

Here's Way Science Now Relieves Pain in Minutes

BAD HEADACHES, NEURITIS AND RHEUMATIC PAINS
EASED ALMOST AT ONCE

Remember the pictures below when you want fast relief from pain. Aspirin eases even a bad headache or neuralgia often in a few minutes! An Aspirin tablet begins "taking hold" of your pain practically as soon as you swallow it. And Aspirin is safe. For Aspirin does not harm the heart.

Remember these two points: Aspirin Speed and Aspirin Safety. And, see that you get ASPIRIN, the method doctors prescribe. It is made in Canada, and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin tablet. Get tin of 12 tablets or economical bottle of 24 or 100 tablets.

Why Aspirin Works So Fast

IN 2 SECONDS BY STOP WATCH
An Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work.

What happens in these glasses happens in your stomach—ASPIRIN tablets start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

When in Pain Remember These Pictures
Aspirin is the Trade Mark of the Bayer Company, Limited

FIVE CROOKED CHAIRS

By FAREMAN WELLS

SYNOPSIS

Adam Merston, a farmer's son, articulated to a solicitor, makes a brave but unsuccessful attempt to thwart three thieves in a bag-matching raid. The bag was torn from the hands of a girl who afterwards explained to Adam that it contains the day's takings of her father's shop.

He attempts to track the thieves and reaches an old warehouse. Adams enters the building while the girl watches the door. Suddenly he hears footsteps.

The man turns out to be Adam's employer—Corville Perkin.

When all this formal business was over there was just time to catch the last train that stopped at Mensbridge, a station no more than four miles from his home. The last Pennymoor train had departed an hour before, Adam would not even have contemplated that if it had not been made clear that a policeman was to be her escort, the business of identifying the contents of the bag having still to be concluded to the official satisfaction.

He had not missed a syllable of either name or address as they had fallen from her lips in answer to the official demand. Their eyes met, held a moment. Then the big white lids swept down and slowly veiled towards the waiting policeman. Against his solid bulk she looked to Adam's romantic eyes, so ineffably frail that the sight gave him a sensation of choking. She was gone.

All the way back to Mensbridge in the dilatory local train Adam's mind was a ferment of emotions and problems.

Most of the way he had the carriage to himself, for it was a very empty train, and he was able to speak his thoughts aloud so that the journey seemed to take the form of a dialogue with the window-strap, in which the strap played the part of the perfect listener.

He'd be seeing Priscilla again the day after to-morrow, having tea with her if he were lucky. No doubt they would ask him to tea; if he called about four o'clock they could hardly get out of that.

What sort of a home did she possess, and had she a mother? She was well-educated, you could sense that from her nice low speech. Perhaps they were very grand people who would not wish her to have anything to do with the son of a struggling farmer. But no, she had been concerned about losing money because they had had so many bad weeks. They must be struggling folk like his own. That thought gave him a positive satisfaction.

When his invention, his new valve, was tried out thoroughly and proved successful, as inevitably it must, he would no longer be a nonentity; he would be a young man with a scientific future, able to make money.

Adam was something more than a mere articulated clerk to Mr. Corville Perkin; he was an inventor, and it was this very invention of his that had in some wondrous inexplicable manner caused him, only a few hours ago, in the dim wet surroundings of Grail Street, to doubt his own courage, to imagine that he might at any moment be liable to react to a panic madness, to bolt.

The fact was that, although he was a solicitor's clerk, by an accident in which he had had little volition, all Adam's most essential interests were scientific. He dutifully devoted two or three evenings a week to the study of the Law, but all others saw him engaged in the pursuit of science. Twice a week he attended laboratory classes in the evenings at the Menston Technical College.

His odd experience of panic fright had occurred in connection with his scientific pursuits. For some time he had been engaged in the development of a new short-wave wireless valve, a sample of which he had succeeded in making up in the College laboratory, putting elements of his own design into a bulb of standard make and exhausting it under the college air-pump at a time when he was supposed to be engaged on an extremely uninteresting routine experiment under the watchful eye of Professor Starling.

Perhaps the Professor had a special reason for being indulgent in such matters towards Adam, for he had heard of lonely children, and even ones who weren't so lonely, manufacturing dream children, but it never occurred to her that one would come to live in her very own house with her boy, of all beings. She had thought that was for girls, sensitive, sweet, cuddly little girls who liked to play with dolls.

