

DISASTROUS BARN FIRE NEAR DUNDALK ON SUNDAY

Archie Russell a Heavy Loser.—Much Farm Stock also Burned

A disastrous barn fire occurred on Sunday afternoon in Proton Township, near Dundalk, when the fine large barn, belonging to Mr Archie Russell was totally destroyed together with contents. In addition to the farm implements and the usual stock of grain and hay, there was also destroyed some 30 head of cattle, that had not yet been put out to pasture, six horses and a number of pigs. The barn was a mass of flames which could be seen toward evening, though every effort was made to remove some of the live stock. It is thought the barn must have caught fire from a spark from the house, a short distance away. The loss is a heavy one for Mr. Russell and while he carried over $4000 insurance, it will not repay him by any means. The barn of Mr Geo Russell a short distance away, caught fire from sparks from the other fire and with much hard work it was saved.

DROMORE

The sympathy of community goes out at this time to Mr Joe McNulty, on the death of his father Friday last in Proton.

THE ROLL CALL

MRS CLARENCE ROSS

It is our sad duty to chronicle the death of Mrs Clarence Ross in Durham hospital early Sunday afternoon, May 14th. Some ten weeks ago she was afflicted with appendicitis, was taken to above hospital where she rallied for a time and bright hopes for her recovery were anticipated. But due to relapse, her vitality gave way and she gradually became weaker until she passed to the Great Beyond.

Deceased was possessed of a bright and cheerful disposition, which she sustained throughout her illness and which ever kept the glimmer of hope burning bright in the hearts of the loved ones. In the home, those who were nearest will keenly feel the loss of wife and mother and to a very large circle of friends and neighbors, to whom she had endeared herself, the loss will indeed be a community one.

Laura was the second eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs David Eccles of Egremont Tp., born Nov. 13, 1892. Thirteen years ago she was married to Clarence Ross and resided on lot 12 on 14, of the same township until her demise. To them was born one daughter, Marjorie Edith. Surviving are husband and daughter, her parents, Mr and Mrs David Eccles, three brothers, Fred, Frank and Alex near Holstein; two sisters, Maud, Reid, of Webb, Sask. and Jean, Mrs Elmer Ross, Elora.

The funeral was held Tuesday from her late residence at Yeovil to Reid's cemetery, her pastor, Rev. R. Honeyman, of Amos Presbyterian Church, Dromore, conducting the services at house and grave, and spoke comforting words to husband and relatives.

Floral bearers were Messrs R. Keith, Fleming Reid, Charles McGillivray, Arch McInnis, Thos Brown, Alex. Nicholson: Flower bearers, Messrs Will, Cecil, Arthur and Bert Eccles.

Floral tributes came from the McInnis family, Red Cross hospital, Durham: Mr and Mrs Frank Eccles, Mr and Mrs Alex Ross and family, the Young People's Club, Yeovil: James Rae and family, Toronto: Wm. Smith and family, Toronto: Mr and Mrs David Eccles and family, husband and daughter.

Friends from a distance were Mr Wm Smith, Mrs Marley Boake and son Frederick, Mrs Jas Rae, Earl Ross, Mr and Mrs John Mitchell, all of Toronto; Miss Margaret Osborne, Georgetown; Mrs Herb McLean: W. W. Ramage, Bert Ausum, of Priceville; Miss Fettes, matron Red Cross Hospital; Miss Agnes Renwick, Mrs. Edgar Ritchie, Durham: Mr and Mrs Elmer Ross, Mr and Mrs Norman Drimmie, Elora and relatives from Conn and Mount Forest.

The sympathy of the community goes out at this time to husband and daughter in their sad bereavement.

YEOVIL

Seeding is well advanced in this locality and farmers are working long days to make up for the time lost by wet weather. Grass is green and flowers are blooming and soon all nature will be bright and beautiful.

Mr Wilcox, Meaford, was a recent guest with his daughter, Mrs John Alles.

Mrs Rogers and Mather attended the Presbyterial of the United Church held in Chalmers Church, Guelph, on May 9th and report a very large and successful gathering, in which there was evidence of a deeper searching after truth. The communion service held in company with the members of Presbytery, left a thrill as one of the deeper experiences of life.

The address given on Sunday evening by Dr Schofield, Guelph, was very much appreciated by a good congregation. It was in the interest of the W. M. S.

The heartfelt sympathy of this community goes out to Mr Clarence Ross and daughter Marjorie, due to the passing away of wife and mother in Durham hospital Sunday. The funeral will take place tomorrow, Tuesday afternoon to Reid's cemetery. An obituary will appear later.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr Clarence Ross wishes to thank his many friends and neighbors for their kindly acts and expressions of sympathy extended to him during his wife's illness and death.

IN MEMORIAM

ISAAC—In memory of the love and kindness of husband and father, Robert Henderson Isaac, who departed this life, May 17, 1928.

What is home without a father, What are all the joys we meet, When the loving smile no longer greets the coming of our feet? Your presence is ever near us, Your love remains with us yet, For you were the kind of father Whose loved ones would never forget

HOLSTEIN FOOTBALL CLUB HAVE REORGANIZED FOR 1933

Holstein Football Club have re-organized for the season and a delegate attended a meeting of the O. Sound District League, which comprises: Odfellows, O. Sound: Kemble, Anan, Chatsworth, Strathovan and Derby. Cape Croker and Holstein wished to be affiliated with the League, but were barred owing to distance. This claim is very poor sportsmanship on the part of Owen Sound, which were one of the chief objectors to Cape Croker and Holstein getting into the League. The above League is affiliated with the W.F.A. and Holstein wished to play in this district, as well as joining the W.F.A. individually and playing in the local Group which will be formed later as usual.

