To drink a cup is a revelation. Try it.

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY. The marriage of Dolly and Nigel tried to temporize. Bretherton proves unhappy. When "If you will tell me your address, I war is declared, Nigel is glad to enlist. will write to you." Dolly marries an old sweetheart and gone."

sails for America with him. When Nigel's brother, David, calls again." mistakes Mary for his brother's wife something on it.

your promise?" Mary is happy in her new home until Monty Fisher exposes her to David. Mary runs away. She meets an acquaintance named Evans, who had written. She put it away in a "Taken at the Red Grange, Seltells her that David is searching for little bag she carried, her. Mary becomes frightened and "And now I must say good-bye." thinks David is very angry.

the snow to die.

She shivered a little. Evans looked up. The drawn, strain- her, till Evans shouted. ed look on her face went to his heart. "Look out!" and then: "Oh, my have left there now." "What-what did you tell him?" she God!"

half to herself. For the moment she had forgotten his presence; she was back again in the moonlight with David, listening to his voice:

"You need never be afraid of mewhatever happens." Had he really meant that? and if so, why had she not had the courage to take him at his word, and make a clean breast of the whole miserable deception? He might have forgiven her then; he might have found it in his heart to make excuses for her. - But row-a little pang of fear convulsed her. She looked at Evans tremulously. "You won't tell him you saw me?

Oh, promise that you won't tell him!" "I will promise anything you wishanything."

She thanked him brokenly. There were tears in her eyes, but she brushed them determinedly away.

"Look out!" And then: "Oh, my God!"

went down-down-into bottomiess

A policeman had arrived, and he was making the usual copious notes;

the taxi-driver had left the wheel of

"She stepped right off the path under the cab," he said, over and over shaken, on the curb.

heavily over his shoulder.

hard pavement.

Corous.y.

Evans put his question fearfully.

He had never seen anyone look so white in all his life; her hands lay with such inert helplessness on the

The policeman shook his head pon-

"Pless your heart, no stunned a bit, that's all. A friend of yours, is name and address."

Evans looked confused.

"I con't know her address—her-me is Mary Furnival." He hesitated, then added: "I haven't seen her for his car, and was standing, pale and him.

What a strange turn of the wheel of Fate this was, that had brought them all together again! Would she ever really be safe from discovery? She loved David, but she dreaded his blackness. anger. She would rather have died, she to'd herse'f, than face him now. She had let her coffee get cold. prostrate figure. She was lying on her back-one arm Evans gent'y drew her attention to it. She drank it off hurriedly. She was bent beneath her-her face upturned. glad when they were out in the night remarkable where the people come again. It was past eight o'clock then; she stopped at the end of the road.

CHAPTER LVII.

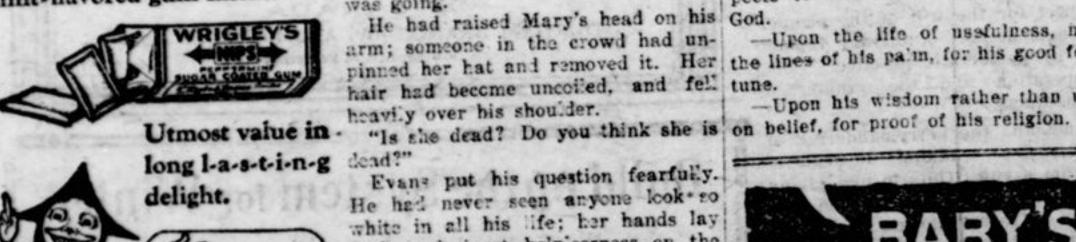

IN HOSPITAL. "I must be getting back. Don't think me rude if I ask you not to come with unconscious woman.

"But I sha'l see you again? You will let me see you again She hesitated; she wanted to say

"No," but his pleading eyes checked After all, he had been good to her

There's a treat coming. It weren't my fault, now, for you and your children in kneeling at Mary's side. the Peppermint sugar jacket and another in the Peppermint-flavored gum inside.

MIM HERE TO TELL YOU THEY'RE GOOD

WRIGLEY'S aids digestion and makes the next cigar taste better. Try it. CG35 AFTER EVERY MEAL

188UE No. 45-26

some time till this evening; we met accidentally. I don't know at all where she is living."