Jackie was all boy. He loved trains and cars and airplanes and noise-makers. He roared when he cried and stamped when he was mad. A born realist, she had told herself, who was certainly of the earth earthy.

Where he had got the word Totty-nail goodness only knew. Nothing had ever been said or read or breathed to suggest the name. It was useless and so was Totty-nail.

PLAYMATES IS SOLUTION.
The problem was, however, what to do about it? His father would likely make fun of the dream child and that would kill him (or her) off forever. But would she allow it? It had to be decided now. She went on weighing the facts.

Jackie still was jabbering to Totty-nail. He was very kind and polite and solicitous, unusually so. She decided that he loved the little friend because the friend was silent, admired Jackie, in fact was the ideal person the little fellow craved and needed.

She went to the bookcase and turned the key. A time and place for realism, but a time and place for imagination, too. Then she did a wise thing—went to the telephone and arranged for her friends to drive out once a week with their children. They decided to take turns having the party. And she decided that on Jackie's fourth birthday he would go to kindergarten.

The Plugger
He isn't very brilliant, and his pace is often slow; there's nothing very flashy in his style. He has to dig and labor for the things he wants to know, and he's busy learning something all the while.

The clever men go by him in a hurry day by day, and the "stars" get all the mention and the fame. But the patient, steady plugger—in a thorough sort of way—keeps on going, and he gets there just the same.

He's a quiet sort of fellow, and he's backward in his speech. You'll never find him clamoring for applause. He will listen to another who has anything to teach, and he never wearies working for a cause. He may take a little longer with the task he has to do than the genius whose talents seem to run, but you'll find the patient plugger at the finish coming through and there's merit in his labor when it's done.

He is slow in getting started. He must know the reasons why certain things occur and in a certain way. There is nothing in his method to attract the passerby, and at times you'd think he's wasted many a day. But when brilliant men have faded, and stars have lost the light; when clever men have stumbled in despair;

Old Reliable Remedy
Still Best For Chapped Skin
Rough, chapped hands are irritating and ugly. They are also a source of danger from infection, when the skin becomes very raw and cracked from exposure.

TEETHING FEVER
Relieved!
Mrs. Edward James' baby had two teeth when less than three months old. She writes: "He has no more and I can truthfully say that giving him Baby's Own Tablets while cutting his teeth kept him fit and well." Teething is a restless feverish time for babies but the little one can always be soothed and the fever reduced by giving sweet, safe Baby's Own Tablets. They are easy to take, do not stain, and are safe every where.

B. Williams' BABY'S OWN TABLETS
Issue No. 46—'34

Dr. Wernet's Powder For FALSE TEETH
A Joy To All Users
Can't Slip or Slide
Sprinkle on Dr. Wernet's Powder and you won't have to think about your false teeth all day long. Joyous comfort is yours. Eat anything you want—It holds plates firmly in place—they positively can't slip or slide. Forms protective cushion for sensitive gums. Leaves no colored, gummy substance—keeps mouth sanitary, breath pleasant. Prescribed by world's most noted dentists. The cost is small—the comfort great. Any druggist.

Edward's Crown Brand Corn Syrup
A pure, wholesome, and economical table Syrup. Children love its delicious flavor.

THE CANADA STARCH CO. LIMITED, MONTREAL

ago, in the dim wet surroundings of Grail Street, to doubt his own courage, to imagine that he might at any moment be liable to react to a panic madness, to bolt.

The fact was that, although he was a solicitor's clerk, by an accident in which he had had little volition, all Adam's most essential interests were scientific. He dutifully devoted two or three evenings a week to the study of the Law, but all others saw him engaged in the pursuit of science. Twice a week he attended laboratory classes in the evenings at the Menston Technical College.

His odd experience of panic fright had occurred in connection with his scientific pursuits. For some time he had been engaged in the development of a new short-wave wireless valve, a sample of which he had succeeded in making up in the College laboratory, putting elements of his own design into a bulb of standard make and exhausting it under the college air-pump at a time when he was supposed to be engaged on an extremely uninteresting routine experiment under the watchful eye of Professor Starling.

Perhaps the Professor had a special reason for being indulgent in such matters towards Adam, for he had heard of lonely children, and even ones who weren't so lonely, manufacturing dream children, but it never occurred to her that one would come to live in her very own house with her boy, of all beings. She had thought that was for girls, sensitive, sweet, cuddly little girls who liked to play with dolls.

