LIBERAL BONUS PAID ON PURCHASE OF RAMS Five to ten dollars per animal offered by Government Authorities

Ontario farmers now have an excellent opportunity of replacing grade rams with good purebreds at very little cost.

This bonus, which varies with the price of the ram, should mean a big thing to Ontario farmers, according to officials of the Canadian Wool Growers who point out that with this aid, amounting to 30 to 60 per cent of the purchase price there is no longer any excuse for keeping a grade ram...

THE FOWL SUPPER SEASON

(London Advertiser)

Antidotes for depression and the 'hard times complex' are greatly needed these times. And it is doubtful if any better tonic for the blues could possibly be found than the annual fowl suppers which are sweeping over Western Ontario just as though nothing had ever happened to the stock market.

It may be there are some happy mortals who have never yet been privileged to attend a genuine fowl supper in the country. For their benefit it should be explained that such events rank among the noblest institutions which civilized man has established up to the present.

This season, of course, times are a bit hard and so all that the visitors may expect to find on the table at such events is delicious roast chicken with dressing, or perchance roast duck with apple sauce, or a grand young goose broiled to a turn and served with all the trimmings of hot mashed potatoes, brown gravy and three or four different vegetables.

It is topped off by a liberal helping of home-made pie, which appears in the traditional 57 varieties, including pumpkin with whipped cream, lemon pie with frosting, and the noblest of apple pies. How it is managed for the price let the Ladies' Aid explain. For wherever you find a fowl supper, you find somewhere in the background the Ladies Aid or some kindred feminine organization. Man does but little here below without the ladies' aid.

Possibly it arises from the immense turnover. For everybody within striking distance goes to the fowl supper. It is a sort of community institution which has an important part in breaking down sectional and denominational barriers.

Even in these days of doubtful values, one may feel perfectly safe in investing in one of these fowl suppers. He need have no fear that he will not receive his money's worth and compound interest in the form of renewed faith in the inherent geniality and kindness of most of the human family.