"She'll have to go along to the hos-

Capable hands lifted her into the taxi. Evans watched them unhappily. They seemed to handle her so roughly, he thought, with a little shrinking pain in his kind heart. He was relieved when the policeman told him he must come along, too. He held her hand during the short ride to the hospital. Once! when the guardian of the law was looking the other way, he bent his head and gently kissed it.

Supposing she were dead! Or supposing she were to die! He could not bear to think of it. He wondered what David Bretherton would say, could he know. He knew that it was his duty to tell him, and yet-there was something so sweet in knowing that for the moment, at least, he was Mary's only

In the hospital they took her from him. People came and asked him a string of questions. The bare cleanliness of the building got on his nerves; he would hate to die in a hospital-he hated the idea of leaving Mary here amongst strangers. They left him alone in a small waiting-room for what seemed an eternity. Presently a young man who looked like a student came back to him. He held something in his hand. "We found this on Miss Furnival," he said. "There is an address writ-He leaves Dolly under the care of "You will forget to when I am ten at the back. Do you suppose it is Mary Furnival. Nigel is killed and gone." "I will not. I promise I will see you address of her relatives.

He held a Mttle locket to Eyans. to see Nigel's widow, Mary is ashamed He took a little pocketbook from The young man took it hesitatingly. to tell him of Dolly's marriage. David his coat, tore out a flyleaf and wrote The case was opened, and a roughly printed amateur portrait of David and takes her to live at Red Grange! "You promise me? You will keep Bretherton looked up at him from beneath the oval glass.

He turned it over mechanically. At She did not even glance at what he the back was written:

For a moment he did not speak. His She shook hands with him hurried.y., mind was in a whirl, a bitter feeling NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY. She was anxious to be rid of him now. of jealousy was stabbing his heart. No doubt he could be just as harsh She stepped off the path without look- She must care for David then, er and severe as that ancestor of his who ing where she was going, to cross the she wouldn't be wearing his portrait. had turned a woman and child into road. It was very dark just where He raised his eyes to those of the man they were standing. She never saw a watching him.

taxicab bearing swiftly down upon "She used to live at the Red Grange, but that is some time ago. Her friends It was a deliberate lie, and he was

He made a dash forward to snatch bitterly ashamed of it the moment it "I knew rothing. How did I know was only conscious of a confusion of perate y badly to have Mary in his This dainty frock, though simple to office. With it he tasted the various He half shrugged his shoulders. her back, but it was too late. Mary was uttered. But he wanted so desshouts and noises, and flashing lights, care and keeping for a little longer. make, would be very chic if fashioned dishes designed for his lord's table, "No no, of course not." She spoke and a dull, sickening pain, before she If the Brethertons knew where she of taffeta, moire, or velvet. The twowas, and what had happened, they piece skirt is gathered to a fitted he corrected the gluttony and idleness would come at once and claim her, bodice opening at the left side and the of those around him. even if only in a spirit of unfriend- novel use of ribbon, either of match- A good cook will always take his

> "You don't know if she has a moth inches bust. Size 36 requires 41/8 chagrin too far when he committed planation. er-or anyone, then?" he asked. | yards 39-inch material; 2½ yards 8- suicide because, at a banquet given "No." Evans was glad to be able inch ribbon. 20 cents.

> thing about her beyond the little she be of interest to every home dress- turbot had not arrived. had told him and the very little he maker. Price of the book 10 cents the Cereme, another illustrious French "Is she is she badly hurt " he ask- . HOW TO ORDER PATTERNS. | salary of $5,000 a year. In spite of had inadvertently discovered.

ed anxiously. minor injuries—that is all I can tell patterns as you want. Enclose 20c in the cold and gloomy English climate. you at present. If you can, call in stamps or coin (coin preferred; wrap the morning."

night, before I go?" "I am afraid not. She would not know you, anyway; she is quite un-

Evans went away unhappy and crestfallen. The lie he had told about instant, and kneeling beside Mary's the Red Grange worried him. He was the way home he was haunted by the fear that Mary would die.

