Rum Running Scandal a Serious Affair

BY AGNES MacPHAIL, M. P.

On Tuesday, May 21st, the House of Commons listened to a debate, dealing with the export of liquor from Canada to the United States. During the year 1925-26 grave charges of mismanagement of the Dept. of Customs was made by H. A. Stevens, a committee of the H. of Commons approved of a report which among other things urged "that regulations be made to prohibit clearances being granted to vessels carrying liquor as cargo, sailing from a Canadian port to a United States port."

During the election campaign that followed, the Rt. Hon. W. L. McKenzie King gave earnest and hearty support to the investigation and to the report of the Com. He pledged himself and his party "to continue relentlessly the investigation of the Customs service and to carry out without fear or favor the needed requirements." Mr King was returned to power and early in the next parliament a Royal Commission was appointed. It travelled about Canada, studying the whole question of smuggling for 11 mos. It cost Canada a good deal of money and it recommended in part as follows: "We also express our entire concurrence in the recommendation of the special committee of the House of Commons, as contained in paragraph 10 of that Com.'s report, an effective method of carrying out the intent of the treaty referred to would be to prohibit clearances to vessels or vehicles of all kinds carrying a cargo of liquor to the United States, contrary to the laws of the country."

The recommendation made by the special com. of the H. of Commons and the Royal Com. has not been carried out by the House of Commons. One naturally wonders why. Mr Woodsworth took the ground that responsible gov't was being flouted "The Prime Minister often speaks of the necessity of maintaining responsible gov't in this country, may I ask him to whom is the Gov't responsible? Surely to the House of Commons itself in some form and if the gov't is not responsible to the House then we have ceased to have responsible Government."

The four or five members who spoke, urging the carrying out of the recommendation based their arguments chiefly round two points, first that our present action is doing much to interfere with harmony between ourselves and U. States, pointing to the fact that it has already lent to the 'I'm Alone' incident, to the killing of several people by the patrol guards on the American side, and claiming that it is apt to lead to even more serious results; and second, that making money by breaking the laws of another country is ruining the morale of our people. Mr Speakman, the member for Red Deer, worded it so beautifully that I shall quote from him: "Our action will affect international peace and harmony as between two great nations, nations which for decades have prided themselves and rightly so, on their cool-headed common sense and kindly consideration when dealing with their mutual problems. This matter before us, is, I think, one which threatens the very purpose for which the Treaty for the renunciation of War was brought forward. As the Hon. member for Winnipeg, North Centre, (Mr Woodsworth) has said, it is leading to the arming of the people, probably a very small percentage of people it is true, in order to defend the laws of the United States against what they believe to be aggressive acts on the part of some of our Nationals."

Several members pointed out that large sums of money had been paid by breweries and distillery companies to campaign funds.

Mr Gair replied at considerable length. He took the ground that there was a strong public opinion in Canada opposed to the export of liquor from Canada to the U. States but that there is as strong and possibly a stronger body of public opinion which is entirely opposed to the suggestion that we should assist in the carrying out of the laws of another country. He made the interesting observation that Canada "is west". "I think I may use that term—under a system of Gov't Control in seven out of the nine provinces" and claimed that the U. States having a different law there was sure to be trouble. He dealt with the agreement between the two countries made in 1924, by which Canada was to give notice to American authorities when clearances were granted. The U. States at that time asked to have a provision in the Treaty that no clearances be granted, but Canada did not agree. In 1926 a request again came from U. States Gov't, asking for conference with Canadian authorities for the purpose of striving to prevent clearances. The request was not met at that time, but last January, officials of the two countries met in Ottawa to discuss this question. So far nothing has come of it.

Mr Euler stated to make the measure effective you would also have to forbid the release of liquor or beer from the distilleries and breweries, (which clearly shows that to be effective, prohibition must prohibit manufacture.) Mr Euler stated that the friends of the U. States, on liquor exported to the U. States, the excise tax was paid before the goods left the distillery and when that is done and the clearance paper given it is just as legal to export liquor as to export any other commodity. He claimed that the clearance papers must show the real destination of the boats, that it was no longer true boats cleared for Cuba and Mexico when their real destination was Buffalo or Detroit. If they give a false destination they are violating our law and the penalty is applied.

The ethics of the Gov't were apparently voiced by following words: of Mr Euler: "One of the arguments offered against our prohibiting the issuance of clearances is that the problem which the U. States is now experiencing is one of their own making and that we are not primarily responsible. Another is—using the words of the man in the street—let the U. States enforce their own law. In the light of the statements which I made this afternoon, in connection with the lack of effort on the part of the U. States to enforce their own law I think that attitude is a very human and reasonable one, and that we might at least go slowly until we have some assurance and some evidence that they are trying to do for themselves what they are now asking us to do for them," and again "But I will also say very frankly that I am more concerned with stopping smuggling into Canada than stopping smuggling into the United States."

Mr Euler was strangely silent on the work and recommendation of the Committee of Parliament and the Royal Commission, he never even mentioned them. Mr H. A. Stevens also addressed the House, but it was a very weak effort when compared to his thundering charges of 1925-26; apparently something has lessened Mr Stevens' ardour.

