Those who failed to hear it before will want to be there: those that previously heard it, will want to hear it again.

Many from here attended the funeral of the late W. J. Sharpe—thus testifying to their great respect for him—a Christian man of sterling character. Great sympathy is extended to his bereaved daughter in her loneliness.

We were also shocked to hear of the unexpected death of Geo Lewis, and extend sympathy to Mrs Lewis and family.

The extreme cold of the week end has moderated. Mrs Pollock, Sr. has been spending the past week with her former neighbors, Mr and Mrs A. Haas. Her son Robt. was also a recent guest there.

Mr Fleming Reid went to Toronto Friday for a few days' visit—expecting to return to-day via Harriston.

Mrs T. Ellis went to Harriston yesterday for a brief stay.

Mrs J. Troup is spending a few weeks at Varney with Mr Gordon Grant—a little daughter arriving there last Friday.

SOUTH BEND

The buzz saw is at work again around here preparing for next winter's fuel.

Mr Wesley Holliday took out a fine bunch of fat cattle, sixteen head on Saturday. Messrs Orme Hunt and J. Dowling also took some. We have not heard their number.

Quite a number from the Bend attended the funeral of the late W. J. Sharpe in Holstein Monday. He was well and favorably known here, having taught in this school for 8 years and married Miss Cameron from this section who predeceased him nearly two years ago. We extend sympathy to his daughter in her sad bereavement.

We regret to learn of the death of Geo. Lewis of Normanby. He was a brother of Mrs Jos. Dowling and often visited this neighborhood. He will be much missed by his family, and we sympathize with the mourners.

The recent very cold snap was hard on fuel and all were glad to have milder weather Monday. The roads were quite heavy for traffic.

W. J. Sharpe, Leading Holstein Citizen, Suddenly Called

The community of Holstein and vicinity received a shock on Thursday last when the news spread around that W. J. Sharpe was dead. Two weeks before he complained a week before of not feeling well. The doctor ordered him to bed and though during that week he spoke hopefully of recovering, it was not to be. His faithful daughter Ethel had just left his room a few minutes when hearing a noise she returned and found him on the floor, caused the doctor thinks, by some poignant heart pain whose throbb had caused him to roll and fall. Help was soon obtained, but in a few minutes the vital spark had fled.

William J. Sharpe was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Sharp, (nee Miss Isabella Gordon) and was born on lot 19, 2nd con. of Egremont in Sept. 1855, thus being in his 72nd year. His parents were both born in Co. Monaghan, Ireland, but never knew each other there. She had relatives in Ireland, but he and she, and visiting there, acquaintance ripened into marriage in 1881. Their family consisted of W. J. (deceased); Elizabeth, Mrs. D. P. Coleridge of Holstein; Martha, who died at the age of 7 years; George, Annie (Mrs. Freeman), both deceased; Sarah (Mrs. Geo. Deford, near Sault Ste. Marie); Mary (Mrs. Henry Woodwisse) in Michigan; John Henry of Guelph. The last named attended the funeral which was large and representative.

Mr. Sharpe early in his school life showed ability and he stepped naturally from student to teacher. He first attended Georgetown Academy in 1875, and amongst his fellow students were Thos. Allan of Durham, and the late Robt. Bell and W. L. Dixon, John Tait being their chief teacher. He was successful in getting his third class certificate, went to Egremont and offered his services for $90 for the balance of the year, but an O. Sound girl made an offer of $75 and got it. He not long after secured the "Red School" south of Holstein at $300 per year, teaching there two years. He resigned and went to Owen Sound High School for first half of 1877 and secured the coveted life certificate. He attended and passed Normal School in 1879 and from 1880 to 1882, inclusive, taught in No. 13, Egremont, where the writer first knew him. In 1881 he was married to Miss Matilda Cameron and to be nearer home resigned Dromora school and returned to No. 4, his first love, and taught there four years. During this period his daughter Ethel was born, who to day mourns the loving father. To be still nearer home, he resigned No. 4, and accepted Holstein school which he taught successfully from 1887 to 1904 inclusive. In all he was a teacher for 27 1/2 years.

He then gave up teaching and took up conveyancing, fire and life insurance business until Oct. 1912 when he received the appointment of postmaster which he held until his death. He suffered the great loss of his wife early in 1925 when the happy home was desolated by her passing. Since that event the husband and daughter have lived and loved to gether, ever mourning the loss of wife and mother.

