Canada, The Empire and The World at Large

A list has been published of 31 moving pictures to which exception has been taken by those who are cru sading against unclean films in the United States. It is interesting note that ten of the thirty-one were not submitted in Ontario at all, that the board of censors completely jected seven of the remainder an that the other 14 were, without exception, altered by the Ontario boars -in some cases new scenes in sub stitution for objectionable ones were furnished by the producers. But not one of the 31 pictures got through "as was." - Toronto Star.

CROWS HATCH CHICKS

We have heard of hens hatching ducklings and wondering what it about, and of cats mothering fox es and young coons but J. F. Goert zen, a visitor in the city from Stettler, Alta., rather startled us the other day when he said he had had better luck in getting crows to do the hatching of his chickens than he got from the old Biddies themselves. He and some of his neighbors ceived the idea of making the much despised crow do something useful for a living. So they found some crows' nests put three or four hens eggs in each and in due course appeared the baby chicks.

It was necessary to remove the chicks from the nests early however as their instinct did not teach them to take food the way the mother crows brought it to the However, Mr. Goertzen said presented no difficulty, and he says he is quite satisfied with his crow incubators. - Lethbridge Herald.

IN THE GARDEN

There is nothing like working the soil for the health of both body and mind. Philosophers are agreed upon the necessity of man "cultivating his garden" and this may be taken in a literal as well as figurative sense. Then there is the direct practical value to be obtained from growing the vegetables and garden produce. -Hamilton Spectator.

CARE AND VIGILANCE

Pedestrians must accept their fair share of responsibility for their own safety, and while motorists operating lethal agencies, must exercise special precaution, particularly intersections and other portions of thoroughfares where they are likely to come to close quarters with people on foot, they cannot be expected to do all the dodging, especally when pedestrians engage in the practise of "jay walking."- Victoria Daily

OLD DIME NOVELS IN DEMAND

The old Dime Novels are beginning to bring big prices. Not all of them, of course. But First Editions of some of these books are in high demand and sell at from $1.50 to $5 each. "The Shawnee Witch," from Monroe's Library, and "The Swamp Riders," or "The Blacksmith of Camden," from Beadlie's Dime series, are listed at $5 each. These books would to-day be published at $2 or more and are not less artistic or distinguished for literary quality, than many best sellers. -Hamilton Herald.