If the people of Canada want action taken, and I cannot help but think they do, they will have to arouse public opinion on the matter and see that that opinion is aggressively expressed.

The meeting was opened in the usual manner by singing and scripture reading, followed by the Lord's Prayer. Opening exercises over, discussions and all business matter finished, Mrs D. Stewart gave an excellent paper on 'Life'; Mrs Dan McLean an impressive one on 'Doing one's Best'. Then came the report of the past year from Sec'y Treas. and committees, followed by election of officers for the coming year. They read as follows: President, Miss Charlotte Fletcher Secretary, Miss Anna Smith Treasurer, Mrs David Lamb 1st Vice Pres., Mrs Jno. Grierson 2nd Vice Pres., Mrs H. Hopkins Directors: Mrs J. S. Davey, Mrs Dan McLean, Mrs Herb Hopkins. Auditors: Mrs D. Stewart and Miss Margaret Fletcher. Organist: Mrs Wm. Noble Fruit & Visiting Com.: Mrs Ewen, Mrs Heslett, Mrs Cuff. Program Com.: Mrs Lamb, Mrs Hopkins, Mrs Stewart. Mrs J. S. Davey was appointed director to District Annual and Mrs D. McQuarrie, delegate.

At the close of meeting, Mrs Cuff and assistants served lunch. The Branch had the pleasure of hearing Miss Alexander, Toronto, on Monday, at the home of Miss Margaret Fletcher. Her address was "Putting into Life that Life will Stand." She spoke deeply on charity and to help the needy, show sympathy to those in trouble and try and keep the friends we have made in our own community. We should make it our aim to build our community up in making it a greater, better and prettier place. The ladies had some community singing and also a short address from Mrs J. S. McIlraith. An enjoyable afternoon was spent.

The Misses Fletcher served lunch and the gathering returned to their respective homes, feeling they had listened to a wonderful address.

THE FORD CAR FUEL SYSTEM

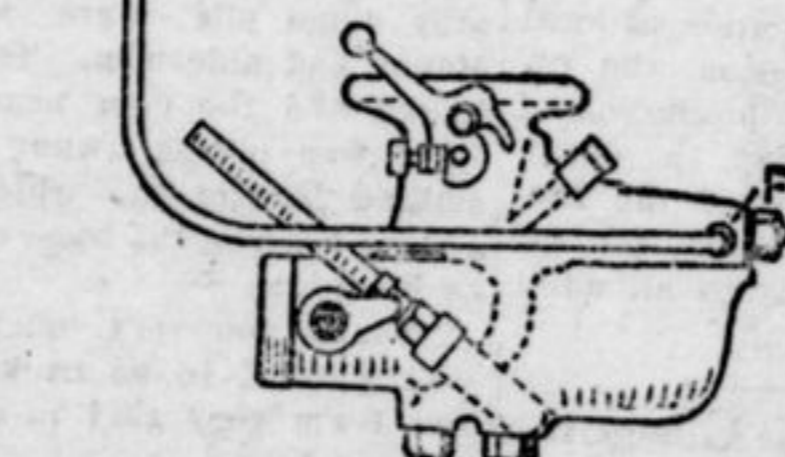

- A—Filler Cap.
- B—Filter spout screen filters gas and prevents splashing through filler opening.
- C—Gas gauge.
- D—Fuel line main shut off valve.
- E—Gas filter.
- F—Carburetor Connection.

Simple—Safe—and Dependable

THE Ford car fuel system is simple because it is direct. Gravity flow does away with forced feed. A short feed line with a minimum of elbows and connections is easy to service and eliminates approximately 100 parts required by the vacuum tank or fuel pump system.

The nine gallon tank is so placed that it is well protected from front or rear end collision. Any overflow runs off on the ground with no serious results, since the only point of possible spark contact is the rear end of the exhaust. Three screens instead of one, as in most fuel systems, prevent foreign matter reaching the tank. A solid steel dash separates the Ford gas tank from the engine.

The gas gauge on the dash of the Ford car is controlled by a simple float as shown in diagram, being more direct, simple and accurate than any other type. Another point of driving convenience made possible by the gravity flow system is the ease with which the tank may be filled, while the driver supervises the operation without moving from behind the wheel.

THE GRATEFUL GUEST

(Anne Sutherland)
I must be very grateful when
At last I go away,
To leave this earthly chamber just
As pretty and as gay
As when I crossed its threshold. He
Who brought me here a guest,
He has been gentle to my needs
And made my sojourn blest.
He gave me gay and eager feet
And dark and sweet content,
And laughter was a creed for me,
And love a sacrament.
Now let me leave no crumpled faults
About, no dingy fears:
Let there be no long sighs for me,
No wondering, no tears:
But simply here a book that falls
Wide open to a prayer,
And reddened embers on the hearth,
And fragrance in the air
Of my bright words. And if I leave
Behind me anything,
Let it be very beautiful
For my remembering.
