A happy social night was spent in the school-room of Knox Church, on Monday, when upwards of seventy of the young people of the town, competed around the tables in progressive crokinole, held under the auspices of the Young Woman's Auxiliary. Want to Combine Holidays
Owen Sound merchants are dissatisfied with Thanksgiving Day so early in the season and will request that in future Thanksgiving and Armistice Day be observed the same day. Early October they claim, is no time to celebrate Thanksgiving. Farm produce was far from being ready for the market and the consumer had to content himself with substitutes.

A Judgeship for Mr. Henry?
Crown Attorney W. D. Henry's name is receiving some prominence in the press, over the fact that he is considered as one of the eligibles to fill the place of the late Judge H. P. Durham Quashed Hanover's Hopes by 8-0 Defeat

Durham proved conclusively that they are the class of Saugeen Box Lacrosse League last Friday night, when they applied the whitewash brush to Hanover's aggressive crew, the second strongest team, by an 8-0 score. The visitors after their decisive win at home on Tuesday, came over to again put it over Durham, bringing a good crowd of rovers, but it wasn't their night. Durham was right back in form, the addition of "Yank" McEachnie in goal and Howard McDonald on defence, strengthened the team's defensive play, and Hanover was unable even to pierce it. It was the first shut-out in local box lacrosse and Durham had to be "there" to accomplish it, before the biggest crowd of the season.

It was about the roughest set-to of the season as well, with both teams indulging in the swiftest. Several scraps broke out and this was expected after the rough passage Durham received in Hanover three days previous. The referees, Devlin of Hanover and Bert McDonald, Durham, penalized players for major infractions only: had they ruled them for every offence, at times there might have been no game in progress. With only one minute left to play in the third period, Hanover team suddenly left the playing field, and refused to continue. They had had enough, saw no hope of victory and the game was over.

Durham scored four in first and four more in second frame. Alton, Hanover goalie, made some wonderful stops throughout, particularly in third period, which he held scoreless against the Durham bombardment. The short, snappy passing game of the Durham home was effective in baffling the visitors on many occasions. Hanover also displayed some nice team play, but could not overcome the rugged defence of McDonald, Graham or Kress, with McEachnie right on the job in the nets.

Durham has still two league games with Walkerton, then will again meet Hanover in the play-offs, when for the good of the game and the players themselves, strict outside referees should be in charge. Hanover: goal—Alton; defence, Muter and H. Boettger; rover, S. Wendorf; home, Lamont and Wendorf; subs, Becker, Wendorf, Widner and Dunkart. Durham: Goal—McEachnie; defence, Graham and H. McDonald; rover, Denver; centre, Murdoch; home, E. McDonald and Becker; subs, Kress, McClyment, McIlraith, Snider.

Remembrance Day Observed in Knox Church

"To-night we are thinking of sacrifices; we challenge ourselves to turn our eyes from the past and look into the future. A new world is being born out of the agony of the past, a new era is being ushered in—such a world calls for the highest adventure."

Such were some of the closing thoughts that Rev. Walter C. Almack brought before his large audience in Knox Church, on the occasion of the annual Veterans' service on Armistice Day—to be henceforth known as "Remembrance Day." Mr. Almack claimed that fighting for a principle is a commendable thing. How easy it is to be a pacifist! The Western world was eager to acclaim President Hoover's proposed moratorium offer, but war-seething dissatisfied Europe did not see it in the same light. There are too many old sores to be avenged; Hungary does not even observe Armistice Day. The Versailles Treaty of 1918 became only a pie-slicing affair where each nation looked after their own gains. To gain the universal Brotherhood of Man, we should cultivate the arts of peace, rather than those of war.

It was a well thought out address and fitting to the occasion. The clergy of the town were all present and Rev. W. H. Smith conducted the service. Rev. Mr. Hayes reading the scripture passage and Rev. B. D. Armstrong leading in prayer. The choir of Knox Church rendered as an anthem a commemorative hymn from the new United Church hymnal, "O Valiant Hearts." Later at the monument, the clergy again conducted a short service, when wreaths were placed on the sacred plot by friends and organizations including the Veterans, I.O.D.E., Red Cross. The "Last Post" was sounded by G. R. Padfield and C. H. Darling read the roll of honor from monument, of the men who had given their all. Under Lieut. Mack Saunders, headed by the band, marched to the A.Y.P.A. rooms where the veterans enjoyed a few hours camaraderie at a well-prepared supper, catered by the Lady Grey Rebekah Lodge.

Evangelistic Meetings in Baptist Church

Gospel meetings are being held in the Baptist Church, under the leadership of Rev. Alexander Torrie and Mr. L. H. Leonard, singing evangelists. Mr. Torrie presents the old-time religion in a vivid and forceful way. He holds the rapt attention of both old and young from first to last. His lantern slides are beautifully colored and clear and enhance his gospel message. Mr. Leonard's singing is an inspiration. There is no ostentation about him, he is just a modern, energetic, gospel singer of pleasing personality. Tuesday evening, Mr. Torrie's theme was Mount Moriah and Mount Calvary and emphasized the voluntariness of the sacrifice of Christ for the sin of the world. Mr. Torrie announced that he had a special message for the High and Public School students on Friday night and on Sunday his topics will be: 11 a. m., "What the Christians of Durham are," and 2.30 p. m. Sunday, "Choosing a Wife," 7 p. m., "What a Woman Did." Everyone is cordially welcome to all these services.