Jackie was all boy. He loved trains and cars and airplanes and noise-makers. He roared when he cried and stamped when he was mad. A born realist, she had told herself, who was certainly of the earth earthy.

Where he had got the word Totty-nail goodness only knew. Nothing had ever been said or read or breathed to suggest the name. It was useless and so was Totty-nail.

PLAYMATES IS SOLUTION.
The problem was, however, what to do about it? His father would likely make fun of the dream child and that would kill him (or her) off forever. But would she allow it? It had to be decided now. She went on weighing the facts.

Jackie still was jabbering to Totty-nail. He was very kind and polite and solicitous, unusually so. She decided that he loved the little friend because the friend was silent, admired Jackie, in fact was the ideal person the little fellow craved and needed.

She went to the bookcase and turned the key. A time and place for realism, but a time and place for imagination, too. Then she did a wise thing—went to the telephone and arranged for her friends to drive out once a week with their children. They decided to take turns having the party. And she decided that on Jackie's fourth birthday he would go to kindergarten.

The Plugger
He isn't very brilliant, and his pace is often slow; there's nothing very flashy in his style. He has to dig and labor for the things he wants to know, and he's busy learning something all the while.

The clever men go by him in a hurry day by day, and the "stars" get all the mention and the fame. But the patient, steady plugger—in a thorough sort of way—keeps on going, and he gets there just the same.

He's a quiet sort of fellow, and he's backward in his speech. You'll never find him clamoring for applause. He will listen to another who has anything to teach, and he never wearies working for a cause. He may take a little longer with the task he has to do than the genius whose talents seem to run, but you'll find the patient plugger at the finish coming through and there's merit in his labor when it's done.

He is slow in getting started. He must know the reasons why certain things occur and in a certain way. There is nothing in his method to attract the passerby, and at times you'd think he's wasted many a day. But when brilliant men have faded, and stars have lost the light; when clever men have stumbled in despair;

Old Reliable Remedy
Still Best For Chapped Skin
Rough, chapped hands are irritating and ugly. They are also a source of danger from infection, when the skin becomes very raw and cracked from exposure.

TEETHING FEVER
Relieved!
Mrs. Edward James' baby had two teeth when less than three months old. She writes: "He has no more and I can truthfully say that giving him Baby's Own Tablets while cutting his teeth kept him fit and well." Teething is a restless feverish time for babies but the little one can always be soothed and the fever reduced by giving sweet, safe Baby's Own Tablets. They are easy to take, do not stain, and are safe every where.

B. Williams' BABY'S OWN TABLETS
Issue No. 46—'34

Dr. Wernet's Powder For FALSE TEETH
A Joy To All Users
Can't Slip or Slide
Sprinkle on Dr. Wernet's Powder and you won't have to think about your false teeth all day long. Joyous comfort is yours. Eat anything you want—It holds plates firmly in place—they positively can't slip or slide. Forms protective cushion for sensitive gums. Leaves no colored, gummy substance—keeps mouth sanitary, breath pleasant. Prescribed by world's most noted dentists. The cost is small—the comfort great. Any druggist.

Edward's Crown Brand Corn Syrup
A pure, wholesome, and economical table Syrup. Children love its delicious flavor.

"SALADA"

Orange Pekoe Blend TEA Fresh from the Gardens

Intellectuals

Russia Asks Aid of Once Dispersed Group Asked in Art And Architecture

NEW YORK. — Russia has done a very neat and generous about-face in both architecture and art, especially painting, says Jean Lurcat. Because of a shortage of technically trained men, she has been forced to turn to the once-dispersed "intellectuals" who were anathema ten years ago, he says.

Lurcat, one of the best known French painters, is in New York doing the decorating for the Monte Carlo ballet's new Andre Gide piece. He has come from Russia where, at the government's request, he made a study of artistic conditions in Russia.

"The new situation is particularly noticeable in architecture," said he. "Russia looks now like America did in 1928—buildings going up on all sides. But the buildings exhibit the most curious paradox.

"I recall an immense one, 15 stories tall, a block square and in the best American apartment-house style. It is very modern and in the spirit of the new Russia. Next door there is another new building. It is two stories high, and just as perfectly in the old tradition.

"So I asked the cause. It is that Russia has not yet been functioning under its present system long enough to produce thoroughly competent architects of its own. Many of its architects have been imported, mostly of the 'modern' stamp. But working side by side with them are the remnants of the old 'intellectual' class. And these are turning out buildings just like they built before the revolution."

