Radio to Play Big Role in Flight

German Dirigible is Equipped With Latest Types of Wireless Apparatus; Ship and Shore Stations Will Follow the Airship's Progress

Preserving Niagara

A National Question With International Interest

Beauty spot or power plant? The modern answer appears to be "a little of both." Use the falls as far as possible for power development without injuring them as a spectacle. The engineer's old contention that beauty should be entirely sacrifiedd to utility has been abandoned, according to an editorial writer in The Engineering News-Record (New York). Says this "Many divergent views have been expressed on the preservation of Niagara Falls and the amount of water that may be diverted for power purposes. Some of these views came to the front at the recent meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers in Buffalo. But the most important part of the discussion there was the first official publication of the Special International Niagara Board's interim report. The board recommended the immediate undertaking of certain remedial measures in order to divert water from the centre to the flanks of the Horseshot Fall and to the American Falls, but it failed to express itself on whether more water may be diverted for power purposes without harm, after the remedial measures have been taken. This latter question ought to be answered squarely in the board's final report, since it is an inseparable part of the subject for whose study the board was instituted. The beauty of the Falls is at issue only because water is being drawn for power development, and because it is desirable to draw still more if it can be done without injuring the impressiveness of the great natural spectacle. The day is past when many people will agree with the view expressed by Lord Kelvin that the Falls should be laid bare to provide the maximum amount of power; but, on the other hand, few will go to the other extreme of maintaining that the Falls should be left untouched even though they may be seriously injured by erosion, and even though proper engineering measures will enable great amounts of power to be obtained without detracting from their beauty. It is only the extremists on either side who do not realize that the waters of Niagara have two distinct values, esthetic and the power value. Somewhere between the two extreme views lies a point at which both purposes can be served without undue injury to either, and one of the greatest services the Special International Niagara Board could render would be to attempt to determine where that point lies."

RHEUMATIC MISERY Murderer Agrees

Relief Can Only Come Through Better Blood-Liniments of No Use.

In no other disease does the blood become thin so rapidly as in rheumatism. Not only does it become thin but it is loaded with impuritiesrheumatic poisons. Without the prorheumatic poisons. Without the proper treatment these poisons increase, the inflamed joints swell and the patient becomes a cripple. Most treatments hence with every- unfavorable con

To cast out rheumatism the blood must be enriched and the rheumatic poisons driven out with the natural secretions of the body. This can best be done through a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which have a specific action on the blood, giving it new richness and redness. Thousands have tried this treatment with beneficial results. That every sufferer from rheumatism who does not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is neglecting the most hopeful means of recovery is shown by the statement of Mr. David Carroll, Pictou, N.S., who says:-"For years I was troubled with rheumatism. Strange Medical Experiment Will Be Made in Lithuania

STUDY OF DISEASE

Leprosy Will Be Developed Through Various Stages

Kovno, Lithuania.-One of the strangest medical experiments on record was announced here recently when a convicted murderer agreed to permit himself to be inoculated with

The murderer's name is Kirstein and he was condemned to death after convicted of a particularly gruesome murder. It was said he voluntarily agreed to the experiment which will make him a leper.

Professor Sniker, chief of the Army Medical Corps, will inoculate Kirstein with the bacill. At first only a small injection will be given and the Professor will study the disease in its early stages.

Later the leprosy will be developed through various steps at advanced stages of the disease, and the professor will keep detailed records of its progress. It is expected here that the study will be of value in the creation

Conserving Child Life

The Children's Aid Society, with its affiliated branches in all parts of the country, has throughout its existence advocated and worked for the preservation of the family home, recognizing that this is in the best interests of the child, the parents and the State. Good homes wih good mothers, writes J. J. Kelso, has been our watchword, and constant effort has been directed to securing these desirable conditions. Friendly advice and encouragement has been steadily given to raise moral and material conditions with results that have been eminently satisfactory. For this reason, if for no other, the society should receive the cordial support both of individuals and municipal organizations.
