On Sunday morning last, the six month old daughter of Mr and Mrs. Ralph Catton (nee Lena Ritchie) was baptized in Knox United Church by Rev W. H. Smith. The event carried more than ordinary interest for the infant was christened 'Mary Madeleine Knox'. As is well known, Mrs. Catton for many years was the faithful and capable President of the Young Ladies' Auxiliary of the church and this, their first child, will carry as she grows in years, the name of 'Knox' with the full understanding and appreciation of her mother's work in the church and will be a link in handing to succeeding generations, what the name stands for and implies.

Bon Voyage and Presentations to Departing Trio

Three Durham Ladies feted and remembered in Presbyterian and Knox Churches Monday, ere their departure for a holiday trip abroad.

It is lovely to set sail for Old England and the continent with a background piled high from your home town and church of good wishes for kindly farewells and suitable remembrances.

Such was the case on Monday afternoon and evening, first in the Presbyterian Church where Mrs Lauer and Miss Julia Weir are members and in Knox United in the evening where Miss Hunter has entrenched herself in the people's hearts so strongly. These three ladies leave Durham on Thursday afternoon, while on Friday, at 10 a.m. they sail on the S.S. 'Aurania' of the Cunard line for over two months abroad. Their travelling kits contain many evidences of regard from friends and societies and in his own way, King

'Peony Tea' in Queen St. Church a Pretty Event

June and peonies are a hard combination to excel, — the loveliest month and the loveliest flower of the month. With this as a base, they are bound to make any event successful. Such was the annual Peony Tea, which came off on Tuesday in Queen St. United Church basement. The Peony was holding its proud head aloft in many places and coupled with the streamers of pink and white crepe paper in festoons from corner to corner of ceiling, it made a beautiful scene. Many ladies took advantage of the occasion and found the social and refreshment side up to the high standard usually set by the ladies of Queen St. Church. Mrs Fiddes and Mrs H. McCrae poured tea from a prettily decorated tea table and a continuous musical program brightened the close.

At the close of afternoon an address and presentation was made to one of the active workers of the church, Mrs Ben Wilson, who leaves next week to reside in Hamilton. Mrs Ylris read an appreciative address to Mrs. Wilson. Mrs Padfield making a presentation of a three piece silver candy and nut set. This was acknowledged appropriately.

Over $60 was made at the door and from sale of candy and baking.

Canadian Order Foresters at Queen St. Church

Durham Branch Can. Order of Foresters, No 446, held their annual church parade and service Sunday evening last, this year to the Queen St. United Church, where Rev H. S. Fiddes delivered to them an inspiring sermon. Many from Owen Sound lodge helped to swell the number who marched to the church, headed by Mount Forest band. The centre pews of the church auditorium was completely filled.

Special music was rendered by the choir, consisting of an anthem with Margaret Lawrence as soloist: solo, Bert Saunders; and a number by the male quartette, Messrs Glass, Padfield, McCrae and Saunders. Mr Fiddes based his sermon on Proverbs 18: 24: "A man that hath friends must show himself friendly; and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother." As the text would indicate it was a sermon on 'Friendship' and the speaker divided his topic under heads which he deemed the most important to-day in the world:

1. Friendship of Sympathy, which forms a bond between us, Friendship cannot live amid suspicion and distrust. Things that oppose friendship create war and strife. All organizations that create the spirit of Friendship are allies. There should be a fellow feeling between races, classes and individuals: as an example, Mr. Netram, a native of India, was made a member of Toronto Conference. The purpose of the League of Nations is to create Friendship.

2. Friendship of Service. The true Friendship demands service between friends. The Friendship of devotion is the highest form of devotion and the friendship of God is the love that seeks to save the sinner.

Religion is knowing this friend and seeking to be like Him. At the close of service pastor and choir were invited to the lodge rooms where votes of thanks were tendered each for their services. Rev Mr Fiddes and Mr Padfield responded.

THE ROLL CALL

JAMES A. HUNTER

On Saturday last the sad news reached his mother, Mrs J. H. Hunter at "The Hedges", that her eldest son, the well known James A. Hunter, of Minneapolis, was dead. At this writing we have no details, but it must have been sudden for letters not long before made no mention of illness.