The Power of Will
There is no task, be it ever so hard, No battle, though ever so long, But the task may be done and the battle be won, If your will to conquer is strong.

There is no truth, be it ever so deep, No change, be it ever so great, But the truth may be thought and the change may be wrought, If you will to master your fate.

There is no sea, be it ever so hard, No obstacle ever so high, But the sea may be sailed, and the obstacle scaled, If you have the courage to try.

There is no sin or mistake of the past, Can keep you from reaching your goal, If you but tap the source of that deep hidden force, Which lies in the depths of your soul.

when the great have come to failure with the goal they sought in sight, you'll find the patient plugger getting there.—Anon.

Dr. Wernet's Powder For FALSE TEETH
A Joy To All Users
Can't Slip or Slide
Sprinkle on Dr. Wernet's Powder and you won't have to think about your false teeth all day long. Joyous comfort is yours. Eat anything you want—It holds plates firmly in place—they positively can't slip or slide. Forms protective cushion for sensitive gums. Leaves no colored, gummy substance—keeps mouth sanitary, breath pleasant. Prescribed by world's most noted dentists. The cost is small—the comfort great. Any druggist.

Edward's Crown Brand Corn Syrup
A pure, wholesome, and economical table Syrup. Children love its delicious flavor.

THE CANADA STARCH CO. LIMITED, MONTREAL

Nut Trees in Ontario

Not so many years ago Ontario was rich in nut trees, beechnut, sweet hickory, sweet chestnut and hazelnut, but these have been generally depleted until there is but a sprinkling of them left. Canada is a large importer of nuts in spite of the fact that the native nuts are of fine flavor and excellent in food value. There are large tracts of land unsuited for agriculture which would show a fine return if planted to nut trees. Of course a number of the varieties take a considerable time to mature, but they are long-lived and the majority of them provide valuable timber.—London Free Press.

Autumn Evening
Marion Doyle in the New York Sun
The wind has slept the whole day through, And now, at dusk, he wakes In grumpy humor; striding round The town, his football shakes The houses till their shingles fly, And gates and trees complain, And sets the firelight fluttering Against the window pane.

Mr. Stull himself, who has done magazine staff writing as a love expert, commented that "women become too possessive as soon as they are engaged. Before that time they shut their eyes, admire their men friends' this and clothing and conversation—but after the engagement they start picking them to pieces.

"I believe that she hurt his pride and he flared back. She should be more tactful.

Famous Church Follows People
London Edifice Removed in Pieces for Re-erection in More Populous District.
LONDON.—For the first time in the history of the Church of England one of its most notable places of worship has been removed, stone by stone, to a new site several miles distant.

Thirty years ago, St. Andrew's, in Wells street, near Oxford Circus, was one of the "fashionable" churches of London. Every Sunday the broughams of Kensington and Mayfair filled Wells street. King Edward and Queen Alexandra were often in the congregation. Sarah Bernhardt, the actress, was married there. The music at St. Andrew's was of a high order. It had its own choir school, and Joseph Barnby, the famous composer, was for a time its organist. With its reposed alabaster, and with other fittings as elaborate, St. Andrew's was one of the choicest specimens of ecclesiastical splendor according to the Victorian standard.

Changes in social custom gradually reduced the congregation to but a faithful remnant. These pious old-timers, however, were sufficiently jealous of the glories that had been as to appeal to the Privy Council against the closing of the church. The effort was vain, but the faithful few were perhaps mollified when an undertaking was removed in its entirety to "serve a more populous district."

St. Andrew's has now risen again at Kingsbury, one of the rapidly growing new suburbs of north-western London. The removal from Wells street to Kingsbury has been an expensive matter, but the cost was more than covered by the price received for the site in Wells street.

Ask Better Plan For Air Control
LONDON.—Need for a properly co-ordinated plan on a national scale for the development of civil aviation, to make regular commercial air transport possible, is urged by the London Chamber of Commerce in a memorandum submitted to the Air Ministry.

Suggestions put forward include provision for ground equipment and traffic control of British air routes to be vested in a statutory body on which the Air Ministry, the Post Office, aircraft operators, insurance and commercial interests among others should be represented.

The sweetest bird builds near the ground, The loveliest flower springs low; And we must stoop for happiness, If we its worth would know.

