WHAT ABOUT WHEAT?

Something to think over.

Saskatchewan grows enough wheat in one year to feed all the people in Canada for five years. The figures with respect to the Province of Saskatchewan are even more illuminating. In one year Saskatchewan produces enough wheat to feed the people of Saskatchewan for 50 years.

In two years Saskatchewan produces enough wheat to feed the people of Saskatchewan for 100 years. What is to be done with this wheat? It has to be sold in the foreign market and in return for it Canada has to take foreign goods in exchange. Nothing that can be done about the home market will alter the situation one iota. Another million people in Canada would absorb only 5,000,000 bushels of wheat, an amount that could be grown by farmers of Saskatchewan putting in a couple of hours extra seeding in the spring of the year.

The question of the wisdom of growing so much wheat is sometimes raised. But a reduction in the volume of wheat would not alter the fundamental situation. If wheat is not grown, some other product will be produced on the farms to take its place. For these other products a market would have to be found abroad.

Consideration of these facts should have a sobering effect on those who argue that Canada should put a high tariff on wheat. It is not a high tariff that will produce in Canada.

Knowing that we must buy millions of dollars worth of goods abroad as payment for that which necessarily compels us to sell, how is the country to become richer by putting a high tax on the things that it cannot escape buying?

CAN MISS MACPHAIL WIN AGAIN?

(From Mt. Forest Confederate) The London Free Press (Can.) says: "Apparently we have seen the end of black domination and group governments in Canada and are back to the healthier two-party system. This was clearly demonstrated by the results of the election. Now even such a staunchly Grit organ as the Chesley Enterprise questions whether Miss Agnes Macphail, one of the most colorful members of the House of Commons can ever be elected again."

We are not so sure about that. A good deal can happen in four or five years. The conservative party chooses to hold in power that long. Miss Macphail may wish then to retire from the strenuous political life. We fancy she has no illusions as to the constancy of popular favor and the recent election would not strengthen such illusions if she had any. However she still has the backing of the majority in South-East Grey and would have very good prospects in future contests. Popular opinion may turn still further in her favor.

The feature about the recent vote that we feel most about is the opposite natures of the urban and rural votes. This is a condition for which Miss Macphail is largely herself responsible as she has pretty consistently emphasized rural interests at the expense of urban interests and thus fostered mutual prejudices and jealousies. This is a pity.

We would much rather see a condition of mutual good will in both town and country. Their interests are mutual and inter-related, not opposed. We would prefer to see Miss Macphail not less an exponent and advocate of purely rural interests, but more a representative of the interests and feelings of the towns and villages that also comprise her constituency. Cooperation and not opposition or differentiation should be the aim of the exponents of public opinion—Peace and not War—if we may put it that way.

Miss Macphail has won for herself a foremost place in Parliament irrespective of the fact that she is thus far the only woman member of the House of Commons and we look for the use of her prestige in directions that will be of benefit to Canada. There is still place for the expression of independent opinion that represents the farmers, rather than the industrial classes and the monied interests. Probably more than ever we need that.

TRAGEDY AT SEAPLANE RACES

Tuesday afternoon last a big seaplane race was staged in front of the Exhibition, in full view of the 50,000 spectators. The start was made and a speed of over 120 miles an hour was being made, when suddenly Captain Chas. Sutton's plane was seen to tip the water with one of its wings and the plane catapulted and plunged into the lake.

Claude Mills, a companion of Sutton, was thrown clear, but at last accounts they were searching for Sutton's body. Spectators got a thrill they did not look for. Sutton has a successful 15 year's record with aeroplanes. Mills is recovering from the horrible experience. The wreckage has been hauled to the shore but Sutton is gone.

Veteran Writes Tribute to late Dr. A. Gun

The following letter appearing in the Toronto Telegram, came to the family of the late Dr. Gun, as an unsolicited testimonial, as the soldiers knew him at Christie St. Hospital. Sir:

The returned men in the city of Toronto and elsewhere, as well as the patients in Christie St. Hospital, have suffered a great loss, Dr. Arthur Gun having been called across the Great Divide.

Dr. Gun, during his sojourn at Christie St. Hospital, had endeared himself to all ex-service men by his pleasantness and personality, always full of the great Christian virtue, sympathy for others, which he pursued to the last, always having a kindly word of encouragement to all who came to him for examination or treatment.

He will be greatly missed by all ex-service men, and his place will be hard to fill, if it ever can be filled as satisfactorily by any other. His kindly actions, his sacrificing spirit and a sufferer himself, his earnestness to do all in his power to serve his fellow sufferers certainly earned for him the reputation of the ex-soldiers' best friend in Christie St. Hospital. Genuine Christian men like the late Doctor, are the only proper type of medical officer needed to help the burnt-out veteran. He understood the boys, listened sympathetically to them as they related their troubles to him, and he at all times was ever ready and willing to deal out such advice and treatment as he considered best to suit their case.

Many of us have thought that our old friend, who has just left us, did not get his just deserts as an officer of the hospital, and believe that had he been a cold, hard, matter-of-fact, argumentative type of M.O. instead of the quiet, unassuming, painstaking, sympathetic, Christian gentleman he always showed and proved himself to be, there is not the least doubt about it, but that he would have been promoted to a higher office in C. S. Hospital.

