Christmas and New Year 75 years Ago and Yesterday

My memory goes back when I was a little boy 75 years ago, when my good mother prepared a Christmas feast to a family of little boys and girls. I am going to ask if any of the readers of the Review will complete the following menu...

The good father in a reverential manner, thanked the Giver for His kindness on this occasion and all felt as well satisfied as the many did at yesterday's Xmas feast.

To our near and faithful relatives, we return thanks for their kindness in treating us to a contrast between our boyhood days and old age. May they long be spared to share in their liberality in future years to come.

Christmas and New Year's brings sadness and in many a home the mother who prepared a feast for her faithful children has passed away and the good father who officiated at the end of the feast table, was called away also.

Miss Margaret Anderson, teacher near Fort Arthur, is spending her holidays at the home at Edge Hill and will be returning next week. Election in Glenelg next Monday.

Quite a large audience at the communion in Knox Church yesterday. The school entertainment was well attended at No. 3, Edge Hill one afternoon last week.

We are pleased to hear that A. B. McArthur is up and around again. Also Mr Arch. McCualg, Sr. is, we are pleased to hear, getting along fine after his ailment.

The concert at Zion last Friday evening was well attended. The good people of Zion are always favored by a good time and weather.

Those who have been vaccinated for small pox say it is a sickly operation. Twenty four years ago small pox in a mild form was on the 10th con of Glenelg. Some of the inhabi-

Bunessan School Concert

One of the best concerts given in S. S. No. 1 was much enjoyed Thursday night last. Our teacher, Miss McLean, deserves much credit for the patience and work shown in training the pupils, who in turn gave their very best in all numbers.