Mr Sharp was a stand-by in Holstein. His counsel and advice was always valued. He will be missed in the United Church, where his services as Steward, Bible Class Teacher, &c., will remain a happy memory. He was for years connected with the Agricultural Society, the creamery and other institutions and his unflinching interest in all pertaining to progress, and uplift of the community should furnish an example worthy of being followed.

The remains were interred on Monday last in Mt. Forest cemetery, the large attendance indicating respect for the dead and sympathy for the living. Rev. C. Jay conducted appropriate services. Deceased was a member of the L. O. L. and of Canadian Order of Foresters, and members of both orders paid their respects. The pall bearers were: Geo. Hunt, Geo. Burrows, John Stevenson, Richard Irvin, Geo. Panton, J. D. Roberts. Floral tributes were presented as follows: a pillow by daughter Ethel; wreath from Directors of the Germania Fire Insurance Co.; wreath from C.O.F. Lodge 174; an arch from L.O.L. No. 2296; wreath from United Church choir; sprays from Mrs D.

Some four years ago, Mr Sharp wrote a sketch of his family and of his own life, which Miss Ethel now values as a precious keepsake. Some of the information given above was gleaned from this book. Much of this is a picture of early times and we quote a paragraph or two: "The home I was born in was one of the first log buildings in the neighborhood — "saddled corners", logged to the peak ribs for rafters and clap board roof, one door in the east side and two windows and heated by a fireplace in the north end of the house. No cradle for the newborn boy, simply a large sap trough had to suffice. This was no drawback to my development. For I lived and grew well in the hands of my proud parents. My mother tells of an experience she had in August, 1856, when I was 11 mos. old. Neighbors cattle were in the habit of frequenting our grain fields, parts of which were protected by a "slash fence", which often in the summer months needed repair. My father had gone to make these repairs and had partly cut down a large hemlock tree. He noticed that it was likely to go the wrong way and hence from the opposite side he threw a small hemlock into the large one to send the tree simply lodged in the big one. He then went farther back and threw a still larger one. When this last one was falling, father stepped to the side but unfortunately this last one was misdirected and slid down the second tree, striking father on the back, fell on him and broke his left thigh bone. Here he was pinned down helpless and alone, the location was almost half a mile from the house. Father called and mother answered, having chance to be outside and heard the call. She at once took in the situation. I was 11 mos. old. Mother carried me as far as she could—threw (no, not threw), placed me on the path and ran on. She soon reached the spot and found father under the tree. She was helpless. She says "I let two most unearthly yells. Geo. Bradley and Sam'l Orchard were passing on a by-road, heard the yells and came to the assistance — removed the tree. Neighbors were summoned, he was carried home on a door. It was months before he recovered. With the assistance of the neighbors gathered in the grain. In the meantime I had crawled several rods and was standing against the fence. In 1858 the old log house was replaced by a new hewed log house. John Queen did the carpenter work. I can remember him working at it. This is my earliest recollection."

MT. FOREST 4, HOLSTEIN 1

Mt. Forest defeated Holstein 4-1 on the local ice Tuesday evening in a clean and friendly exhibition of the winter sport. The visitors scored their first goal after 5 min. play on an individual effort by Hoover. Bainsart made it 2-0 before the period closed when a rolling shot hopped over Smith's stick and rolled into the net. It was a hard break in the game. Holstein kept trying and were breaking through often for shots but they either went wild or Munn was in front. O'Brecht scored the nicest goal of the game when he shot a hard drive from 20 ft and half way through the second period. Padfield scored the last goal for the visitors from a face off near the local goal. Holstein played their best hockey in the last period when they were breaking through continually for shots and were finally rewarded when Ellis battered in a rebound. A minute later Brown nearly scored on a face off of the pack, hitting the post and rebounded back into play. For the locals Pinder and Lucas played well on the defense with Ellis and Macaulay the best on the forward line. Bert Gibson refereed an impartial game and was satisfactory to both teams. Line up: Mt. Forest, goal, Munn; defense, Barnhardt and Hoover; forwards, O'Brecht, Padfield and Stewart; subs, Smith and Pique. Holstein: goal — Smith; defense, Lucas and Pinder; forwards, Ellis, Macaulay and Irvin; subs, Woodyard Brown and Eccles.

It was harvest time. Isaac Queen, with the assistance of the neighbors gathered in the grain. In the meantime I had crawled several rods and was standing against the fence. In 1858 the old log house was replaced by a new hewed log house. John Queen did the carpenter work. I can remember him working at it. This is my earliest recollection.

