threatened, levees or dams are giving way, areas like counties are inundated and people are being removed in boats from house-tops or other eminence, and catastrophe is feared. Small wonder that sufferers should be found blaming the "Chicago steel" for the unwanted disaster, and puny man finds that nature brings its own punishment when her laws are interfered with, as is being done by turning the Great Lakes water to the Mississippi Valley, Chicago to the west will be anathema.

HIGHER STANDARDS IN NORMAL SCHOOLS

A suggestion that Premier Ferguson defer his proposed plan to extend the Normal School course two years until the possibilities of improving the present one year course has been thoroughly explored, was made in a resolution passed by the Inspectors' Section of the Ontario Educational Association in Toronto last week. The means of improving the present course suggested by the resolution were, insistence of a higher standard of academic qualifications, especially in elementary school subjects; summer courses in professional training and professional reading courses.

Mrs Jno. A. Cameron, S. Grey Pioneer, Died in Dakota

Mrs Janet Beaton Cameron was born in the Isle of Mull, Scotland, Dec. 20, 1845, came to Ontario with her parents in 1848. She was united in marriage to John A. Cameron (also of Scotland) in Ontario, Nov. 5, 1868. With her husband, who a few years ago preceded her to the beyond, she came to Bottineau County in 1894. She died at the farm home, north east of Kramer, N. D., after a long illness March 30, 1927. To Mr and Mrs Cameron were born eight children: Alexander and Mrs. Richardson of Pasadena, Cal.; Mrs. J. A. McLean, Mrs. J. S. Murray, Mrs. D. F. Woods, John and Duncan of Kramer, who with the exception of Alexander were with her at the end, and Angus Cameron who died near Kramer a number of years since. Mrs Cameron also had sixteen grandchildren and one great grandchild, John Cameron McLean.

At noon, April 1, impressive services were held at the farm home, Rev. I. D. McBean and Mr Duncan McGillivray officiating. The music was in charge of Mesdames Swanek, Nekler and Cornwall. Further services were held at Bottineau Baptist Church, Rev. McBean, and Rev. Gregg in charge. The pastors dwelt chiefly on the beautiful Christian life of Mrs Cameron and on the preparation for death.

The floral offerings were many and beautiful. Interment was made in Oak Creek cemetery. The passing of Mrs Cameron came as a double sorrow to the family, as the husband of Mrs Richardson had been laid to rest the day of Mrs Cameron's death.

Mrs Cameron was of the Clan Beaton, belonging to the race of Scottish patriots who with the people of France were and are chiefly instrumental in the settling and upbuilding of Canada. There was the real pioneering. Foot by foot, acre by acre, the immense forests were cleared, the new stand beautiful manors, picturesque villages and mighty cities. Mrs Cameron saw much of this. She with her husband were known through a broad portion of Ontario for their fine Christian activities and Celtic hospitality as many old residents of Bentinck can testify.

Mrs Cameron was a woman of sterling character, loyal and loving, having taken degrees of honor in the University of the Home and the School of humanity and good citizenship. To her dearly loved community she gave the community house where are held all the religious services of Whitby Township. Above all things Mrs Cameron was a devout Christian whose feet were so firmly planted on the Rock of Ages, no storm nor stress might assail. She had long contemplated death; to her it was the meeting of her Saviour face to face and the reunion with her dear ones of long ago. "Thou wert all faith and hope and love— To such there is no death."

Poor South Grey Electors! (Hamilton Herald)

This woman is no credit to public life in Canada. And it is not creditable to the electors of South East Grey that they have chosen her to represent them in Parliament. (The Herald has another guess coming.)