He would have to tell the Brether-A crowd gathered instantly. It is tons then, and they would never forfrom when an accident occurs. A mo- give him. He spent a wretched night; he never iously empty of pedestrians; but slept a wink. He was haunted by the with a sort of impatient anger at the face. If she died, he would never forcrowd of curious faces staring at the give himself or be happy again. He was up with the dawn, and round at the hospital at an absurdly There was no favorable news for

(To be continued.) ----

Minard's Liniment for Neuralgia. Every Man Must Rely-

again, agitatedly. "I sounded me horn, but she never looked where she was -Upon his friendliness for all the friends he will ever have. -Upon his will efforts for all the He appealed to Evans, who was money he will ever earn.

The young man looked up, and shook -Upon his ability to serve for his his head. "No. I think it was her true worth to the world. own fault; she didn't look where she -Upon his own prayers if he expects to make the acquaintance of

He had raised Mary's head on his God. arm; someone in the crowd had un- - Upon the life of usefulness, not, pinned her hat and removed it. Her the lines of his palm, for his good for-hair had become uncoiled, and fell tune. -Upon his wisdom rather than up-

From Baby's birth Albert Serge Limited, Mir. Meeters. 2.25 eighteen pounds.

NURSES

The Terento Hospital for Incurables, In affillation with Believue and Alited Hospitals. New York City, offers a three years' Course of Training to young women, having the required education, and desirous of becoming nurses. This Hospital has adopted the eight. the School, a monthly allowance and traveling expenses to and from New York. For further

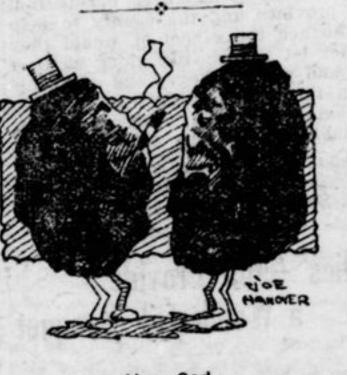

AN ATTRACTIVE BOUFFANT MODEL.

1376

least. He did not know; he knew no- newest and most practical styles, will sauce ordained to be eaten with the address your order to Pattern Dept., "You will not let me see her to- Wilson Publishing Co., 73 West Adereturn mail.

How Sad.

1st Lump of Anthracite-"Miss Coal lake huts, and the floors of the huts didn't make a very good marriage, I which were above the water line were 2nd Lump of Anthracite "No, she inscriptions of the Stone Age in hieromarried a common old lump of Bitu- glyphs.

Awaking.

clouds on a faint green sky and drops the writing on the blackboard. "Now, of water on every leaf and blade. A that sentence is wrong. Can any boy breeze blew over the garden, dropping tell me why?" dew and dropping petals, shivering One youngster sought to help her over the drenched paddocks, and was out of the difficulty: "P'r'aps one of lost in the sombre bush. In the sky some tiny stars floated for a moment and then they were gone they were dissolved like bubbles. And plain to be heard in the early quiet was the sound of the creek in the paddock running over the brown stones, running in and out of the sady hollows, hiding under clumps of dark berry bushes, spilling into a swamp of yellow flowers

And then at the first beam of sun the birds began. Big cheeky birds, starlings and minalis, whistled on the lawns, the little birds, the goldfinches and linnets and fan-tails flicked from bough to bough. A lovely kingfisher norched on the paddock fence preening his rich beauty, end a tui sang his three notes and laughed and sang them egain. From "Prelude," by Katherine Mansfield.

A cow's hide produces thirty-five pounds of leather; a horse's only

ONTARIO ARCHIVES

TORONTO

At the Gates of a Seed Farm.

Have you ever seen a field, unending, Of onions only, out in bloom, The balls of broken snow and stems of silver

Thick above black-muck loam-In the perfect field of a garden-seed

Where not a weed finds room? Such a field is as beautiful as an oat

More even its heads than a formal garden grows; Less fanciful than mustard showering

With its yellow-petaled snows; And more orderly, the endless matched-up furrows Of undeviating rows Than any other farm shows.

In August I have seen a mile of onions Blossom out and stand Like a bleaching mesh of broken snow and silver

That a weaver has planned. -Martha Webster Merrichew.

When Kings Bowed to Cooks.

