

"It's lovely honey— how much do you want?"

All her neighbors wonder how Ed. Baker's wife gets such good prices for her honey. But Mrs. Baker's secret is simple. She sells by Long Distance telephone.

"It's lovely honey this summer," she telephones to the hotel in town. "Yes — I'll deliver by the end of the week."

Long Distance is quick, easy to use — and profitable.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

This important body meets in Ottawa on 21st July, and important decisions are bound to result. Delegates are coming from the various units of the Empire, ample notice having been given. Canada will be represented of course, and Britain is sending her best. Ireland, New Zealand, Australia, South Africa, will all be represented and all parts of the far-flung Empire will hope that the gathering will meet harmoniously and continue so while the important discussions and resolutions take place.

It is the greatest party of Empire statesmen ever assembled at Ottawa.

BUSINESS AND POLITICS DO NOT MIX

(Chesley Enterprise) A Co-operative Packing Co., the first in Canada, was organized in opposition to the big plant in Toronto, and, after carrying on a year, shut down for two months. At the annual meeting of the shareholders, Hon C. E. Drury was severely censured by Miss Macphail, M. P., who headed the list of new directors. If Miss Macphail will take the advice of the editor of this G.R., she will keep out of business for it will cause her more worry than her Parliamentary duties. New business ventures are rarely ever successful during the days of financial depression.

WASPE VS. CARPENTERS ON HIGH SCHOOL ROOF (Walkerton Telescope)

The carpenters, Chas Eckenwiler and Jim Harkley, engaged in shingling the high school, had an experience Friday last, which they do not care to repeat. While engaged in tearing off the old shingles, they ran foul a wasp's nest and soon the angry insects were upon them by the score. Jim did an Irish jig atop the ridge-pole while Charlie clung to the roof as best he could and swatted at the attackers. They soon managed to get out of range, but not before the fiery insects had connected for quite a number of safe hits on face, arms and legs. The first engagement was all in favor of the wasps but later the carpenters, armed with a patent bug-killer routed the enemy and the hammers are once again tapping merrily. To fight angry wasps on a steep roof is a ticklish undertaking and these men do not care to repeat the stunt.

JUMPS FROM WINDOW IN SLEEP WITH NO ILL EFFECTS

To rise from his bed in the middle of the night, walk to the bedroom window, raise it up, kick out the fly screen and leap to the ground about 16 feet below, and doing all this, without the slightest harm, is the feat apparently accomplished by Lawrence Ellis, 15 year old son of Mr and Mrs W J Ellis of the Central Hotel, Paisley, one night recently. Lawrence had been confined to bed with an attack of the flu for two or three days at that time. Whether this accounts for his dream-time wandering or not, it cannot be said, but the foregoing account of the adventure is related as a fact. The pyjama-clad sleeper was awakened when his feet hit the ground and he quietly went back to his room, feeling no ill effects of the experience.—Paisley Advocate.

WELBECK

All roads led to Dornoch last Thursday evening, when the Presbyterians put on their annual garden party. The weather though threatening, behaved admirably, and a very large crowd gathered to enjoy the splendid supper provided by the ladies and the excellent choir of Durham. Expressions of pleasure were heard on all sides and everyone went home feeling that the evening had been a very enjoyable one.

Mrs James Walsh was suddenly stricken with illness on Sunday, just as she was leaving St. Paul's Church, Dornoch. We are glad to report her condition much improved at time of writing.

Mr and Mrs John Mills, Durham, were visitors at Fred Heit's Sunday. We congratulate Mr and Mrs Howard Lawrence, Hutton Hill, on the birth of a little son.

Mr and Mrs Lorne Mountain (nee Olga Glennie) of Hutton Hill, who were married two weeks ago, were guests of Mr and Mrs Wm. Sharp on Sunday. We extend our heartfelt congratulations to this young couple. Miss Marie Walsh spent the week end with friends at Leamington.

We sympathize with Mrs Hamilton (nee Vera Sullivan) of Durham, whose little daughter lies critically ill in Durham hospital.

Miss Muriel Heit, Toronto, is spending a couple of weeks at the parental home.

Miss Esther Riddell is in Rochester visiting her aunts, Misses Margaret and Esther Riddell.

The Y. P. S. met in the church last Thursday with the Pres. presiding over the business and devotional part. Mrs Heeney had charge of the program which consisted of a song sung by Orville, Calvin, Earl and Jean Oppertbauer, solo by Miss L. Fisher, recitation by Vera McCaslin; an address by Mrs Heeney on "The League of Nations", telling its meaning and the work it is doing. At the close of meeting, Miss Grace McCaslin put on two contests.

THE OLD-HOME PAPER

(By Edgar A. Guest)

It's like a smiling, friendly face It's like a voice you long have known;

You see it in some distant place And rush to claim it for your own. The paper from your old home town, Has bridged the long and dreary miles,

And with you can settle down. Among familiar tears and smiles. It speaks from every friend you know It tells of scenes you yearn to see: It brings back joys of long ago — You fancy you're at home once more.

