Auto Revenue 20 1/2 Million

1933 In Ontario—Licence and Gas Tax Twice That Of Quebec

Ottawa.—Revenue derived by Canada's nine provinces from various imposts on automobiles last year showed Ontario collecting $20,493,342 from registrations and gas tax, with Quebec the next highest province, drawing $10,044,671. Into the provincial treasury according to figures issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Ontario's revenue constituted 43 per cent of the total for the Dominion, which was $47,004,157.

From 1928 until 1932, the last year for which statistics are presently available registrations enriched provincial treasuries by $123,069,603, or an average for the six years of $20,511,600 per annum. In the same period the provinces collected $130,041,466 in gasoline tax, or an annual average of $21,673,577.

In all of the provinces the revenue from registration in the past six years has remained fairly constant. With the exception of Saskatchewan, however, which last year dropped about $10,000, gas revenues have soared. Ontario in 1933 collected $12,852,577, or 173 per cent more than in 1928. Quebec gas revenue was $4,552,764 compared with $2,774,401, six years ago.

British Columbia's figure for 1933 was $2,023,403 as against $892,141 in 1928. Alberta increased by about 41 per cent to $1,739,240; Manitoba by 95 per cent to $1,643,600.

New Brunswick registered the largest percentage increase, her gas revenues bringing in $865,790 in 1933, or 266 per cent more than in 1928. Nova Scotia's collection was $933,571 against $561,024; while Prince Edward Island took in $166,831 compared with $89,189 in 1928.

Letters A La Mode

"Your favor received and contents noted

We beg attention to prices quoted," O, why do we write such bromidic bunk?

Such obsequious twaddle, lacking in spunk,

Why talk about favors when there are not any?

Why say that you "beg" when you don't beg a penny?

Surely it's better to write as you'd speak,

With words that are virile, not moss-grown and weak!

Forget when you dictate, you're writing a letter,

Talk man-to-man, you'll find that it's better.

Poet.—I am going to publish a volume of my poems and do it under the name of John Smith.

Friend.—Well, I don't think that would be quite fair.

Poet.—Why not?

Friend.—Just think of the thousands of innocent men who will be suspected."

Fish Story

A young mother, upon her husband's return from his law office in the evening met him at the door with a proud smile.

"Oh, dearie we weighed the baby to-day for the first time. And he weighs 47 pounds."

"A six-week-old child weighs 47 pounds? Impossible! What did you weigh him on?"

"On the scales that you carry in your kit to weigh the fish you catch."