At last a letter came announcing acute illness and his sister Blanche, Mrs Lorne Somerville left in haste to minister to him. But alas the end had come before she reached him and sorrow reigned.

Deceased was born in Durham nearly 60 years ago the eldest son of the late James H. Hunter, who represented South Grey in the Provincial Legislature for many years, and of Mrs. Hunter, who to-day is plunged into mourning. He grew up here, received his early education here and succeeded to his father's business, which he developed and enlarged. He was a capable business man and in every way a citizen to be proud of and there came a day when Durham grieved to learn that the altitudes and advantages of the Western city was to deprive them of his presence.

He had an extensive real estate business in Minneapolis covering a wide territory. Almost 25 years ago he married Miss Whyte, daughter of the Vice Pres. of the C.P.R. at that time, who with a son and daughter mourns to-day.

Interment will of course take place from his Western home though many friends here would have liked him to lie in Durham.

In addition to his fine business capacity, he was a lover of manly sports and took pride in moving amid sporting circles, where he won distinction as a man of honor and an advocate of fair play in every situation. As well he was a music lover all his life and during residence in Durham, was a stronghold in Trinity Church choir. The last few years in Minneapolis he has been President of the Apollo Club, there, a celebrated male organization of over 200 trained voices, which each February rendered oratorios and operatic concerts.

In addition to wife, son and daughter, there also mourn his mother, sister Blanche and brother Fred, at present thought to be on the Atlantic coming to Canada and to relatives in Durham. He has retired from active service after his long experience as Colonel in the Imperial Army in India and China.

Young People Conduct Service on Sunday

Presbyterian Pulpit and choir in the hands of young people of the church at morning service.

It is frequently remarked that the young people of the present day do not dwell on the serious side of life and rather let their mind drift into sport and pleasure channels. Doubtless there is a modicum of truth in the statement but when put to the test they are not found wanting either. During the absence of Rev. B. D. Armstrong from his pulpit in the Presbyterian Church last Sunday, the service was conducted entirely by the young people of the congregation and reflected credit on all concerned. The choir was filled with young people, comprising Margaret Erwin, Janet McDonald, Grace Becker, Muriel Brown, Dorothy Pickering, Mabel Sharp, Isabel Firth, Christene Anderson, Mae and Sadie McEachern, Mary Pickering, Elsie Hunter, Elsie Ledingham, Mary Moffat, Jean Harding, Bobby Gray George McKechnie, Wm Stewart, Jimmie McDonald, John Coultts. Two spirited anthems were rendered with Miss Elizabeth Harding at piano. Messrs Wallace McGowan and Will McDonald were in charge of the offertory and Dan Firth read the scripture lesson.

The service was conducted by Miss Kathleen Firth who based her remarks from the scripture passages in Matt 5: 1-2. "And seeing the multitudes, He went up into a mountain: and when He was set His disciples came unto Him:

And He opened His mouth and taught them, saying: "It was an exposition on 'The Great Teacher' and she handled it well. Christ-gave of the message of love and all His life was a school of learning. Our three schools in the church to-day—Sunday School, Young People's Society and Church should be used to the full advantage and it was for us to seek to inculcate His spirit into our lives and hearts.

This was the first service of this nature in the church, but conducted so well that it will likely be made an annual feature.

No. 7, Normanby, Won Dramatic Contest

The citizens of Durham passed up a good thing when they failed to attend the Dramatic competition in the Town Hall last Thursday evening. It was under auspices of South Grey Rural Youth Association and while the young folks from the four surrounding Townships gathered to fill the Hall over half, there were not many from the town present.

Clarence Robinson of Edge Hill presided and with three competing Clubs presenting the half hour play, "The Trysting Place", some excellent dramatic talent was revealed. The play depicts the amusing experiences of three love-making couples in a room of a large city hotel, who in the climax discover there are hidden auditors. The clubs were Varney, Yeovil and No 7, Normanby and for several of the characters in each, no better choice could have been made. Among the stars were all the school teachers participating—Miss Gussie McAlister, of Varney; Miss Edmonstone and Mr Hinecs of Yeovil and Miss Isabel Marshall of No 7, Normanby. Evidently teaching provides great dramatic training. Mr J. Dundas, Markdale, and Mr Langton, the new ass't representative of Dept of Agriculture at Markdale, were the judges and they awarded the cup emblematic of the first prize to No 7 club.