NORTH EGREMONT

The annual meeting of Amos Ch. will be held Monday evening next, Jan. 24th. Mr. Arthur Hastie spent a few days at J. M. Allan's last week. Miss Pearl Daly is recuperating at home after her operation and is doing nicely. Mr Arthur Leith is taking a two weeks' course at the Agricultural College, Guelph. We, with other correspondents, regret the passing of Robt. Kinell and extend sympathy to Mrs Kinell and family. Mr Carl Harrison moved to the Hartford farm this week. Mr Reggie Ramage gave a dance last week. There are lots of them around this winter. Mr Bob Small intends leaving for Toronto this Wednesday. Mr Gordon Leith is assisting Mr. Jas Brown at McWilliams this week. "The best one yet" is the way some express it, regarding the dance put on by L. O. L. No. 861 on Tuesday night. No scarcity of music here with Messrs David, Matthew, David Jr., George Hooper and Mr. Wm Small on violins, also Wm Gordon on piccolo, Misses Eva and Geo. Thos. Moore with auto harp, also organ. Messrs Wm. Woods, Dave Long, Wm Gordon favored with some good step dancing after lunch was over. The ladies always bring the lunch for these dances and you never hear complaints as to whether there is enough or not. A good time, we think.

Passing of Mrs. Jas. Crosbie in Harriston

Mrs. James Crosbie, whose maiden name was Janet Reid, passed away at her late residence on Elora street on Wednesday last week after a lingering illness. She was born in Egremont township on Oct. 3rd, 1851, the country being then all bush. She was the youngest daughter of a family of twelve. About all the advantages she received in those pioneer days was a Public School education. In the year 1877 she married Jas. Crosbie, a Minto Tp. farmer. They enjoyed married life for a short space of 10 years when Mr Crosbie died, after which she moved into her home on Elora St., Harriston, where she resided until the time of her death. From young womanhood she was a staunch member of the Presbyterian church, until the consummation of Union, when she went into the United Church. She was of an exemplary character, leading a quiet and peaceable life in the community, thereby influencing those who knew her best to love her most. This is just another instance of the influence exerted in the home of a Scotch elder on his family: while deprived of many of the advantages we now enjoy, succeeded in developing in his children those sterling principles and Christian character which means so much in after years. She leaves to mourn three brothers Hugh, Thos. J. Reid of Holstein, and Godfrey of Pasqua, Sask. The funeral took place on Friday afternoon last week at the Harriston cemetery, the services at church and grave being conducted by Rev. E. Plush of the United Church. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Jas. Gordon, John Pritchard, S. Pritchard, T. Ferris, H. Armstrong and C. Pring, all of Harriston.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my deep appreciation for kindness and sympathy during the illness and after the death of my beloved father, also for the many beautiful floral offerings. Ethel Sharpe

BLYTH'S CORNERS

The recent heavy falls of snow have made excellent sleighing and appreciated by bushmen and saw-loggers.

Messrs Otto and Geo Bauer who have the contract of drawing logs for the Durham Furniture Co., from the old Tom Lewey farm, lately purchased from Mr Jas P. Blyth, drew four logs last week which measured 1600 ft. all from one tree.

Miss Esther Petty spent the week end over with Miss Florence McIvride.

Mr Evans of Durham installed an Atwater Kent Radio machine in our abode a few days ago and now while the bees are resting up, we are extracting a lot of honey from the air.

Wednesday evening last, all roads appeared to lead to Varney to hear the program put on by the young people of the U. F. O. club. The Hall was packed to the door with an attentive audience. Mr Earl Mead occupied the chair very creditably. The program consisted of a duet by Misses Maggie and Esther Petty, a song by three girls of Holstein, also a song by Miss Winnie Blyth, Varney's sweet singer. Each number was heartily enjoyed and equally responded to.

The chief item however, was the debate "Resolved that the trend from the country to the city is not detrimental to the farming industry." The affirmative was taken by Miss Armetta McKechnie and Mr Smith, while the negative was upheld by Miss Esther Petty and Mr Jas. Leeson. Rev. Mr Whealan of Durham, was judge. The debate throughout was very spirited and determined to prove the advantages and disadvantages of the various arguments and it took Mr Whealan some time to sum up the points, but eventually he gave in a very impartial and fair way, the negative side the decision by two points. Mr Norman Schenk's sale on Friday last was a fine success. The stock was all registered and of excellent quality and prices ran from $90 to $125 each. The implements in places were somewhat low in price, but altogether Norman was well pleased with the results. Wm. Murphy of Mt. Forest was the auctioneer and a fairly large crowd was present.
