Mrs. Rogers Addresses Hanover Women's Institute

Mrs. W. H. Rogers, of Holstein, a former district president, addressed the Hanover Branch Women's Institute, last week, in Speer's Hall. Mrs. D. Knechtel, the first vice president, occupied the chair.

The Hanover Post has the following kindly reference to Mrs. Rogers' address:

"The guest speaker, Mrs. Rogers of Holstein, former district president, was called upon. Mrs. Rogers is well-known and highly esteemed by all the members, and a hearty reception was given her.

Mrs. Rogers said she had thought of many subjects to talk on, but she put them all aside and talked on the subject of "Health." The speaker also stated that we should have a woman on our school board as women see so much that should be done. A School and Home Club is also a great help to mothers and teachers."

Listowel is not Listowel—it's Listowel

The head of the party of engineers who are making a survey of the Elmira district for the Dept. of National Defense, is disgusted when anyone pronounces Listowel as "Listo-wel." Himself an out-and-out Irishman, he cannot bear to hear the name of a favorite Irish city, Listowel, pronounced otherwise than it is pronounced in Ireland and that is "Listo-wel" in Canada. The first single railway track in the world was between Listowel and Bunyan in County Limerick, Ireland, he stated. Faith, sure and it's "Listo-wel", begorry.

THE ROLL CALL

MISS CHRISTENA BOOTH

A death that has brought forth many expressions of regret, was that of Miss Christena Booth of Ayton, who passed away Monday morning at her home, death resulting from a paralytic stroke, which overtook her on Friday last. She attended Ayton Presbyterian Church, on the 22nd of October, but Wednesday night last, those in the home circle saw all was not well. On Friday the stroke which overtook the patient was of such a severe nature, that consciousness was not regained. Miss Margaret Leeson of Varney, has been in attendance for the past week and on Saturday last, a sister of Miss Booth arrived from Toronto. She was in her 82nd year.

Practically all of Miss Booth's life has been spent in Ayton and district. Some years ago with her brother James, they moved from their farm, into the former Wenger home in the village. Mr. Booth acquiring the Wenger business interests. Due to ill health much of the time in late years, it was necessary for deceased to live the quiet and retired life. Her friends were many and all speak highly of the many kindly qualities of deceased. Her brother James at Ayton and Dr. John Booth of New York, are chief mourners, also four sisters, Mrs. Bowie, Toronto; Mrs. Bowie, Brantford and two in the Western provinces.

The funeral was held from her late residence on Wednesday, interment taking place in Ayton cemetery.

YOUTH'S CHALLENGE TO PRESENT GENERATION

By Alex. Sim, Boy Premier of Ontario, in Canada's School Journal

"We are living in one of the most momentous and stirring ages since the dawn of history. I would not exchange this generation for any other, so thrilling and challenging are these days.

They are thrilling because we are witnessing the death of one age and the birth of another. The one, "Age of Gold" and the other "Age of Brotherhood." The few decades in which the transition will take place must be one of cool planning and sane thinking. There must be a youth with vision, initiative and consecration with

"The flame of freedom in their souls, The light of knowledge in their eyes."

Educators, teachers, are you training us to be such?

The Age of Gold is going—some say it is gone. Its motives were self-centred: it revealed "every man for himself" has been the Golden Rule of business men, farmers, politicians and even churches. The result has been insipid individualism, unscrupulous competition and rampant nationalism, policies that have left in their wake untold misery and universal want and that will, if left unchecked, obliterate what little democracy and justice there is in the world, destroy the rich findings of science and wreck our whole civilization.

ALLAN'S CORNERS

Mr Richard Morrison is at present quite ill and under the Dr's care.

Mrs Wm Allan and daughters Norma and Islay, Durham, visited her sister, Mrs Walter Ferguson and attended St Paul's Church service.

Mr and Mrs Reggie Ramage were visitors with Mr and Mrs Jos Lennox, recently.

Mrs Jas Mack entertained a few of her friends and neighbors before the departure of Mr Robt. Mead who recently left for his home in the West.

As a report of St Paul's anniversary was already in type, we have omitted one from budget.—Ed.

NORTH EGREMONT

We asked a Durham lady what she thought of the Provincial Plowing Match. She said "Oh, I guess it's all right. I saw some men plowing straight and some plowing crooked. That's all there was to it."

A bouncing baby boy, 9 1/2 lbs. arrived at home of Mr and Mrs Frank Scott, Friday last. Congratulations.

Mr Peter Daly held a dance at his home on Halloween night.

A large number of spooks, some on foot and some on horseback, celebrated Halloween night in this vicinity.

Mr Austin Hann lost three head of young cattle last week by black leg.

Mr Erwin Geddes visited in this burg Tuesday.

Roy Andrews, son of Mr and Mrs. John Andrews, had his collar bone cracked, while playing football at school last week.

