Modern Language Still In Stone Age

Has Not Advanced In Line With Other Human Progress... All human beings still talk like savages. Every modern language is little more than a tool for cavemen; as though modern savages still operated with stone knives or modern carpenters sawed boards with fish bones or modern farmers cultivated their fields by digging them up with sharp sticks.

THE DIFFERENCE

It takes so many roses—Such wealth of gorgeous bloom—So many petals crushed, to make One breath of faint perfume. To labor and to tears Of labor and of tears To give the world a lovely song That will outlive the years.

The Foggiest Spot

Moose Peak, Maine, enjoys the distinction, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, of being the foggiest spot in the United States, although it brightened up a little in 1930 and had only 1,562 hours, or a little more than sixty-five days and nights, of fog. Its yearly fog average over sixteen years has been 1,667 hours.

FASHION HINT

"How to make my old short skirts conform to the new length was a problem to me until I hit on this plan. I dropped the hems; and as the part that had been turned under was darker than the rest, I redyed the entire dress, after having bleached the goods, following directions in the Diamond Dyes package.

Owl Laffs

Mrs. Carney (rushing into the living room, panting for breath)—Oh, Walter, I dropped my diamond ring off my finger and I can't find it anywhere. Mr. Carney (very calmly)—It's all right, Olive, I came across it in my trouser's pocket.

A friend complains about the increasing worries of dressing. "By the time I get my f's teeth in place, my arch supports adjusted, my ear phone regulated and my wrist watch strapped on I am usually exhausted," he confided.

The Fire Menace in the Dominion

Summer has its perils as well as its pleasures, and one of the greatest perils is the forest fire. Until a few decades ago Canada was careless of her timber wealth; there seemed so much of it that exhaustion was a remote prospect. But prodigality always brings its own punishment; now it is realized that the wooded areas must be cared for, and reforestation has become an established undertaking.

Buffalo in Canada

The herd of about 1,900 wood buffalo or bison still roaming south of Great Slave Lake is the last wild herd of the continent. Wood Buffalo Park (10,500 square miles), the largest National Park in Canada, with the Salt River therein, is reserved for their use. The Government herd of plains buffalo in the park at Wainwright, Alberta, is kept at 5,000, and is a source of robes, horns and meat.

Poles of U.S. Are Determined

The two points farthest apart in the United States proper, according to the Geological Survey, are Cape Flattery, Wash., and a point on the Florida coast, south of Miami. These two points are about 2,835 miles apart.—The Pathfinder.

Drying Curtains

Take the full width of voile, grenadine or any soft curtain material and after stitching hems at top and bottom, making a separate stitching for the rod, dampen and while damp lay out on ironing board or use a curtain stretcher, put them at once on rods, place a rod in the bottom hem and one in the top and hang them to dry by pushing the material tightly together. Let them dry in this fashion.