Engaged Women Too Possessive
Another Man Proves Kipling Was Right — "A Good Cigar" is a Smoke.
Atlantic City, N.J.—Within a day after announcing their engagement, Mrs. J. E. Barker, 56, of Great Neck, L.I., and Jacob Miller, 61, of Toronto, have broken off in a huff.

The sprightly former musical comedy ingenue checked out of her hotel to return to New York, declaring that "Miller obviously is not of my strata". The wealthy retired Canadian manufacturer left a few minutes ahead of his one-day fiance, taking his assortment of suits and asserting "I wouldn't marry her now if she was the last woman in the world."

Shortly after they had posed for sound news reels with youthful dancing, tender gestures and questions and answers about Mrs. Barker's cooking, the two flared up when she demanded he "take that filthy cigar out of your mouth."

Intellectuals

Russia Asks Aid of Once Dispersed Group Asked in Art And Architecture

NEW YORK. — Russia has done a very neat and generous about-face in both architecture and art, especially painting, says Jean Lurcat. Because of a shortage of technically trained men, she has been forced to turn to the once-dispersed "intellectuals" who were anathema ten years ago, he says.

Lurcat, one of the best known French painters, is in New York doing the decorating for the Monte Carlo ballet's new Andre Gide piece. He has come from Russia where, at the government's request, he made a study of artistic conditions in Russia.

"The new situation is particularly noticeable in architecture," said he. "Russia looks now like America did in 1928—buildings going up on all sides. But the buildings exhibit the most curious paradox.

"I recall an immense one, 15 stories tall, a block square and in the best American apartment-house style. It is very modern and in the spirit of the new Russia. Next door there is another new building. It is two stories high, and just as perfectly in the old tradition.

"So I asked the cause. It is that Russia has not yet been functioning under its present system long enough to produce thoroughly competent architects of its own. Many of its architects have been imported, mostly of the 'modern' stamp. But working side by side with them are the remnants of the old 'intellectual' class. And these are turning out buildings just like they built before the revolution."

The Power of Will
There is no task, be it ever so hard, No battle, though ever so long, But the task may be done and the battle be won, If your will to conquer is strong.

There is no truth, be it ever so deep, No change, be it ever so great, But the truth may be thought and the change may be wrought, If you will to master your fate.

There is no sea, be it ever so hard, No obstacle ever so high, But the sea may be sailed, and the obstacle scaled, If you have the courage to try.

There is no sin or mistake of the past, Can keep you from reaching your goal, If you but tap the source of that deep hidden force, Which lies in the depths of your soul.

when the great have come to failure with the goal they sought in sight, you'll find the patient plugger getting there.—Anon.

Dr. Wernet's Powder For FALSE TEETH
A Joy To All Users
Can't Slip or Slide
Sprinkle on Dr. Wernet's Powder and you won't have to think about your false teeth all day long. Joyous comfort is yours. Eat anything you want—It holds plates firmly in place—they positively can't slip or slide. Forms protective cushion for sensitive gums. Leaves no colored, gummy substance—keeps mouth sanitary, breath pleasant. Prescribed by world's most noted dentists. The cost is small—the comfort great. Any druggist.

Edward's Crown Brand Corn Syrup
A pure, wholesome, and economical table Syrup. Children love its delicious flavor.

THE CANADA STARCH CO. LIMITED, MONTREAL

Nut Trees in Ontario

Not so many years ago Ontario was rich in nut trees, beechnut, sweet hickory, sweet chestnut and hazelnut, but these have been generally depleted until there is but a sprinkling of them left. Canada is a large importer of nuts in spite of the fact that the native nuts are of fine flavor and excellent in food value. There are large tracts of land unsuited for agriculture which would show a fine return if planted to nut trees. Of course a number of the varieties take a considerable time to mature, but they are long-lived and the majority of them provide valuable timber.—London Free Press.

Autumn Evening
Marion Doyle in the New York Sun
The wind has slept the whole day through, And now, at dusk, he wakes In grumpy humor; striding round The town, his football shakes The houses till their shingles fly, And gates and trees complain, And sets the firelight fluttering Against the window pane.

Mr. Stull himself, who has done magazine staff writing as a love expert, commented that "women become too possessive as soon as they are engaged. Before that time they shut their eyes, admire their men friends' this and clothing and conversation—but after the engagement they start picking them to pieces.

"I believe that she hurt his pride and he flared back. She should be more tactful.

