Appreciates Canada

A copy of the Indianapolis Star has reached us, sent by Dr. John Conkey of that city, in which the Editor gives Canada some bouquets which are gratifying, in comparison with some stuff dealt in by such fellows as Chicago's Mayor who thought King George was trying to prevent his (the Mayor's) election!! We read the extract below, held his head a little higher and hummed to the tune of "Priceville." "My country 'tis of Thee." Here is the extract:

"Canada, by the way, more prosperous than ever in her history, recently celebrated the dominion's sixtieth birthday and now welcomes two royal princes. Everything is coming Canada's way, including the best selection of energetic valuable immigrants from Europe, the kind this country needs and stupidly keeps out."

In 1906 Sir Wilfrid Laurier made this prophecy: "The nineteenth century was the United States' century; the twentieth century will be Canada's century."

The more Canada gains the better we shall be pleased."

Hanover Liveryman Arrested

Three charges were laid against him, first for being intoxicated while in charge of a car; second resisting arrest; third, assault. Not being ready to go on with the case it was adjourned to Tuesday, and then allowed out on $1000 bail furnished by some of his friends.

BACK TO SCHOOL

As school time again approaches many a farm boy and girl is debating with themselves whether to go to school, whether to attend for another year or to pass it up and commence to earn a livelihood. One is reminded of the anecdote of the farmer, says the Farmers' Sun, who asked the college professor how long it would take to give his boy an education and the professor's reply that everything depended on what the father wanted his son to be. "For when God grows an oak tree, He takes a few years, but He can grow a squash in six weeks." Not every man who goes through college is an "oak" any more than everyone who stays on the farm after public school is a "squash." It is sometimes said that a lot of farm boys are spoiled by education. The proper kind of education never spoiled anyone. Many farm men and women have had their usefulness curtailed by the lack of education. Some farmers claim that education is a luxury on the farm. That is just the reason farming is not in a more favorable position as an industry.

There is a popular misconception that the boyish type of farmer, all bravado and no brain, is the more likely to succeed. The fact is there is no profession in which brains are more essential than in the successful operation of a farm. Education does not, of course, necessarily make a man a success, nor does the lack of it foredoom a man to failure. But in the long run, everything else being equal, the educated person will come out on top, and what is more, will get the most out of life. Go back to school, young man or young woman, if you have a chance, but go only for the sake of what you can learn.

Remember however, your success in life depends as much upon ambition and determination as anything else. If you are determined to succeed, education is more than a stepping stone. It is a series of stepping stones assuring you a degree of satisfaction you will never regret.

Rural life needs educated men and women, and none needs a better education than the farmer.

'The A. B. C. of Life'

Paper read and prepared by Mrs. F. Harrison, Shallow Lake, and heard in Durham at the County Women's Institute Convention in August

A—"Act Promptly." We should always be ready and quick to act when occasion arises. When we think that in ten minutes in a car, we can go five miles, in an aeroplane half across Grey Co., it behooves us to be prompt and on time.

B—"Be courteous." It does not cost anything to be courteous and obliging, mixing our politeness with kindness.

C—"Cut out Worry." A panacea for worry is work, so it is said. We often cross bridges before we come to them. Don't trouble trouble till trouble troubles you is a good motto.

D—"Deal Squarely." No matter, poor and rich and in everything insist on a square deal. Play the Golden Rule.

E—"Eat what is wholesome." To be healthy and sound we must eat nutritious food to protect our bodies, think kindly thoughts, keeping our minds pure thereby.

F—"Forgive and Forget." Forgive our enemies as we hope to be forgiven, forget our kindnesses. Memory is a delightful thing if given pleasant pictures to look at.

G—"Get Religion." Without religion this world would be a dreary place for us. The fellowship of religion is more sacred and intimate than that of blood closer than the kinship of a family.

H—"Hope Always." Have an optimistic spirit. Look for the silver lining that is in every cloud.