The players of each club were: Varney—Misses G. McAlister, Winnie Blyth, Myrtle Marshall; Harold Watson, Arthur Petty, Ronald Smith, N. Schenk.

Yeovil—Misses Ethel Alles, A. Edmonston, Rose Lamont; Clifford Hinks, Art Watson, Jack Nicholson, Ewart Alles.

No. 7—Misses Nellie Anderson, Isabel Marshall, Luella Dierlam; Harvey Dierlam, Wm Hughes, Wilfrid Anderson, Wm Ford.

Between the plays were some capotatory numbers—James and Helen Milligan; Carmen Queen and J. Rahm in instrumental duets; Miss Catherine Smith, teacher of No 14, Nor'by, in a fine reading and Miss Margaret Watt and Russell Drimmie of Yeovil, solos. Miss Watt possesses a sweet voice and Russell's two popular songs "went over big" with the wonderful accompaniment of Mr Dundas. Mr. Langton gave the judges' decision and in a brief address, warmly congratulated the contestants on the ability shown in depicting the various parts.

With only 25c admission fee for a 50c concert, the hall should have been thronged. Perhaps next year, the public, with more advertising of the event, will make sure they do not miss this treat.

On Monday night the Royal Arch Masonic Chapter had as a visitor, Superintendent B. J. Arnold of Wellington District. At the close of inspection and general business, a banquet was served in honor of the visiting gentleman. Mr Arnold comes from Acton.

A welcome caller dropped into the Review Office Tuesday, in the person of Joe Burnet, one of Durham's young men 25 years ago. We didn't place him at first but when the old smile spread out over his features, the old "Joe" was still there. He is now an official of the Sask. Gov't Telephone System and appears to like the work as well as the work likes him. 'The Shriners' Convention brought him East from Regina and in company with his sister Mary, Mrs Thos. Caldwell and brother-in-law, Donald McCoskey of Toronto, visited former haunts and friends in town and district.

South African War Veteran in Town last week

A link with the South African War of 1900—just 30 years ago—was in the Review Office Thursday last, in the person of Geo. W. Ledingham, now of Vancouver. Mr Ledingham, an one of the 500 Strathcona Horse, announced by the late Lord Strathcona, went to South Africa, the only representative from this section who fought in what we now call the Boer rebellion. On his return to Canada and Durham, the citizens of that day tendered him a civic reception, at which he was presented with a gold watch suitably engraved. He yet proudly carries the watch with him wherever he travels,—in fact it is the best identification mark he could possibly carry. He gratefully refers to the kindness of Durham citizens of that date and while he has prospered in Vancouver, was glad to return to the scenes of youth and early friendships, accompanied by his wife.

Leading the chorus of school children who sang patriotic songs in his honor on his return from South Africa was James A. Hunter and elsewhere in this issue will be noted his passing. Thus the hero of 30 years ago and the man who played such a large part in his reception here, are again in the same week, 30 years later, receiving press comment:—one renewing old acquaintances and scenes and of the other his regretted death notice.

Death of Mr and Mrs H. Tonkin

A week ago Mr and Mrs. John McGowan were in Oshawa attending the funeral of their brother-in-law, Mr. Henry Tonkin, who died suddenly after three days illness, at the age of 73 years, while his wife was ill in the hospital. He was a public-spirited citizen and had been honored in various civic positions. He kept a large greenhouse and took a great pleasure in gardening.

Only eight days later, Mrs. Tonkin passed away in hospital from erysipelas, and last week end, Mr McGowan again went to Oshawa, for his sister's funeral on Monday, Mrs. McGowan being unable to leave. The deceased lady was 67 years of age, and a family of eleven children, six sons and five daughters, survive.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Tonkin were highly respected, and energetic workers in the United Church there. At the funeral services their pastor paid a devoted tribute to their loyalty to the church services and work.
