

*That word
"Laxative" tells the story:
a relief for Constipation*

Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!

This is Old Testament doctrine, and embodies the spirit and purpose of the New Testament. It is the mind of Christ who prayed for His disciples "that they may be one." It is the soul and inspiration of Paul's sublime poem on Christian love, which "suffereth long and is kind."

The force of the Psalmist's eulogy is brought out by contrast if we turn it into negative phrase: "Behold how bad and how unpleasant it is for brethren to dwell apart in disunity!" What a bad impression it gives the scoffing world when it sees the professed followers of Christ divided into so many sects and fighting about things that do not really matter, and which difference of opinion and of practice might well be allowed. The surprise, the sorrow, and the shame of it!

Why cannot Christians dwell together and in unity? Why can they not be strong enough to burst the bands of prepossession and prejudice and pride, and wear that becoming mantle of toleration that covers a lot of peculiarities, not to say errors? Let us try to carry out the motto: in essentials, unity; in non-essentials, liberty; in all things, charity.—Mt. Forest Confederate-Rep.

United Church in Foreign Mission Field

The United Church of Canada will have about 650 missionaries in the foreign field according to the latest estimate of the Mission Boards of the three uniting churches. There is at the present time a total of 667 missionaries in the foreign service of the three churches, and all but 19 of these will continue with their parent churches when they enter into the Union. The figures for the 3 churches are as follows:

Presbyterian missionaries.....	333
Methodist missionaries.....	310
Congregationalist missionaries.....	24
Total for three Churches.....	667
Non-concurring missionaries.....	19

In regard to the Presbyterian Church, the Presbyterian Foreign Mission Board has ascertained the intention of its missionaries in Foreign Fields with the following results:

For entering the United Church.....	295
Against entering United Church.....	17
Against, but wish to continue work.....	7
Not voted, or wish to defer.....	12
Probable number to serve under United Church.....	314
Total number of missionaries.....	333

Of the 112 women missionaries included in above figures, one has voted non-concurrence, one not reported, two or three not favorable, but have decided to remain with the United Church.

Rev. Wm. Croth Took Hall Services Sunday

As the 'Review' had gone to press last week when announcement was given of the coming of Rev. Wm. Croth of Waterloo, very small space could be given this fact. This divine proved himself to be an able exponent of the gospel's message and at the morning service in the Town Hall, also dwelt upon the special day being given over to "Mother," and of the wide and influential bearing it now has on this continent.

Special music was supplied by the choir, two anthems in the morning, suitable to the occasion, in which Mr Grant McComb featured as soloist. In the evening, Mrs. T. M. McFadden contributed a well rendered solo, "Face to Face."

On Tuesday afternoon of this week the Ladies' Aid of the Continuing Presbyterian church held a needle-work tea at the home of Mrs John Morrison, when over 40 ladies gathered and spent a pleasant afternoon over the tea cups. These teas will be held fortnightly, the next gathering two weeks hence being entertained at the home of Mrs Jas. Hepburn.

An unfortunate accident befell Rev. W. J. Burnett, Dromore, and pastor of the Town Hall services, when on Sunday morning last he slipped in the bathroom, fracturing a rib. His work for the day at Dromore was taken by Mrs Burnett and Mr Robt. Renwick, Sr., while at Knox appointment, Rev. Mr Croth supplied.

NOT DECEIVED

Ottawa Citizen: United States Customs officials have declared that 4.4 is not a "non-intoxicating" drink, and any beverage transported across the border will be seized. This is at least a more realistic attitude than that of the members of the Ontario Government who are still repeating the fable that 4.4 beer is "temperance beer."

IN MEMORY

In memory of Mrs Robt. Trafford, who departed this life May 12, 1923. Ever remembered by her daughters Mrs Jos. Fleming, Mrs Carl Fry.

Sermon Sunday in Durham.

Work of the Salvation Army graphically given by Commandant Hurd.

The above caption may well be applied to Sunday last in this good town of Durham, even though as it happened, there were no Anglican services. There were the usual two Baptist services, also regular two Methodist services, and no fewer than four Presbyterian services, two of them in the Presbyterian church and two in the Town Hall, held by the non-concurring element, the latter being addressed by Rev. Wm Croth of Waterloo. In addition to all these was an important Salvation Army service in the Methodist church at 2.30 p.m. addressed by Commandant H. A. Hurd, Financial Representative of the Army for Western Ontario. How good we ought to be to such a wealth of gospel stories placed before us!

The Army Service in the Methodist Church was an unusual occurrence and appealed strongly to the citizens, judging by the number crowded to hear them. A mistake was made in not securing a larger auditorium for the church was crowded in every spot and a number turned away. Mr Wm Laidlaw opened the proceedings by rehearsing the record of the Army many years ago in Durham. 50 years ago Army leaders and followers were up against public opinion and sometimes they were jailed, but their work and services in peace and war had broken down opposition and compelled respect and now, he declared, they were an asset to any town. He briefly introduced Mayor John N. Murdoch to the chair and the audience. The Mayor thanked those responsible for putting him in the honorable position and made reference to the good work done and the good name achieved by the Army. He called upon Bandmaster Deeks for a cornet solo, a lady member at the organ, followed by a gospel solo "It was for me" by Wm. Benson.