Cookery nowadays is not regarded as quite so important a matter as it was centuries ago; and though huge salaries are earned by some famous chefs we do not hear of any of them being distinguished in the way they were in the days of old.

In olden times kings have bowed down before cooks, and after a good dinner have granted to them even a part of the kingdom.

William the Conqueror bestowed upon the inventor of a particularly delicious soup the Lordship of the Manor of Addington, with its revenues and honors. Henry VIII. gave to a certain Mrs. Cornwallis a noble house and tenement in London - Sugar Loaf Court-because she had made and presented to him some fine puddings; while the Emperor Charles V. showed his homage to the inventor of pickled herrings by making a pilgrimage to his tomb. Pickled herrings, by the way, were a delicacy much recommended as a stuffing for turkeys.

In the Middle Ages the head cook of a feudal castle was a personage of considerable importance. He gave his orders from a chair raised on a platform, which commanded a view of his subordinates. He held in his hand a large wooden spoon, the insignia of his ing or contrasting color, gives an add- profession with becoming seriousness, The young doctor accepted the ex- ed note of charm. No. 1376 is for la- but Vatel, a French cook who lived in Autumn is passing on and icy northern life and mind with noble thoughts and dies and is in sizes 34, 36, and 38 the seventeenth century, carried his by the Prince of Conde to the French King Frost will soon take charge of birth. to answer this question truthfully, at Our Fashion Book, illustrating the king, the lobsters ordered for the cook, received from George IV. a The trees are bare, the flowers are been linved in open contact with the Write your name and address plain- the Court of England because, like The young man shook his head.

"There is a slight concussion and ly, giving number and size of such many another artist, he could not bear But we remain through dreary months progressive. Our education should be many another artist, he could not bear But we remain through dreary months progressive. Our education should be many another artist, he could not bear But we remain through dreary months progressive.

Minard's Liniment for Colds. ----

Europe's First Houses.

Workmen excavating near Lake Zurich have unearthed the remains of Stone Age, more than 7,000 years ago. Stone axes, spears, and domestic utensils are among the objects found.

The Swiss lake dwellers were revealed to the world in 1853 by a great drought, when the waters in the lakes and rivers of the country fell many feet below normal level, and so far as is known they are unique of their kind in Europe. The structures which supported the wooden platforms on which the dwellings were built are made of strong piles of tree trunks driven into the bottom of the lake.

A combination of clay and wood was used in the construction of the made of large slabs of stone bearing

"Two cows is in the field," said Dawn came sharp and chill with red a teacher to a class of boys, indicating them are a calf, miss!" he suggested.

Neep Young with

Your doctor will tell you the old-fashioned wash-day is one of woman's greatest Strained backs, ugly hands, jangled nerves and short tempers-all come from the everlasting rub-rub-rubbing on the ancient washboard.

The modern way is to let Rinso do the work.

Change the hard work of washing to just rinsing.

Simply dissolve Rinso in the wash-water, put in the clothes, soak for 2 hours or more and just rinse. Let Rinso do your next washing. Made by the makers of Lux.

Autumn is Passing.

Even now, with chilling wintry keen-mother earth and snow.

long decayed, The birds have taken their songs to a power to illuminate also. warmer climes.

'Tis well that seasons thus should and in every way let us try to grow come and go, those of grey. Lake dwellings which date back to the Just as we find that tears and sorrows life.

More value to the joys of yesterday

----Offering Shelter.

A farmer hurried to chase a small youngster was picking posies.

"What are you going to do with Geological Survey of Canada. Dr. L. those flowers?' he called. "They're wild ones, aren't they?" re- during the summer on this island from a few of them a good home."

the original Diamond Dyes. Don't stop with tinting, though! It's just as easy to Diamond Dye almost fun-and think of what it saves! secrets, containing simple directions. and will show you actual piece-goods

AUTUMN AND YOU

There is a notion that as we get on in years we are robbed of charm. One need only to notice the advertisements about "Don't grow old," "Cures for grey hairs," "Resist the wrinkles," and so on, to realize the dread that exists in many minds with the passing of our days.

It is more or less vanity, for a person should grow finer, more mellow, with the addition of years. Maturity and peace should reign together. A misused life breeds an old age of despair and sorrow; but where nobility of thought and feeling have been cultivated there must certainly follow a sweetness that is attractive to all.

