Cycling Far Easier than Walking

FRANK Jones used to complain about his feet getting so hot and aching from his long walks to and from work on the hard roads and pavements.
One day when he felt more tired, and his feet hurt him worse than usual, he happened to see a man going by on a bicycle.
"Cycling is far easier than walking," said Frank to himself. And all day long while he was working that thought kept running through his mind.
That night, on the way home, he dropped into a C.C.M. dealer's and looked over the different C.C.M. models, choosing one that suited him in every way.
Since then Frank's feet have had a much easier time and he's quit complaining. In fact, he's boasting now about how fine and fresh he feels since he started cycling.
He also tells how quickly and easily he cycles to work and home again—how he saves the shoe leather he used to wear out on the hard cement walks—how he saves valuable time by cycling instead of walking.
If you gave Frank a chance he would tell you all about the C.C.M. Triplex Crank Hanger—the wonderful power plant that responds to the slightest pressure on the pedals and makes the C.C.M. run so smoothly, quietly and easily.
He would show you the strong, powerful frames of English Seamless Tubing—the bright silvery nickeling that won't rust because it is done over copper—the sparkling enamel that is baked on over a coat of anti-rust so it will stand rain, snow and all kinds of weather—the new Gibson Pedal with its rust-proof aluminum frame—and the C.C.M. Hercules Coaster Brake that coasts so easily, has such braking power, and is ounces lighter than the old-style side-arm type.
The C.C.M. dealer will also be glad to tell you all about the C.C.M. and to show you the new models—the Standard, the Special, the Sport model, the C.C.M. Flyer, the Curved Bar model.
Prices have again been reduced. They're now $20 to $25 less than "peak" prices. Biggest values since pre-war days.

Miss Mary McAllister on a Trip in North Island

(Review readers will appreciate another letter from Miss Mary McAllister in far away New Zealand, who interestingly narrates her trip to the caves and hot lakes of the North Island.)
Dear Friends:
On my tour through the North Island of this Dominion, I first visited the Waitoma caves, with these glowing stalactites hanging from the ceilings of glittering white rock. Many of the stalactites and stalagmites are so clear as to be almost transparent. These lime stone formations prove the caves to be thousands of years old.
Another marvellous feature of this cave, making it a world wonder, is the fact that there are myriads of glow-worms clinging to the walls and ceiling. In the darkness you feel as if you are so near them, they could touch them, and that they are really stars in the heavens. We got into a boat in a cave and floated down this underground river, with these glowing overhead. Needless to say, every one was spell-bound and in wonder of it all. The three caves are really indescribable and no pen can hope to do justice to their marvels.
From Waitoma we proceeded to Rotorna, the town in the centre of the thermal district. This geysersland is very much enhanced by the native Maori. Two native Maori villages are found at Rotorna and prove very interesting to tourists and strangers. Their homes are built over and among steaming pools and geyser. These pools are used by the native women for every household purpose, containing the food, are covered with sacks, and placed on some steaming pools, thus cooking the dinner. In others, the clothes are washed and boiled. In a pool of low temperature, little children sit and play in the warm water. A native guide conducts you in safety all around the pools; it is dangerous to go alone as it would be fatal if the crust of the earth broke, and let you sink into the hot pools below.
As a Spa, Rotorna is world-famous. A magnificent building has been established by the Government and many people go to Rotorna to avail themselves of the different baths. Personally I found the warm mineral water very pleasant. There are several trips of interest in the vicinity of Rotorna, one being to the valley of Tikitere. This is indeed a place of horrors, with its furiously boiling mud pools and mud volcanoes, warm beds of sulphur, all half-hidden by clouds of vapour. Hades cannot be more repulsive or terrifying.
From Rotorna we went on to Wairoa. Here for two hours at a time we were guided through valleys among geysers that play with clock-like regularity at brief intervals, some sinister and threatening, others beautiful and fairylke. The warm bathing pools here are very attractive too, situated down in the woods, surrounded by the native New Zealand tree ferns and other native bushes.
Leaving this Spa, we drove eighty miles across country, past an active, sleeping and an extinct volcano, to the railroad, and our holiday was ended.