Holstein will again have a Junior team and a group comprising Priceville, Aytton, Mildmay and Holstein is anticipated.

Radio Commission Criticized in House of Commons

Miss Macphail's Weekly Letter

Government commissions and boards came in for a great deal of criticism last week. The Tariff Board has not yet begun its work, yet a bill was introduced raising the salary of its chairman, Judge George Sedgewick, from $12,000 to $15,000 a year. The Hon Ernest Lapointe led the attack against the bill, charging it was an unsound practice to select members of the judiciary for Civil Service appointments and pay them a higher salary than that enjoyed by members of the Supreme Court.

The Prime Minister defended the increase in salary on the ground that Judge Sedgewick, before his appointment to the Tariff Board, was receiving a salary of $10,000 with opportunity for promotion and a retiring allowance three-quarters of his salary. Mr Bennett stated it was not desired to penalize him financially accepting the position of chairman of the Tariff Board.

The Radio Commission was bitterly criticized in the House of Commons for a whole day. The occasion of the debate was a bill introduced by the Government widening the powers of the Commission. It proposed to give the Commission power to appoint its staffs, fix their salaries, buy stations without the consent of Parliament, but with the consent of the Government and to spend the money appropriated by Parliament and whatever accrues from its business.

Last year when the commission was set up to take over radio as a public enterprise, the House was practically unanimous in support of the idea. The Legislation went through without a vote. There seemed at that time a general understanding that the Commission would be impartial non-political in character but these hopes were dashed to the ground when the appointments were made.

The chairman, Mr Hector Charlesworth, was an outspoken Conservative editorial writer; one of the Commissioners, Mr Maher of Quebec, was a Conservative organizer in the Province of Quebec; the other commissioner, Mr Steele, was a technician to the Canadian public.

There is undoubtedly need of national programs in this large and very sparsely settled country. It is one way of unifying the Canadian people. Great Britain had made such a success of public ownership of radio we ought, I think, to persist in our endeavor and seek to eliminate the difficulties rather than allow ourselves to be turned against the idea. At the moment, however, Canadian people are very critical of commissions and boards of various sorts; they are too well paid in comparison with the earnings of the people, and have what amounts to supreme control which tends to make them contemptuous of the people who pay their salaries and whose interests they are appointed to serve.

An amusing incident occurred during the radio debate. Mr Lapointe was replying to the Prime Minister, when he was interrupted by a member or members, on the Government side. The chairman called "Order!" and Mr Lapointe said: "My Hon. friend from Renfrew, Mr Cotman seldom speaks but he shouts in interruptions." Mr Cotman arose and said with heat: "Mr Chairman, I ask the Hon. member to withdraw the statement as the Hon. member for North Renfrew did not happen to be saying anything at the time."

Some Hon. members shouted "Withdraw! Withdraw!"

Chairman: "I am sure the Hon. member for Quebec East will accept the word of the Hon. member for N. Renfrew."

The Mr Lapointe in his courteous and polished manner bowed to the speaker and said: "I will certainly withdraw; I am sorry my eyes and ears deceived me."

A bill of interest to all people who have money borrowed—and that I guess is most of us—was the one introduced by Mr Coote asking for an amendment to the Interest Act by which the maximum rate of interest would be set at 5%. In his closing address on it, Mr Coote said he would be willing to have the Bill go to committee and the maximum rate decided by the Committee. Both the bill and his suggestion were defeated on division of the House. Mr Coote said it seemed to him that the Finance Min., Mr Rhodes, took an attitude of sympathy with the people having to pay interest rates of any size with commodity prices at present levels but felt that nothing could be done about it. Or in other words his attitude would lead us to believe that there is just so much money in Canada, a fixed sum, and therefore the borrowers will have to do the best they can under the circumstances.

Mr Coote then went on to express as his own opinion that it is the duty of the Federal Gov't to see that there is sufficient money available at all times for the carrying on of industry and trade and commerce. Money, he said was of no use unless it circulated and if the Gov't takes the attitude that industry must be carried on with the money now in existence, it should take steps to see that the money now in Canada is circulated and at rates of interest which industry can afford to pay. If the Gov't put a tax on unspent balances the money in the country would soon be put to work.

In reply to the Finance Minister's statement that capital if taxed here would leave Canada, Mr Coote asked where it would go and went on to show that it would fare far less well in Great Britain or the United States than in Canada. When the Dominion Gov't cannot secure money at 5% it was then the duty of the Gov't to use some of its own money, Mr Coote said. The Dominion Gov't is the source of all real money; it is the legal tender in Canada; it is the Dominion Gov't's bonds that interest rates are fixed on. The rate of interest is the chief factor in fixing interest rates, and in the opinion of Mr. Coote, any Gov't that pays 5% for money is surrendering its natural right to the money trust.

Last week brought the opportunity of hearing and meeting Lady Layton, who with her husband, an economic expert has been paying a short visit to Ottawa. Dr Tory, the president of the League of Nations society had the national executive of the Society and the members of the local branch to tea to meet and hear her. Lady Layton is a member of the executive of the British League of Nations Union and she gave an interesting and informative talk on the work there. On the same day I had the opportunity of chatting with Rabbi Eisen-drath who comes to Ottawa to address the Men's University Club and from all reports he delighted his audience.

I have always wanted to see the Niagara Peninsula in blossom time, and this year I did, and a beautiful sight it was. On Saturday I motored down Lindy's Lane and over the plain below Queenston Heights. The peach blossoms were at their very best. Later we motored to Welland, and then along the shore to Hamilton, passing through the Whitby district. The season is earlier in the Niagara locality than about Hamilton, but it is all wonderfully beautiful and well worth going a long distance to see. House of Commons, Ottawa, 15th May, 1933