However, there is nothing more certain that the name of Dr. Arthur Gun will live forever in the hearts and memories of the hundreds, nay thousands, of ex-service men and their friends, who came in contact with him during the years he passed as a real Christian Medical Officer in Christie St. Hospital. —"Vivit Post unFera Vitus"

APPRECIATED

A letter from Mrs D. W. Campbell, Fairgrove, Mich., daughter of the late Thos. Greenwood, expresses appreciation to Rev's Fiddes and Smith and many friends and relatives who helped to assuage their grief over the death of their father.

She also states that removing her father to Michigan did not hasten his death. Previous to the week of his death, he "was much improved in health and exceedingly happy and contented" till a third stroke similar to the two experienced during the past three years, proved fatal.

HYMENEAL

'Noric for a water trip to Duluth. On their return they will take up residence in Palmerston where the groom the past few years has been in the service of the C.N.R.

The bride was well remembered by her numerous friends on this important occasion. That her scholars appreciated her tutorage, is evident from their shower, many of them sending their way to her home on Thursday night last with miscellaneous gifts. Thursday afternoon the Presbyterian choir of which she was a member, were entertained at the summer home of J. H. Harding at Wilder's Lake, where a pleasant time spent in water resort diversions. On behalf of the choir, Rev Mr Armstrong eulogized the work of the bride in choir and church and knew that in the larger life she was entering scope of usefulness would be still greater.

Mr T. M. McFadden presented her with the typical Jiggs and Maggie rolling pin as a come in telude and for a lasting remembrance a silver entree dish was presented to her. The Young People's Society supplemented this with a companion entree dish.

As well as the shower tendered by the Rocky young people Wednesday night last, the U.F.Y.P.O. Club of that section presented to her a plate, cup and saucer of Beechek china, of which the bride has been a collector.

In commu with hosts of others, the Review extends to the young couple heartiest congratulations on the recent union.

SHOWED BRIDE-ELECT

About thirty one pupils, comprising the S. III class and IV classes, gathered at her parents' home last Thursday evening, to tender her a miscellaneous shower. The address was read by Miss Nora Baird as follows:

It is with confused emotions we are assembled here this evening; we cannot but sorrow in the thought that we are losing a teacher who was ever assiduous for our moral and spiritual welfare as well as for our mental progress.

But while we are dismayed at the idea of parting from our well-loved mentor, we rejoice in the prospective happiness we feel sure you will enjoy in the new sphere you have chosen to enter.

A sense of obligation impels us to try and express in this humble way our gratitude for your kindly forbearance, patience and perseverance in our interest.

We ask you to accept these modest offerings as tangible mementoes of our love and esteem and we earnestly pray that all the blessings and good gifts of God may be your portion in due season.

On behalf of your affectionate pupils, Nora Baird, Mary Firth, Gladys Ritchie, Susie Bell. The gifts were placed in a beautifully decorated basket in pink and white, carried by two school pupils, Misses Mary Firth and Susie Bell. They were opened by Miss Gladys Ritchie and Miss Nora Baird read the verses. The social hour was spent in music and singing.

LOVE LAUGHS AT BARRIERS OF RACE AND CREED

Rev. Dr. W. Prudham of Wesley United Church, Amherburg, and former pastor of Queen St. United, Durham, officiated recently at the wedding of Paul Kowtuit and Miss Marjorie Moineau, which was solemnized at the parsonage. The bridemaid was Miss Cecile Dulcree and the groomsmen, John Liken. There are a number of sidelights to the wedding which makes it interesting. For instance the bride is of Scotch extraction, comes from Cobalt and is a member of the United Church of Canada. The groom is a Russian from Sudbury and is a member of the Greek Orthodox Church. The bridemaid is a Czech, comes from Fort William and is a Roman Catholic. The groom is a Russian from East Windsor and is a Greek Orthodox in religion. The party drove down in a brand new Ford car left in a happy mood, intimating they would be back next month for the marriage of the bride and groomsmen. Mr Kowtuit is a storekeeper at Sudbury.

MULOCK

The regular meeting of the Y.F.U. was held in the church Tuesday evening, with an attendance of 36 members and visitors, who enjoyed an excellent program got up by Group 2 in charge of Mrs Fulton. Subject: Life. The topic which was taken by Miss Catherine McLean was most interesting and instructive. A well prepared paper "The A.B.C. of Life" was read by Miss Sara McLean; Mrs Galloway gave a beautiful solo "Life's Railway to Heaven", followed by a recitation. "Life is what we make it" by Arthur Adams. Mrs Porter read the scripture lesson from John 6: a pantomime, "The Holy City" acted by Miss Lolita Mighton and sung by Miss Blanche Boyce was beautifully given. A closing prayer by John McDonald and a contest by Mrs Fred Torry closed the evening.

Mr and Mrs A.C. McDonald, Ulva and Donald McDonald, accompanied by Misses Margaret and Hannah McDonald, spent Saturday at Wasaga Beach.

The many friends of Mrs George Brown are sorry to learn she has been confined to her bed the past week. Mr and Mrs John Phillips and son Curtis, were here on business the first of the week.

Misses Margaret and Hanna McDonald returned to Toronto, after a pleasant week's visit at the home of Mr A.C. McDonald. Miss Catherine McKimmon of Basswood, Man, who is visiting friends in this part, and elsewhere, is this week visiting her friend, Miss Tena Livingston at an absence of 17 years. We are assured Miss McKimmon and Miss Livingston will enjoy their visit together, as they were brought up together from childhood.

Guests at the home of Mr George Brown Sunday were Mr and Mrs Geo Jacklin, Mr and Mrs Thos Cross of Chesley. On Monday Mrs Wm Jacklin and daughter and Mrs Thos Ryan, Chesley, were guests at the same home.
