

Importance Of Spraying

Probably the most important factor in the average farmer's success is the proper use of insecticides. The average farmer who does not spray his crops is at a disadvantage. Insecticides are now being used in a more scientific way than ever before. The use of insecticides is now being taught in the schools and in the extension work of the agricultural departments. Holland Plans Farm Dictator

Vanishing Foreign Trade Brings Drastic Proposal To Curtail Production

The Hague.—A bill introduced in the Second Chamber of the States General proposes to give the Dutch Government dictatorial powers to reorganize the affairs of the farmers and fruit and flower growers of the country. The agricultural crisis in Holland has arisen chiefly as a result of the recently erected barriers against exports.

Land owners and their tenants, as well as the merchants and the government, are realizing that the export markets, chiefly in England and Germany, lost by rising tariff walls and onerous regulations, will not be recovered soon, and that consequently the production of vegetables and dairy commodities must be curtailed.

Cheese Output Curtailed.

In the cheese trade a similar regulation has been made. Beginning in April and continuing for at least three months all wholesale Dutch cheese makers must reduce their output by 80 per cent. The consequent loss of profit being wholly or partially met by state compensation. The market-garden trades will receive a subsidy from the government only on condition that they considerably reduce the amount of the planting.

Three-Fold Course Proposed.

To prevent a complete and collective collapse of the rural retail trade the government desires to proceed along a three-fold way; first, by subsidizing the trade from a not yet established central crisis fund; secondly, by restriction of cultivation, and, thirdly, by the fixing of standard prices. But now comes the most important point. The proposed new law gives to the government the authority in case of necessity to use force in putting into execution the proposed measures. There is to be no persuasion and no argument. The instruction of the authorized official is to be a command to which obedience must be as explicit as that of the soldier to the command of his officer.

You Can't Fool a BLOOD TEST

On November 14, 1932, a pale, thin girl walked into a physician's office and had her blood tested. The reason for her condition was at once evident. The haemoglobin content of her blood was only 69 per cent. Red corpuscle count only 4,640,000. She just had to be pale. And her weight was but 91½ pounds.

The physician, who knew the formula of the remedy, told her to take two of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills after each meal and to come back in a month for another test. She followed instructions and took no other medicine. On December 14 her blood showed 88 per cent, haemoglobin and 5,024,000 red corpuscles. Her weight was 100½ pounds, a gain of nine pounds in thirty days! She had gained color and attractiveness. The doctor noticed for the first time that she was positively pretty.

Blood tests scientifically prove the real value of a blood-building remedy. If you are anaemic, pale and underweight; if you lack ambition and energy, get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from your druggist and begin the treatment today. Revitalize your blood stream and build up new resources of strength and vigor. You are taking no chances. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are clinically tested.

Unremarkable Remarks
Little men, like minnows, keep close to the shore. He who can bottle up a little sunshine for a rainy day is a corker. While our joys may not exceed our expectations, our expenses also do. Political birds know how to feather their nests the best. A man with a high aim in life seldom carries a gun. Most times the prodigal son and not the fatted calf should be killed. You can't keep gasoline down by stepping on it. Be a self-starter and don't make a crank out of the boss. Drive your work instead of permitting it to drive. Look towards the light, and the shadows will all fall behind. An ounce of encouragement is worth a ton of scolding. It's hard to do a clean business in a dirty store. Every now and then you miss a man

EXCESS FAT MELTS

Under Treatment that Creates Energy

Some folks are naturally fat, but there's a lot of people who put on pounds of unhealthy fat because they haven't got enough energy to move about to keep it off.

It's not laziness in most cases—but a condition brought about by sluggishness of the internal organs—the liver, bowels and kidneys. As a result, poisons and harmful acids that kill vigor, ambition, and energy get into the blood—the whole general tone of the body is lowered and fat accumulates.

Thousands of overstout men and women find in Kruschen Salts a perfectly safe, sure, and beneficial means of reducing.

The "little daily dose" of Kruschen Salts keeps the organs functioning properly every day, and fills you with such a feeling of radiant vitality and vigor that before you know it you are fairly "jumping out of your skin" with energy, instead of moping around—and reduction follows as a matter of course—Nature attends to that.

Bluebells

So, bluebells, you are here at last! Spring's fight with winter overpast. Today the great trees, sheltering, bend
Over the magic beauty that you lend To woods in May.

Before you come, the field and copse are yellow
With daffodils, Dog Mercury between. The April sunlight, waxing mellow, Lights on anemones' white sheen
And your green leaves.

Then faintly shimmers in the wood A trembling thought, until a flood Of blue goes surging through its ways.
Blue ground, blue stems of trees, blue haze,
Bluebells, because of you.

—May I. E. Dolphin, in "Stars and Chimneys." (London: Fowler Wright.)

Teaching the Blind to Read

It is noteworthy that the first efforts to enable the blind to read began in 1617, just 6 years after the King James version of the Bible was first published.

Various systems of raised letters were used. Progress was slow at first. In 1832 the Gospel of St. John was published in a system of raised Roman letters and by 1840 the Bible was completed in that system.

Braille, the system finally adopted and at present universally in use, was invented by a blind musician of France, named Louis Braille. This dotted system, which may be written as well as read by the blind, is now completely printed in universal Braille and is distributed by the Braille Society Incorporated of Los Angeles. It is comprised of 21 volumes, and although costing $8 a volume to produce, is distributed at the price of $1 per volume.

Cinderella Story May Be of Chinese Origin

Our indebtedness to China for many things that have been handed down through the ages is generally admitted. Now we have an American professor in the National University of Peking, who has spent the seven years there in advancing the theory that the original Cinderella was in all probability Chinese. He bases his theory on the fact that an ancient Chinese document dating from the ninth century, and but recently discovered, contains a complete version of the story so familiar to this generation. Some authority has said there are but seven basic themes for all stories ever written or to be written. It may be, indeed, that Cinderella and, in fact, all the six other original stories were of Chinese origin.

Ten centuries constitute a comparatively short period of time in the annals of the human race, or the realm of literature. Cinderella, remarks the Providence Journal in discussing this question, is probably one of the oldest of the basic stories, and it would be absurd to think it did not originate until the ninth century. The ancient manuscript just found in China was discovered under a stack of papers in the university library, but evidently it is but a redocumentation of a legend ineluctably old, which Chinese scribes of the ninth century gave it their attention. In any case the scholars of Peking university believe to it a belief that the Cinderella story originated in the Orient.