Rev. W. H. Smith gave an introductory address, giving credit to the Army for believing that no man, however "down" is not necessarily "out." They were not a church, but notably doing the work of the church, and the best test of their methods was seen in the number of men and women brought to the feet of Christ.

"The Holy City" was sung as a solo by Miss Katherine Lavelle and if decorum had allowed encores, she would have had to sing again.

Mr Laidlaw introduced Com. Hurd, who paid compliments to Mr Laidlaw for the arrangements made in preparation for the meeting, also to the Mayor, to Rev. Mr Smith and to all who had helped. Mr Laidlaw was peculiarly in his element at this service. He has a long and consistent record of support to the Army, which earlier than most people, he recognized as a force for good and an exponent of practical Christianity.

Gives Personal Sketch of His Life

Com. Hurd by request, entered upon a personal sketch of his life. Born in Newfoundland, was put to work at 9 years of age, led a sea-faring life for 5 years, was one of nine and looked upon as the black sheep of the family. Got converted into the Army, was financial agent for the Maritime Provinces and Bermuda and had great success there.

Beginning his speech proper he said—this big audience moved him, they came no doubt in recognition of what the Army did for the boys in the war, and he paid glowing tribute to the Canadian boys. He gave a graphic picture of conditions the boys went through and the reception they met with from the Salvation Army. The influence wielded by these boys changed the view point of thousands. "The willingness and the helpfulness is what counts."

Knows no Creed or Color

"The Army knows neither creed nor color," he asserted. Whoever it finds want or wickedness or misery it ministers. Pictured the horrors of father, mother and fourteen children eating and sleeping in one room. They were given help at 5c a day, this small sum to help keep their self respect.

They put boys to the farms, have a system of visiting them in the homes. The boys are poor and out-cast, in many cases waifs of the war. He paid great tribute to the benefits of prohibition, picturing conditions before and after and dwelt on the evils of the pawshop. He told of devices to get them to earn a little: they fed them, clothed them and paid for their work.

Women as well as men came under their care. Sometimes they were as bad as the men, but were won over by sympathy and gifts of coal, food, etc. One year they distributed three million pounds of coal.

Typical of their enthusiasm generally was their prison and penitentiary work. They believe a man may be down but never "out." Prisoners are met at the prison door on their discharge, a job secured for them and a welcome extended to encourage them to lead a new life. Of like sympathetic nature was their work among fallen girls, 1400 of them, many from good homes, but names and homes were not "given away." He pictured the agony of disgrace suffered by the parents, which the Army tried to alleviate.

An Appeal for Funds

They were making an appeal at present for funds to carry on their uplift work such as had been described.

Mrs John Graham Re-elected President for Another Year

The first meeting of the Institute year was held at the home of Mrs John Burgess on Thursday afternoon last with a good attendance.

The president, Mrs. John A. Graham presided. The meeting was opened with the singing of the Opening Ode and the repetition in unison of the Lord's Prayer. After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by the Secretary, Mrs. Harding was called upon to give a report of the work of the "First Aiders" during the past year, and told of the very satisfactory work these little girls had done in the sewing class. A hearty vote of thanks was moved to the ladies who are in charge of the classes and had arranged the programs or who had assisted in any way.

As this was the business meeting, the secretary, Miss Eliza Patterson, gave a good report, and the president, Mrs. Graham spoke of the good year that was just completed, financially, intellectually, and socially. There were a number of excellent papers given during the year from a variety of subjects, and three demonstrations. Everyone had come forward and done their part. Three short courses were taken advantage of, namely, the sewing class, the Home Nursing, and Domestic Science courses.

At this point of the program, Mrs. Thos. McGirr took the chair for the election of officers. The president, Mrs. John Graham, and the secretary, Miss Eliza Patterson, were re-elected. Both have done splendid work during the past year. Other officers elected were: 1st Vice-President, Mrs. W. Glass; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. M. Knechtel; Auditors, Misses Essie Firth, Barbara, and Marie; Directors, Misses Winnie Blyth, Margaret, McGirr, Annie Weir, and Mrs. S. Patterson. Program Committee, Mesdames Ramage, McIlraith, McGirr and Wolfe.

Pres. Sec'y, Miss Elizabeth Scott; Ass't. Pres. Sec'y, Miss Essie Firth; Institute Choir Convenor, Mrs. J. H. Harding.

Miss Winnie Blyth was forced to respond to an encore after her rendering of a solo, as were also Mrs. J. H. Harding and Miss Marie Jean, who contributed a pleasing instrumental. Miss Margaret McGirr gave a splendid paper on "The Dangers of Luxury in Modern Life." According to a dictionary explanation of "luxury," it was said to be anything that ministered to comfort or pleasure, but was not necessary to sustain life. She said luxuries were a burden on our forefathers did not enjoy. Mrs. George of Parkhill, spoke briefly in connection with W. C. T. U. work, most particularly in public schools, in medal contests for oratory, elocution or musical contests, and Poster and Essay competitions as promoted by the W. C. T. U.

After the singing of "The Maple Leaf", Mrs. Burgess served a tasty lunch.