And golden seem the letters black, And as you run its columns o'er Your yesteryears come trooping back.

It's speech is one you understand, It tells of griefs that you can share It brings you, in that foreign land, Glad messages to heart's care.

There among scenes and faces strange The old home-paper seems to me A faithful friend that doesn't change

A friend that you are glad to see. I know not just what Heaven is like, Nor just what joys beyond life's tide Await for men when death shall strike

And I shall reach the other side. But this I know, when I am gone To dwell in realms divinely fair; My soul will yearn to look upon The old home paper over there.

OUR TRIP TO OTTAWA

By Donald McIvride, one of the Farmers' Delegation

Last Friday morning saw up before the roosters crowed to attend to the farmer's perpetual nuisance—chores—before leaving at 7.30 a.m., for Ottawa, as delegates to the much-talked of Farmers' Delegation.

In company with James Petty, Norman McIvride and three delegates from the progressive district of Alfeld, namely Mr and Mrs W. Matthews, and Mr Gerbrach, we left Mt. Mount Forest about 8.30. Travelling in Mr Matthews' fine Oldsmobile at an average of 45 miles an hour, we had a most delightful trip, going by way of Toronto, Kingston, Prescott, and thence to Ottawa.

As a delegation of farmers, we naturally paid close attention to the crops to be seen in the fields neighboring the highways. Bountiful crops of hay were to be seen, a great deal still standing, and contrary to our Normanby methods, what was cut was mostly coiled, much of it very brown-looking and some evidently spoiled, judging by the amount of green second crop. Fine fields of wheat, oats, barley and occasionally peas, were to be seen almost all the way, not to mention the tremendous number of gas stations, refreshment booths and tourist camps.

Approaching Ottawa at about nine o'clock Friday evening, we decided to spend the night at one of these camps, where most of us were lulled to sleep by the familiar croaking of frogs, but through the night were rudely awakened by revellers who had evidently been celebrating—but they were not delegates.

We entered Ottawa about 8.30 Saturday morning and would have liked more time to explore the beautiful city, but decided we had better join the other delegates. Arriving at the Coliseum, which was the only place large enough to accommodate the thousands who had gathered, we thought it an imposing sight to see that vast place filled with men and women who had deemed their cause of importance worthy of leaving their work at such a busy time.

The meeting was in progress when we arrived, W. C. Good acting as chairman. A committee consisting of five members of parliament—two Conservative and three Liberal—and two or three U.F.O. officials were appointed to interview Premier Bennett concerning meeting the delegation. During their absence speeches were made by several people, including Miss Macphail, who received a tremendous ovation both before and after her speech.

In about an hour's time the committee returned, reporting that Premier Bennett refused to come to meet the farmers, offering as his excuse, an appointment with Lord Rothmere. The committee begged that he come if only for 5 minutes, but he refused and when they then asked that the Minister of Agriculture come, he again refused, stating his cabinet ministers' time was occupied and abruptly announced the interview was at an end. At the conclusion of this report, the audience appeared stunned for a moment, and then they broke forth in emphatic denunciation at this action of the Premier's. After order had been restored and sane action advised, a Conservative member, Maloney, was called on to speak. He began by saying that Mr Bennett's time was greatly occupied, but the farmers knew that the government had always been favorable to the farmers' movement. This speech was most untimely and the speaker was forced to cease speaking for some time, due to the severe heckling of the crowd. Then he irritably remarked that he thought they had gathered for political purposes. This brought forth a storm of indignant denial, J. J. Morrison pointing out that all political parties had been invited to and were taking part in this delegation.

At the afternoon session a Conservative member suggested that the delegates draw up their demands in the form of a resolution and appoint another delegation and he'd take it upon his shoulders to guarantee that they would get a hearing before the Min. of Agriculture. The crowd did not approve of this but the motion of a delegate, that the committee's report be accepted without any further interceding, was met with hearty approval. The resolutions were then left in the hands of the committee, to be forwarded to the government.

A resolution suggesting an advisory agricultural committee, to attend the Imperial Conference, was under discussion when we left.

Owing to limited time, we were unable to accept Miss Macphail's invitation to tour the city in the buses she had so kindly chartered for the delegates of South Grey.

The cool reception, or rather we should say the bare-faced insult the Premier handed to the farmers in refusing to attend the Conference or allow any of his cabinet to appear, has been a rude blow to many of the snub there. But we believe behind the snub there is a silver lining, and that will awaken the farmers up to see what tools party politicians are making of them.

Dornoch Garden Party Draws a Large Crowd

The garden parties to date have been fairly fortunate in hitting dry evenings and Dornoch was lucky in this regard for their annual function. At least it remained dry long enough for the audience to gather, partake of the splendid supper served by the ladies of the congregation and hear the program which followed. Just before the last chorus by Durham Presbyterian choir, who provided the program, the rain drops which had threatened for some time, came down with increasing reality and soon a respectable rainfall was on. But it was time the gathering was home, so no harm was done.