Famous Church Follows People
London Edifice Removed in Pieces for Re-erection in More Populous District.
LONDON.—For the first time in the history of the Church of England one of its most notable places of worship has been removed, stone by stone, to a new site several miles distant.

Thirty years ago, St. Andrew's, in Wells street, near Oxford Circus, was one of the "fashionable" churches of London. Every Sunday the broughams of Kensington and Mayfair filled Wells street. King Edward and Queen Alexandra were often in the congregation. Sarah Bernhardt, the actress, was married there. The music at St. Andrew's was of a high order. It had its own choir school, and Joseph Barnby, the famous composer, was for a time its organist. With its reposed alabaster, and with other fittings as elaborate, St. Andrew's was one of the choicest specimens of ecclesiastical splendor according to the Victorian standard.

Changes in social custom gradually reduced the congregation to but a faithful remnant. These pious old-timers, however, were sufficiently jealous of the glories that had been as to appeal to the Privy Council against the closing of the church. The effort was vain, but the faithful few were perhaps mollified when an undertaking was removed in its entirety to "serve a more populous district."

St. Andrew's has now risen again at Kingsbury, one of the rapidly growing new suburbs of north-western London. The removal from Wells street to Kingsbury has been an expensive matter, but the cost was more than covered by the price received for the site in Wells street.

Ask Better Plan For Air Control
LONDON.—Need for a properly co-ordinated plan on a national scale for the development of civil aviation, to make regular commercial air transport possible, is urged by the London Chamber of Commerce in a memorandum submitted to the Air Ministry.

Suggestions put forward include provision for ground equipment and traffic control of British air routes to be vested in a statutory body on which the Air Ministry, the Post Office, aircraft operators, insurance and commercial interests among others should be represented.

The sweetest bird builds near the ground, The loveliest flower springs low; And we must stoop for happiness, If we its worth would know.

Engaged Women Too Possessive
Another Man Proves Kipling Was Right — "A Good Cigar" is a Smoke.
Atlantic City, N.J.—Within a day after announcing their engagement, Mrs. J. E. Barker, 56, of Great Neck, L.I., and Jacob Miller, 61, of Toronto, have broken off in a huff.

The sprightly former musical comedy ingenue checked out of her hotel to return to New York, declaring that "Miller obviously is not of my strata". The wealthy retired Canadian manufacturer left a few minutes ahead of his one-day fiance, taking his assortment of suits and asserting "I wouldn't marry her now if she was the last woman in the world."

Shortly after they had posed for sound news reels with youthful dancing, tender gestures and questions and answers about Mrs. Barker's cooking, the two flared up when she demanded he "take that filthy cigar out of your mouth."

DO NOT PUNISH YOUR CHILD

Here's Easy Way To Quickly Help Your Child's Failing
Children should not be punished for bed-wetting caused by weakness of Kidney or Bladder. Mothers will find our pleasant Home Treatment quickly helpful to their little ones. Send no money, but write today for FREE TRIAL TREATMENT to prove it. Adults with Urinary weaknesses that disturb rest should also find our treatment of amazing value.

VANDERHOOF & CO. LIMITED
Box 247, Dept. 25 K2 Windsor, Ont.

Every Time You Eat
You push food particles between your teeth. The dark, moist warmth of the mouth furnishes the perfect condition for quick decay which turns into live bacteria. An unpleasant odor is dangerous. Mer Dentrifac and Mer Lotos are scientifically made to pleasantly help you form the clean teeth and mouth habit. Made by Cook of Canada, for more than 50 years manufacturers of materials for dentists. A two-week's booklet for 20¢ at Drug and Dept. stores.

Nervous, Weak, Dizzy?
If your day begins with frayed nerves, backache, periodic pains or weakening drains, you should take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Read what Mrs. J. Gunn of 18 Power St., Toronto, Ont., said: "I was completely rundown in health. My nerves were in bad shape and I had headache day after day. I had no strength at all—was miserable. I took two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it was not long before I felt stronger and more normal. It is a fine builder for weak women." All druggists. New size, tablets 50 cts., Liquid $1.00. Large size, tabs. or liquid, $2.50. Write Dr. Pierce's Clinic, Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.

Chantecler CIGARETTE PAPERS
PURE RICE PAPERS none finer ever made
DOUBLE AUTOMATIC BOOKLET only 5¢

Chantecler QUALITE EXTRA SUPERIEUR

Chantecler QUALITE EXTRA SUPERIEUR

Chantecler QUALITE EXTRA SUPERIEUR