Many New Features and Conveniences being made Possible

We strolled over to the Hospital on Tuesday night to take in, or rather try to imagine what the added changes and improvements will mean to the matron, staff, doctors and all the help that surrounds such a building. Miss Fettis, matron, kindly conducted us through the building and the impression one gathers from her explanations and suggestions in the changes that are taking place under her supervision, is that she knows what she wants, and this is a very necessary factor to have when tearing down and building up. At present everything is in chaos but late fall should see these additions and alterations pleted and a very much improved
