unprofitably by the youngsters in the course of a year in a town like Warton, say $1600.00. The saving of a little money each week by the kiddies is a good thing in itself, but the great benefit of thrift is that it instills the habit of thrift, something that is sadly lacking in the modern generation, in fact the word is almost obsolete in our vocabulary, and in its place we have acquired a very intimate acquaintance and familiarity with debt and waste. While teaching thrift to the kiddies it would be a great thing if coincidentally we could instill an abhorrence of "debt, dirt and the devil," something which our forebears had pretty well dinged into us.

A BOUNDARY LINE TANGLE BETWEEN GREY AND BRUCE

Bruce and Grey County officials met at Neustadt recently to settle a boundary dispute amounting to $300 on the Provincial County highway, and thereby hangs a tale. The boundary between Bruce and Grey deviates for 80 rods at Hanover into Grey Co. and continues in Grey till it passes through Neustadt when the highway turns to the right till it reaches the boundary and continues south till it runs into the Elora Road, near Oxford. Away back some 20 years ago, Bruce Co. Council objected to paying half the cost of bridges and for road improvements on this deviation and Grey ratepayers had to foot the whole bill. This went on till the members of Normanby Council instructed their reeve to see A. G. MacKay, M.P.P., who then represented North Grey, to bring in an amendment to the Municipal Act in the Legislature that would cover just such cases as the Neustadt deviation and thus compel Bruce to pay his share. The Bill went through and as Dr. Clapp who represented South Bruce at that time did not know anything about what happened till the Bill was through its various stages, his inattention to duty cost him his seat at the next election. The wily MacKay had done the trick for the Grey people. We do not know particulars of the present difference about adjustment of accounts between the two counties but we expect the old Act passed in A. G. MacKay's days still held good. At any rate the Bruce representatives of whom Warden Sinclair was one, agreed to pay the $300.—Enterprise.

Mr. J. O. Dergavel, who conducts a fox ranch at Rock Mills, is very successful in his enterprise. Within the past few days he has made two sales of foxes, the first to H. J. Young of Detroit, three pairs for $3000 and the second to R. Carter of Manilla, three foxes at $500 each.—Standard.

IN MEMORIAM

LAWSON—In loving memory of Willie, beloved son of Mr and Mrs W. J. Lawson, who died Nov. 13th, 1917, aged 16 years. Remembrance is a golden chain, Death tries to break, but all in vain: To have, to love and then to part Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart. The years may wipe out many things, But this they wipe out never—The memory of those happy days When we were all together.—Father, mother and sister

THE LEAVES AT PLAY

Why do you sigh, O trees to-day? Are you sorry your offspring are running away? They served you well through the long summer day, But now they ask to frolic and play. "And you will spare us!" the little leaves cry, As they nod their heads in a loving good-bye parade: To the fond little mother who gave them life And sheltered them from many a strife If cloudy and cold, why should we care? Our mother hath clothed us in crimson flare: So we'll scamper away while Autumn winds blow, Dancing, prancing wherever we go. And the dear children shall come to our aid To help make merry this joyous week. They all know the language of rustle and tongue: Oh! we and the children have heaps of fun. Shadows are gathering but we do not fret: Our time has been jolly and with loved ones met: Together we'll huddle in some cozy nest, Then soundly we'll sleep on Mother Earth's breast.—A. E. L. Holstein

8 Breweries, 21 Distilleries In Dry Ontario

Toronto Star Weekly.) So little do Ontario people really know about the situation that if you tell them that Ontario, the big dry province of Canada, supplies the rest of the world with the Dominion with most of their high spirits, they look at you as if to ask: "How do you get that way?" "Do you mean to say that Ontario makes more spirits than Quebec? Nobody seems to know that of the eleven distillery licenses issued in Canada last year, eight were for Ontario. It is indeed a strange situation. Against the wet wave that has already swept five provinces of the Dominion, Ontario successfully built a dam. Yet, within the boundaries of this same dry province, are the great bulk of the whiskey manufacturers in the whole Dominion. Ask a hundred men at random how many distilleries there are in Ontario and they could probably name two or three. Ask any police or Ontario government official and he probably does not know. Ask any Dominion custom official, and if he did not know, he would not tell you, for in the city of Toronto, the experiment was tried and were plainly told "We do not keep any list of the breweries and, if we did, we wouldn't give you the names. You have to write to Ottawa for that information."

Eight Distilleries, 21 Breweries

"Ask Ottawa," is always the exasperating cry that stalls you with wish you were a policeman or just ordinary enquirer. In the recent seizure of a large supply of liquor that was being shipped from an Ontario lake port, provincial and town policemen stated that their requests for co-operation from the Dominion customs officers were coolly ignored. Confirmation of the time liquor had been kept in the railway cars on the siding would have materially aided in its seizure, but requests for this information met with a curt refusal from the customs men. Lack of information about the size and destination of shipments from the distilleries and breweries, so necessary for provincial police supervision, is given for the year 1923: J. S. Hamilton & Co., Brantford; J. S. Hamilton & Co., Pelee Island; H. Corby Distillery Co. Limited, Cobville; J. P. Wiser & Sons, Limited, Prescott; Geo. H. Gooderham, Toronto; Toronto and Warton, Toronto; Hiram Walker & Sons, Walkerville; Jos. E. Seagram & Sons, Limited, Waterloo. Dry Ontario also manufactures a large proportion of beer that is manufactured in Canada. Of the 74 licenses granted last year, 21 were for the province of Ontario. These are: Chas. Schwan, Carlsruhe; St. Lawrence Brewery Co., Cornwall; Teich Heitz, Fortnora; Kakabeka Falls Brewing Co. Limited, Fort William; Geo. Sleeman, Guelph; Grant's Spring Brewery Co. Limited, Hamilton; Hamilton Brewery Association, Hamilton; Carling Brewing and Malting Co., London; John Labatt, London; The Brading Breweries Ltd., Ottawa; Capital Brewery Co., Ltd., Ottawa; Pt. Varney Anniversary Services Were Highly Successful

