A Voice That Thrills Millions—Canadian Artists Across the Line—Program Exchanges

Comes "The Voice of Experience"

Because more than two million people need that voice at every broadcast it is amazing to think that in less than eight months time such an audience could be created.

In every-day life the "Voice of Experience" is Dr. Saylor Taylor, a tall, thin man of education possessing a remarkable radio voice. He has 100,000 words a week, and reports show that for any particular program in respect to musical response, the "Voice of Experience" has carried away all previous records.

To find the construction of the thoughts and sayings transferred during each broadcast it is necessary to go back a few years, and explore the early days that were responsible for the making of this voice of wisdom. In his first days of manhood Dr. Taylor developed a strong desire to be an expert in many others. That's why he wanted to be a physician and surgeon; why he studied and worked and made good progress through half a university course.

Then something happened—something that in a few hours took all his bright hopes, and turned them into blighted desires, with the words of a specialist. "This accident makes it quite impossible that you will ever be a surgeon."

In an automobile accident, the bones of both hands had been crushed and seriously injured, but this did not deter his one ambition—to be of service to others—so continuing his university course and studies studies that dealt with the human side of life, with its thoughts and behaviours—he slowly rounded out the psychological construction of advice, which is being transmitted to his eager listeners.

No king's ransom could buy and put into any man's heart and voice, what is needed to make a vast army of people watch the time of day, leave their other tasks or interests, and in millions of homes turn the little dial that brings to life a voice of conviction and persuasive comfort, that is all contained and built into the "Voice of Experience".

Dr. Taylor is taking a much-needed rest, and has left the air to return this fall, when once more he will have command of one of the largest audiences on record.

Canadian Artists

Canada has its share of artists, in both radio and talking pictures on the other side of the border, let us look over the names of some of them—Norma Shearer, Mary Pickford, Ruby Keeler, Marjorie White, Walter Huston, Donald Munn, and that "Star of Stars," Marie Dressler, in radio—Canada is truly represented by the following outstanding performers: Donald Novis, Jimmy Wallington, Ariens Jackson, Guy Lombardo and his famous orchestra, Jeanne Laroche and a host of other luminaries equally as prominent, but that's the other side of the line—so we stop right here to say—Canada has just as fine talent right here in our midst, as that aired over our American cousins' stations.

Commission to Exchange Programs

As a result of several conferences between officials of the Canadian Radio Commission and the National Broadcasting Company, plans have been perfected for a regular exchange of programs on a weekly basis. The plan took effect August 5, when the first program was heard over the NBC WEAF network.

The final meeting at which plans for the program exchange were concluded was held in the NBC headquarters at New York City, the Canadian Radio Commission being represented by Thomas Maher, vice-chairman, and Arthur Dupont, Eastern program director. It is thought that the new series will mark the first time that regular network program exchange has been conducted between countries on a weekly basis, and now that the radio stations of both countries have been given notice, the exchange

We Hear That—

Arline Jackson, star singer of the NBC network, began her singing career at the tender age of three at a Toronto church entertainment.

Ralph Kleiberg, known to listeners as the "Dream Singer," is an ardent disciple of Isaac Walton. Ralph isn't superstitious either when angling, he says—"They either bite or they don't bite and nothing can be done about it."

Edwin Franko Goldman, distinguished conductor, has been decorated by King Victor Emmanuel of Italy.

This is the second occasion on which honor has been conferred upon this noted musician.

Lowell Thomas, the radio reporter, recently returned from a three-day leaving tour during which 15,000 people paid to hear him a sixth time.