Hampden United Church Holds Anniversary

Rev. Mr. Almack and Mrs. W. D. Staples Anniversary Speakers. — Splendid Fowl Feast Tuesday Evening.

On Sunday and Monday last, the members and adherents of that pretty little rural church, Hampden, were marking the passing of time in their cycle of years of service to the community by an Anniversary occasion. The weather for November, was an unusually good behavior and was an important factor in making the occasion a success. This charge is faithfully supplied each Sunday afternoon by Rev. W. H. Smith of Durham, but on this occasion the pulpit was manned by Rev. Walter C. Almack of Queen Street church in afternoon and by Mrs. (Dr.) W. D. Staples of Hanover in evening. Both addresses were heard with much acceptance. Tuesday evening, one of Hampden's well-known suppers and musical and literary programs were heard. Members of Knox United Choir, Durham, were present, as well as Mrs. R. M. Sparling, reader and entertainer.

Hampden ladies provided another of their popular fowl suppers, all for the modest sum of 35c and the laden table would have done credit to Belshazzar's feast. Service in attending to the numerous wants of the inner man was splendid and the coffee was really hot—which is more than can be said of some suppers.

Rev. W. H. Smith presided over the program and the chairman's address Continued on Page 4

Musical and Literary Program of a High Order

Elgar Male Quartette, Waterloo, sustain their Excellent Reputation

Many thought it was a mistake to bring the Elgar Male Quartette of Waterloo back to Durham, after two previous appearances within a year. But they came, and any vision of a mistake vanished into thin air when the program was over. In sacred or secular, their numbers were equally pleasing and what is more, they have taken of the finer things of life, in what should emanate from a pulpit. Knox United Church auditorium where the concert was held, was three quarters full and we have yet to hear one adverse word about the artists and assisting artists. The latter were Ruth Bechtel Whitting, reader and Anna Hymmen, organist and accompanist. Miss Hymmen's art in her accompanying was freely commented upon and at close she gave an organ number, Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" which left the audience longing for more. Mrs. Whitting is a reader of much charm and her selections took of the unusual. The majority of her numbers savored of war and its tributary effects on the people who braved all, as well as those who never came back. Approaching Armistice Day, it allowed room for thought. Her hitting rendition of "Robert of Lincoln" was most bird-like and the audience lived in the realm of feathered songsters for a time.

The personnel of quartet as announced in last week's Review, in quiet, solo or four part numbers, was without exception, strong in all sections. Durham audience is no exception in preferring old favorites, such as "Nearer my God to Thee", "Drink to me only with thine eyes", "Rock of Ages", "John Peel", "Far Away in the South", etc. A negro spirituelle "Op- en up the Gates of Glory" in words and rhythm, depicted the characteristics of the colored race. Rev. W. H. Smith, as chairman, found his duties light and in an intermission period, dwelt a short time on the French word "Encore" and what it conveys in our language. Mr. Mistele also spoke a few words, expressing his pleasure in being among former friends. At the close, a few of the Ladies' Aid members, under whose auspices it was held, served refreshments in the basement to the artists previous to their departure. Proceeds were $74.00.

War Veterans Worship at Presbyterian Church

Over fifty of the veterans of the Great War met at the armories on Sunday morning, and preceded by the newly-organized Durham Band, paraded to the Presbyterian Church, where the pastor, Rev. B. D. Armstrong, conducted divine service. His text was from Rev. 7: 14: "These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb." He urged the need of "fighting the good fight" in the battle of life and reminded his auditors of the glorious promise awaiting those who have "washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb." A church filled to capacity heard the earnest message presented. Special music was provided for the occasion. Miss Elizabeth Harding rendered the solo "An Evening Prayer"; the choir an anthem "Oh how amiable are Thy tabernacles," with solo part taken by Mrs. T. M. McFadden; and the male quartet, Messrs. J. H. Harding, A. G. McComb, E. S. McArthur and T. M. McFadden a quartette "Nailed to the Cross."

KING GEORGE A MODEST MAN
So modest is our popular sovereign that he prefers to have enlarged pictures of his father, the late King Edward VII, to that of his own, hanging in the schoolrooms and other public buildings of Durham. Legation sought a fair sized enlargement of King George to adorn the walls of their banquetting hall Wednesday evening, he could scarcely believe it possible that such could not be obtained on short notice. The schools had engravures of King Edward, but the man the Legion wanted to honor, was just to be had for the asking. But just the same he lives in the hearts of his peoples on this side of the water and when other thrones are crumbling away, King George sits as safely on his as the day he accepted the challenge to be King of the British Empire. Long may he reign.

MRS GEORGE LEIBOLDT
Early Tuesday morning, Nov. 10th, the spirit of Mrs. George Leiboldt, passed to a fairer realm, at her home at Calderwood, con 5, Normanby at the age of 45 years, 3 mos. For the past nine weeks she has been a sufferer from Bright's Disease, the past week of which has been bedfast. The late Mrs. Leiboldt was formerly Emma Schenk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schenk of Aytou and is the first break in a family of eleven children. With her husband also, there will deeply mourn her demise, eight children, the eldest around 20 years of age. Her sisters and brothers are: Mrs. Schans and Mrs. Gebrach, Waterloo; Mrs. Geo. Widmer, Aytou; Mrs. Alister Damm, Owen Sound; Norman, Gravel Road, south of Varney; Ted, Normanby; Dave, Aytou; Ezra, Durham; Aaron, Kitchener; Sadore, Normanby.

The funeral is being held to-day, Thursday, from deceased's home to the Lutheran church, Aytou, thence to Calderwood cemetery for interment.