The Anniversary Services of Varney Methodist Church on Sunday and Monday were, perhaps, the most successful in the history of the congregation. Sunday morning service the church was well filled, while in the evening it was crowded to listen to inspiring sermons by Rev. W. J. Burnett of Dromore, whose own pulpits were taken by Rev. Mr. West, the Varney pastor. Varney choir was strengthened for the occasion and rendered fine anthems at both services while in evening, Misses Lennox also furnished a pleasing duet. Monday night saw an unprecedented jam, both at Hall where a splendid fowl supper was served, and at church, where the program was given. The long tables in the Hall were filled and re-filled five times, and the fowl and other good things provided by the ladies, and served under difficulties by the young people, lasted until all were provided for. The fragments remaining, however, were but few. A bright program with no lengthy numbers, was enjoyed by many in the church, who were seated and crowded in, but others not so fortunate, stood almost two hours inside the door and in porch, packed like sardines. Others unable to gain admittance, went home after supper. Rev. L. E. West, the pastor-chairman, introduced the program with remarks and addresses with it of Thanksgiving flavor, interspersed with humorous stories, were also given by Rev's Smith, Whealan and Peters of Durham and by Capt. Evenden of the Salvation Army, Mt. Forest. Capt. Evenden and Lieut. Kidman lent their aid musically to a sister religious body by giving two appreciative auto harp and cornet duets. The vocal music was almost entirely by Durham talent. Little Wilma Smith made a big hit and was forced to respond. Mr. Wm. Benson's excellent tenor voice was heard to best advantage in a timely selection for Armistice Day, "Soldier rest in peace." Mr. Bert Saunders, basso, ably rendered "I know that my Redeemer liveth" and with Mr. Benson sang a pickaninny lullaby in perfect harmony. A quartette from Durham Presbyterian Choir, Misses W. Blyth and Jessie Bell, Messrs Thos. Bell and Peter Ramage rendered a fine quartette and the girls a duet "Pal o' My Dreams." Some dexterous club swinging was performed by Miss Lawrence and recitations well rendered by Misses Marjorie Firth and Amanda Matthews. The supper and entertainment was under Ladies' Aid auspices, who realized $108 at the door.

DISCREET, TACTFUL - THE EDITOR HAS A HEART

"Keep it out of the paper," is the cry which the local newspaper publisher frequently hears. To oblige, often costs considerable, though the party who makes the request thinks the granting scarcely worth a "thank you." A newspaper is a peculiar thing in the public eye. The news gatherer is stormed because he gets an item and is abused because he does not get another. Young men and young women, as well as older persons, perform acts which become legitimate items for publication and then rush to the newspaper office and beg the editor not to notice their escapades. The very next week they condemn the same paper for not having written up another party doing the same thing, forgetting apparently, their late visit to the printing office. The discretion of a country editor is a wonderful thing, and many are the stories upon which he turns his back, because of a good wife or mother, or sister, who would be grievously hurt to see the thing in print. Don't blame the editor for keeping something out of the paper, but be thankful that he has a heart and is not indifferent to your feelings as the cold and calculating chap who sits at the desk on the big city papers.

From the statements made by Clarence Settell, former secretary to Sir Adam Beck, it begins to look as if more than Peter Smith and A. Jarvis should serve time.

THE ROLL CALL

MRS. JAMES MAY

Word came Monday to Mrs. James May that her dear husband, Mr. James May, had passed away day previous at her home in New Centre, Mass., from intestinal trouble after an illness of several weeks. Recently she underwent two operations, but to no avail. The deceased lady, formerly a Durham resident, was formerly Jessie Ann May, born in Aberdeen, Scotland, 45 years ago. Nearly 20 years ago she wedded Mr. May, a native of Peterhead, Scotland, and they lived some time at the Mass. To benefit his health she had chased the Calvert homestead in Maryland, and after two years on the farm, they moved to Durham for three years where he was engaged in the cement works. They returned to Massachusetts, and later came to Durham as engineer at stone crushing. Two years ago they went back to Mass. but they had hoped to return next year to end their days in their home here, now occupied by Mr. Nelson.

Besides the sorrowing husband, she leaves one brother, Jas. May, Proton, and three sisters, Mrs. R. Barber, May; Mrs. McMillan, of Sherbrooke, Quebec and Mrs. Adam Galton, Scotland. The remains are being forwarded here and will be interred in Maplewood cemetery beside her parents, the funeral taking place Friday at 2 p.m. from Mr. Barber's residence. Many friends town and vicinity will sympathize with the bereaved relatives.

CHIROPRACTIC IS TRUE

All Functional Disorders Come Within the Scope of Chiropractic

Ninety-five per cent. of disease is due to lack of the life or "power within" you reaching the diseased part, due, as the illustration represents, to an impingement upon the nerve, by misaligned vertebrae.

All life or "power within" is generated within the brain and all functions of your body are governed by this power flowing from the brain cells, to muscles and all tissues, via the nervous system.

Chiropractic adjustments will reach your disease by removing the cause, "nerve impingement."