Rev J. R. Greig, pastor of Dornoch Presbyterian Church, was chairman of the night, but his duties were light. Durham choir took the program in charge and ran their numbers through without fuss or comment. But that is not saying they were appreciated for the encores were numerous. The opening number was a patriotic chorus by the choir, "O Canada" and "Land of Hope and Glory", the latter song being adopted as a solo by Miss Elizabeth Harding, the choir joining in the refrain. The other numbers were a recitation by Miss Mabel Sharp; a short treatise by J. H. Harding; on "The Measure of a Man" by Edgar West; Volin solo, "Traumers", by Ray Flinn; Male quartette, "I've found a Friend"; Dutch dance in costume, by the Harding sisters; duet, "Moonlight and Roses", by Mrs T. M. McFadden and Mr Harding, the former taking the obligato. Mrs Lauder in costume, gave the popular Scotch fishwife song, "Caller Herrin", and while the fish may not have been "fresh frae the Forth" they were with a doubt fresh as she tossed them into the audience. Mr Stewart Jackson, a visitor along with the choir, rendered several taking numbers: Mrs McFadden and Miss Elizabeth Harding had solos. We are quite safe in stating the honors of the night went to Mr Stewart MacArthur and his Harry Lauder songs. Stewart has become quite an impersonator of Sir Harry and in his highland costume of the Stewart plaid, looks and acts the part. Two of his best numbers were "It's just like being at 'Home' and 'O'er the Hill to Ardentinny." Mrs Lauder and Mr. Harding also had the audience going in their comic duet "Reuben and Rachael" and "When you wore a tulip." Mrs Harding was a busy accompanist.

It was a well-rounded out program and had the audience in good fettle. We understand $87 was made on a 25c admission, which is a lot of silver to take in at a garden party with present prices prevailing.

HAMPDEN

The 12th passed over quietly in this part. The looked-for downpour held off till the 13th and one would surmise that the weather man had been mixed in his dates by the amount of moisture which fell on Wednesday afternoon. It has somewhat delayed the hay from being taken in in good condition.

The Women's Institute, of Allan Park, held their monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of the Pres., Mrs John Sharp, with a fair attendance of members, owing to the condition of the heavy rain, which fell in torrents almost up to time of meeting. Visitors turned out in abundance, either arrived before the storm, or waited till it was over. Nevertheless all had a splendid afternoon. A good program had been prepared and all were delighted with the afternoon's outing. Tea and a delicious lunch was served at closing by hostess and daughters.

Mrs George Sharp, Durham; Mrs. John Leith, Durham and Mrs Stewart Jackson and daughter of Manitoba, were recent guests at the home of their sister, Mrs J. Sharp.

Miss Lydia Wagner, Toronto, is at present on her vacation among her friends in this part.

Mrs Wm Fulton was a welcome visitor among her many friends in this locality from Mulock, early in the week.

Mrs J. Mather, Priceville visited with her sister, Mrs Sharp Sr on Friday, together with Mrs Ladlaw of Toronto, Mrs Lynn and daughter Irene, of Hanover.

Mr and Mrs Garfield Metzger returned to Toronto Friday, returning early in the week after spending a few days with friends.

The tourist season is with us, campers having arrived and pitched their tents along the banks of the Saugueen. The bathing beach is very popular and the diving plank of a year ago is again replaced.

Mr and Mrs E O Hickling and family, spent a day or so with friends at Tara recently.

Miss Mabel Sharp, Durham, spent a day recently with her grandmother. We are glad to report that those who are ill are much improved, viz. Mr A Fulton and Mrs Sharp Sr, both having been under the Dr's care.

Walkerton's Reservoir getting A House-Cleaning Commencing 11 o'clock Monday night last says the Walkerton Times, the letting out of the water from the Town Reservoir got under way and it is now being scrubbed and cleaned for the first time in nearly eight years. As the big basin became gradually empty, it developed that the place was something of a trout preserve, so many speckled beauties coming to the surface, Walkerton Council are taking steps to ensure it being less of a fish pond in future. During the cleansing its water supply out of the standpipe, which had been previously cleaned and refilled.

A Well Marked Turtle Lately there emerged from the murky waters of the Teeswater river, to be captured, a mud turtle some 12 x 14 inches of top surface of shell. This denizen of the fresh water was first caught in Teeswater in 1890 and has the name Matthew Scott cut into the shell, also W. Box 69. Again in 1900 it came to our shores and was carved up with W. P. 1900 and the initials E. P. It had been placed back in the water in 1902 again marked G. R. and T. McP. J. H., H. E. and M. E. Fifty two years have elapsed since its first appearance in Teeswater waters and has been in the hands of three different sets of captors. When will this Teeswater turtle show up again and how big will it be? How old is the turtle now? The last to carve up the turtle were Gordon Russell and Thomson McPherson.—Teeswater News.
