PRICEVILLE & GLENELG

(Intended for last week) We notice in a recent issue in the Review. the lower part of Priceville correspondence dealt wholly with reporting the sermon of one of our able clergymen and the congregation of St. Columba is to be congratulated in having a good pastor. It was our privilege to attend service in McKinnon Hall one Sunday p. m. lately and listened to an able sermon by the pastor, Rev. Mr Corry. The Hall was cram full to the door.

The keen reaper Death has a harvest time of its own, be it in summer or winter. It matters not whether the temporal harvester is busy at work cutting the fields of grain or not. He says, 'Come with me, time is up with you.' Week after week the different cemeteries are made richer by having a funeral procession enter in at its gates.
