

Government Issues 'Sound' Money: Leaders Discuss British Preference

Miss Macphall's Weekly Letter

The House of Commons showed keen interest in the result of the American election. The large vote polled is encouraging and whether the Democratic policy will be substantially different from the Republican policy or not, it is surely healthful that the party which has been in power with only two breaks since the Civil War, is dislodged. Such supremacy as the Republicans of the United States have had, in a corrupt and a powerful political machine. One wonders will Roosevelt revive the idea of reciprocity? And if free trade between Canada and the United States results, what commodities will it affect? Will our imperial trade agreements affect our action in relation to United States? What will President Roosevelt's attitude toward the gold standard, international

It sound money because it was not issued through the banks; I call it sound because it is based on national wealth. We have begun to draw on our national credit. In this instance for the relief of the banks only, it is true, but it is a beginning. It was done like this: The Government took treasury notes to the banks for discount in the ledger, and for this line of credit given by the bank the Government paid 4 per cent. Then the bank took the treasury notes which the Government had given, back to the Government (the Treasury Board) and got Dominion notes (bills) in large denominations, for which they paid the Government 3 per cent. Running around through the bank with the printing press money makes it 'sound.' The Government can still say they did not print money and put it into circulation. The whole transaction improves the bank's position by increasing their cash reserves and aids the Government to the extent of $35 million at 1 per cent. It will not affect price levels, the amount is too small and the circulation too restricted.

A matter not strictly county business but nevertheless of interest to every municipality in the county was brought up at Friday afternoon's session of the County Council when Reeve R. J. White of St Vincent, sought an expression of the Council regarding the advisability of forming a County Municipal Association. The Council by a show of hands, revealed itself as opposed to this move by a large majority. Various reasons were expressed for this opposition. Reeve W. W. Shier, Keppel, expressed the opinion that 'we are organized half to death now.' Reeve M. J. Dillon, Thornbury, thought the Association would soon be telling us how to run the Council and everything else. Reeve Chas. Holm maintained that if municipal councils came together in an organization of this kind, those with the lower salaries would soon be arbitrating for wages as high as the maximum.

HEALTH

It's a dreary old world and a weary old world. When toothache you happen to get. Beyond any question, if you've indigestion. O'er trifles you're certain to fret. And who can be happy, however so rich. If his feet are afflicted with lock-room itch. You don't go to dinners or dances or shows. If neuritis gets into your frame. A boil on the neck, all life's pleasure can wreck. And a touch of the grip does the same. To get the full joy from a rose which you smell. There isn't a doubt that you've got it to well. It doesn't take much of an ache to destroy. The pleasure a fortune can bring. If you've no appetite and you can't sleep at night. You are deaf to the birds that sing. For the joys of the world are not glory or wealth. If you want to be happy, take care of your health. —Edgar A. Guest

IN MEMORIAM In memory of our dear husband and father, Richard Barber, who passed away four years ago. In our hearts your memory lingers Always tender, fond and true, There is not a day that father, That we do not think of you. So we shed a tear that is silent, And breathe a sigh of regret: For you were so dear and we will remember, Though all the world may forget. —Loving wife and family

IN MEMORIAM In loving memory of GEORGE LONG, who entered into rest, Nov. 14, 1931. Memories always wonder, When twilight shadows fall, Back to days of happiness, Days beyond recall. Those who have a father, Cherish him with care; For you never know his value, Till you see his vacant chair. Sadly missed by wife and family.

"Give my love to Rover, Gran'pa"

Young Herb's happy summers on Grandpa's farm are renewed each week throughout the winter; an inexpensive luxury that all the family shares in. Herb's Dad thought of it; he knew how lonely the old folks felt and how young Herb's thoughts kept straying farmwards. So now, on Friday evenings a 30 cent Long Distance call makes everybody happy. Long Distance is always quick, clear and dependable. It is easy to use... and the cost is trifling.