You have noticed how Nature gets more glorious in the autumn, always a season of joy, because of the magnificence of the colors. It seems as though Nature make a supreme effort to wind up her year's labor with a majestic panorama of marvellous beauty. She is lovelier as she gets

One of our English poets writes:-Let me grow levely growing old; The many pure things do. Laces and ivory and gold and silks

Need not be new. And there is healing in old trees, Old streets and glamour old; Why may not I as well as these Grow lovely growing old? Nothing is more saddening than to find a man who set out in life with buoyant hopes and enthusiastic delights and desires becoming a cynic, because in the battle of life he has not gained what he aimed for. Such people become jealous, unsympathetic, and miserable, ugly both in spirit and action. The features become gnarled and marked, and the older they grow the more cut off are they from interest in their fellows. We have all heard that "a cheerful mind is the best face cream." That truth is as old as the hills. The addition of years to those of cheerful mind does not detract from them in any way; and it multiplies their friends. Their presence is as the breath of Nature is least arresting in midsummer; in spring and autumn she dons her most beauteous robes. And life should be the same. Never permit things to ge so much on the top of you that your vitality becomes drained for no purpose.

We are guilty too often of wasting our substance with unprofitable thoughts and deeds. By storing the essence of the beautiful will make us more comely as we get farther from

You may conclude that an aged per-And change her garb to that of ice son who has become withered in spirit, and fretful and tantalizing, has gone astray somewhere. Where a life has illuminating powers, such life becomes

Our fourney through life should be Of sunny days in former summer never come to earth! The sun should always be in front of us, causing the shadows to fall behind. Every day better. Thus shall we be led into And summer skies give place to green pastures and by still waters, and age chall not add to the burdens of

Geological Work on Baffin Island.

Baffin island, which lies immediateof his wood lot, where the ly to the north of Hudson Strait, is at present a field of investigation by the J. Weeks and an assistant were landed the Canadian government boat making the annual trip to the established "Well, I just thought I'd like to give posts in the Arctic. They will remain during the winter and carry on a geological survey of the southern part of the island.

Baffin island is the largest and probably the most important of the Arctic islands. It has an area of 211,000 square miles. Observation made along the part of the coast that has been explored show that it is underlain by rocks of Precambrain and Palaeozoic age and to less extent probably by Tertiary sediments. A small tonnage of graphite and mica has been shipped from the southern part of the island and at Pond Inlet in the northern part a small quantity of coal is mined.

The coal, according to Dr. Weeks, who visited the place in 1924, is well exposed in a cliff on Salmon river, and is regarded as of Tertlary age. Two To give your dainty underwear and main seams each 31/2 feet thick and stockings true tints, you must use real 16 feet apart are found. It is the coal dye. For the gorgeous tinting like you from the lower seam that is being see in things when they are new, use utilized by the Hudson's Bay Company. When freshly dug it breaks into irregular lumps which are dul anything you wear or the hangings black with here and there a bright in the home a brand new color right surface, and which show nothing reover the old. Home dyeing is lots of sembling a cleavage plane. After be ing sacked and left some months in FREE now, for the asking! Your the open it shows a tendency to crum druggist will give you the Diamond ble. The crumbling is not so great as Dye Cyclopedia telling dozens of dye in the coal from the upper seam. An air-dried sample gave on analysis: samples of colors. Or write for big moisture, 14.2 per cent.; ash, 5.0 per Flustrated book Color Craft, free from cent.; volatile, 23.4 per cent.; fixed DIAMOND DYES, Dept. N4, Windsor, carbon, 57.4 per cent.; calorifis value, 10,300 British thermal units. A second exposure occurs at a point a mile downstream on the Salmon river from that referred to above, from which quantities of coal have been obtained.

cent, went to 15.3 per e The total tru dom and th compared When One of th orcharaizii when fruit a that app. ... and are 1 months aft necessary to of this prob which is sitt from the P of Agricul tendent of experiment years to fin arrived at 1

ing. The res

in cour of side of the

the sapple

storage.

770,618 in 1

in 1924. A

Wous year,

cent.; and w cent. In 192

to $155,350

148,920,611

creased from

537,850,000

290 in 1920

which the