I—"Imitate the best." Have an ideal and live up to that ideal. A worker sees himself in a more important position and with that end in view, rises above his humble position. To make our ideals real, we must put action into our lives and we feel a thrill when the end is accomplished.

J—"Judge Generously." As we sow we reap. If we be lenient in our judgment, there is nothing surer or truer than judgment upon our activities will react as we have given.

K—"Knock Nobody." Let us lift our fallen brother and sister and so fulfill the law of Christ. No one is to be had but some good is found if we look for it with kindness. The chord that was broken will vibrate once more.

L—"Love Everybody." Love is never lost though often misplaced. For every loving thought and impulse that the human heart gives out, something sweet and everlasting comes back. To love everybody, we must be patient, unselfish, thoughtful of others, bear and forbear and thus make our lives one grand sweet song.

M—"Make Friends." This is the way to make a friend: You must never be afraid to lend a helping hand when things go wrong.

N—"Never Despair." The world may go wrong and freighted with care, Misfortune may handle you ill; But still there are plenty your troubles to share.

O—"Owe Nobody." The only ones who are in debt are those who never say "Thankyou"; those who take for granted the gifts of others and who cheat generous hearts of their due.

P—"Play Occasionally." All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. So it does to all, young or old. Come out of yourself and step in the sun.

Q—"Quote your Mother." Our mothers never failed us and the best way to reverse her, whether living with us or gone to eternal happiness is to often refer to her kindness, advice, guidance and goodness when speaking to our friends.

R—"Read Good Books." Time spent in reading good books will strengthen our character, give ideal enjoyment and cultivate a taste for the best. Read books of essays, biographies of great and good men and women, books of poems, travel and of other countries. The reading of good books are like good friends, always abide by us and prove to you a blessing. Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon the reading of good books.

S—"Save Something." A saving or thrifty person learns to stand upon his own feet, learns how to manage affairs, take care of himself, provide against emergencies. The saving habit it develops success. But do not be saving with your smiles, kindly deeds and your flowers. Remember the friend and neighbor who is sick with some.

T—"To Touch no Liquor." With liquor add the dangerous practices, games and other harmful amusements of today. We must begin anew our fight against liquor, persevere in the race, neither grow weary or faint. Our goal is not in sight, but as sure as God is true we will yet gain the day.

U—"Use Discretion." Those who look on life to-day will see the value of discretion. It requires a very strong character to live up to the ideals of discretion. It is a sincere desire to see every person get a fair deal. Discretion is tempered with charity and human kindness and divine grace that every one may prove true.

V—"Value your Time." Time is the marble, we are the sculptors and must carve out our own lives. A bit of knowledge accumulated in your spare moments, may prove a gold mine to you in after a golden opportunity. You can learn a trade or profession in your spare time if such appeal to you. There is a place for every bit of knowledge acquired in your spare time.

W—"Watch your Step." Our influence is silent, like sunshine on light, yet follows in our wake. The way we think we stand, we must be careful how we walk for there is always some one following in our footsteps. There is no man or woman, no matter how poor, but have in their power to leave behind them the grandest thing on earth—character.

X—"X-ray Yourself." Just stand aside and watch yourself go by; Think of yourself as "He" instead of "I".

Y—"Yield to Superiors." God tells us we are greater than our Master, consequently we should always have an interest in the welfare of our employers even though we employ pleasure thereby. A fair-minded employer never loses sight of a good deed for him and at some time returned the kindness.

Z—"Zealously Live." To greet the morning with a hopeful smile, And eagerness for what the day may bring;

To work, and count each humble task worth while, To find enjoyment in accomplishing whatever duty has for me to do;

To earn the friendship of my fellow-men, To labor towards the heights with purpose true, And, if I fail, to rise again.

To see the good in others and to cheer Their hearts with kindness and encouragement;

To feel profound regret when night is near And yet to know the day was wisely spent;

To work and love and serve with joyful soul, And ask no recompense for what I give—

Such is my golden purpose and my goal, Such is the noble zealous way to live.
