JAMES WELLINGTON BANKS

On Friday last, April 25th, there passed away at North Bay, a former well-known Glenelg resident, in the person of James Wellington Banks, son of the late Jabez and Mrs Banks. For some time past deceased had suffered poor health and the two weeks has been bedfast, caused by some obstruction of the bowel.

The late Mr Banks was born near Caledon, Ont. Feb. 18, 1852. and -An All Round Good Timeshortly after came with his parents. further into the northern frontier of that time. For a few years they resided in the home in the block where Mrs David Jackson's house now stands in Upper Town, later moving Township. His schooling was received in Durham and Edge Hill schools

Thirty four years ago he first left for North Bay and has since been with the C.P.R. He was married three times, his present wife, formerly Mrs Mitchell of Toronto, surviving.