Mr Geo. Harris visited with Thos. Daley on Tuesday.

A large number from here attended "Miss Andrews' sale last Friday. Jas. Hooper bought one of the horses.

Mr Art. Wells, Hespeler, visited his parents, Mr and Mrs Ed. Wells, this week.

A swarm of bees made their home in the side of Chas. Watson's house last spring and recently Charlie ripped off a few boards and took about 300 lbs of honey away from them.

It seems to us that Egremont Council is rather liberal paying Dr's bills.

Mr Chas. Watson is holding a shooting match this Friday afternoon geese and ducks.

ORCHARD

Mr and Mrs Jno. Dickson and family, spent Sunday last with Mr. and Mrs Wm Bogle, Varney.

Mrs Chas Lewis and Stella spent a few days in Guelph last week and also took in the Fat Stock Show.

Mr Adam Kellar has been confined to bed for a few days with quinsy. Hope to see him up and around again soon.

Messrs J. Johns, R Pinder, T. Bogle and J. Johns were visitors to the Fat Stock Show in Guelph last week. Our Sabbath School closed Sunday last with a very good report, quite a number receiving seals for regular attendance.

Our Anniversary last Sunday evening was well attended. All enjoyed hearing Rev. Winfield Hunt and the Mount Forest quartette.

The Switzer boys are busy cementing the stables of Wm Nelson's barn this week.

IN MEMORIAM

KERR—In loving memory of our dear son and brother Ernie, who passed away Nov. 2, 1932.

One by one our loved ones leave us, Oh, the pain of bitter loss Teaches that the heart's best shelter Is the shadow of the cross.

—Lovingly remembered by mother, sisters and brothers.

sitting on our verandah. I can see the whole countryside, an avenue of trees, a bronzing wheat field billowing in the breeze, a man mowing hay, a quiet farmhouse on the hillside with gaunt barns behind — an epic! Yet for years my soul was not stirred with this beauty. Young children appreciate beauty but somewhere in our teens our souls become so calloused we do not even see a sunset. Does our educational system awaken or destroy our aesthetic tastes?

I was teaching a Sunday School class one day and I asked them why they went to church, why to school, why they studied arithmetic, geography, etc. They did not know. A tragedy. "Thought without Truth."

If my father were to send me to plow and I did not understand that the rules of good cultivation called for plowing, the task would make me bitter: the understanding of the principles makes the task a joy. Would not thorough understanding of the purposes of subjects alter the mental outlook of the pupils? It seems that our curricula are not so much in error but the ascent up the hill of knowledge is so steep that we lose the perspective of our goal and all hope of attaining it.

"Gabby" Street, a famous baseball coach, recently said something like this: "To be a good baseball player, one must love the game, play for the joy of playing, and always play one's best." In our educational system, in fact in all our work, would we not be more contented and happy if our study were to seek the truth of life to live to be of service to others and to do all for the joy of doing it. Would it be unjust to say that our schools often honor the drudge and discourage the boy with the initiative? Why is it that the medallist often becomes a ledger-keeper while the schools' failures become leaders in thought and action? Has this any bearing on the statement that to-day we lack leaders with vision and initiative? Obviously there is a direct bearing between a system and its products. Have not our product, leaders and masses been weighed in the balance and found wanting in the present crisis?

For one of my years it would be rude to criticize too much or suggest, but I feel somehow, if mankind is to reorientate, schools and churches and homes must reorientate, in the order named. A change must come, else there is no hope for our generation.

Linked very closely to the question of training is the choice of vocations.

In the last two years the Ontario Older Boys' Parliament has passed resolutions asking the Government, Service Clubs etc. to give more definite leadership to Vocational Guidance and counselling. This representative group of older boys have felt the crying need of some directive and controlling force in the matter of vocations. Speaking now as a farm boy, I feel that our High School curriculum should offer a course of more practical nature to farm young people. An agricultural vocational high school for every county and vocational counselling in every school might be an excellent slogan for the next ten years. Youth is asking for it. Youth expects it.

To think of the failures of the past—the distresses of the present and the problem of the future is to be convinced there must be a great awakening of the masses. We must strive for a personal enrichment, high fellowship with God and the right relationship with man. A path must be trod by the children of men, the way of love and brotherhood. It is only when this path has been worn bare by the feet of truth-seeking, beauty-loving pilgrims, that we will bringethers the world o'er.

It is when the foundations of society are built upon the rock of justice and peace and love, that the world made rich by science, but made poor by self-seeking, will know the Age of Brotherhood. Then demoralizing depressions and desolating wars in their recurring and devastating cycles will be nothing more than horrible nightmares of history.

Then the common sense of most will hold the fretful realm in awe, And the kindly earth shall slumber, wrapped in universal law." Hand in hand youth and age must strive for that day.
