

OLD HOME WEEK JOTTINGS BY OLD-TIMER

How the love of the old town lingers in the hearts of its sons and daughters! Time and space seem to make no difference. The home call has gone forth and responses are coming from far and near.

Mrs. Frances M. Harrison, Shallow Lake, writes in part: "More words on paper cannot convey to you and the committee of Durham Old Home Week, my appreciation of the invitation I received today, but I wasn't waiting for an invitation: I was coming anyway. Durham is very dear, and I shall be there with bells on to announce my love for my native town. What relies I had of my old Durham home and many pioneer ones too! But eight years ago today our home was destroyed by fire and they were burned. My paternal grandparents were the pioneer weavers of carpets and linens at Durham: came there in 1850 from U.S.A. H. J. Midgah was my granduncle. My relatives had much to do with the development of Durham, especially of the early days."

Mrs. David Gilmour says she is coming and wants to meet while here, Miss Mary Gordon, Toronto, John Mather, Winnipeg, Mrs. Willmot Davidson, Toronto and Mrs. T. Brown, whose present address she does not know. We have already sent Mrs. Brown an invitation and we expect she will be here. The other invitations are on their way.

J. M. Campbell, Regina, says, "Count on me and I want to meet T. Milligan, John Cuff, T. Torry and F. Torry."

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Jackson, Ottawa write they are both coming. Mrs. Langley Forest Hill Road, Toronto, says "I'll be there," and adds, "Those whom I want to meet are too numerous to mention here. But I would like to meet all the old school mates of S.S. No. 12 Egremont."

Our old friend Sandy writes a gain to say that he would like to meet Bruno Hauptman, David Meisner and the Dionne Quintuplets. Jerry, Sandy, but the two former never were on our mailing list, so we could not have them here, but we could easily arrange to have you sent down to pay them an extended visit. We might have the Quintuplets invited if you will promise to take care of them, but take it from me, it will be quite an armful.

The marriage of Miss Arnetta Hazlitt, daughter of Mrs. Harry Smith of Allan Park and the late Mr. Wm. Wallace C. Allison officiating. The bride was charmingly gowned in navy blue crepe, trimmed with white, and with accessories to match. Miss Mary Hazlitt, sister of the bride, and Mr. Will Grierson of Toronto, brother of the groom, acted as witnesses. After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the bride's home, where a dainty wedding dinner was served. The bride and groom received many beautiful gifts, along with many cheques. Those from a distance who attended the wedding were Mr. Will Smith and Mr. Will Grierson of Toronto. The young couple left the following day for their new home in Toronto, where they will reside at 1281 Davenport Road. A host of good wishes and congratulations will go with them from their many friends in this district.

MRS. FREDERICK HARGRAVE

Surviving only nine days after her accident in which her hip was broken, Mrs. Frederick Hargrave passed away last Thursday morning in her 92nd year. For the last 30 years she has lived with her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Henry, here.

Deceased was born on March 17, 1843, in Fermanagh Co., Ireland, as Mary Collins, coming with her parents, Mr and Mrs Geo. Collins to Canada when a child. They settled near Morrisburg on the St. Lawrence River, where the mother died and the father later returned to Ireland. Mary came to Durham and lived for ten years with her sister, Mrs. Walter Hastie in the cottage on Queen St. now occupied by Mr. Alex Hastie. From there she became the bride of Frederick Hargrave, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Wm. Park in March 1874. They began home-making on the groom's farm, Lot 21, con. 23, Egremont, and to them were born a family of 7 children. Only three remain, Geo. and Jas. Hargrave in Egremont and Mary, Mrs. Wm. Henry, Durham. There are 19 grandchildren and 4 great grandchildren. Only two of her brothers and sisters of a family of 10 now survive. These two brothers are in the Western States. Four of her brothers were school teachers, one of them teaching in Durham in the early days. One sister was the mother of the late A. H. Jackson of Durham. Mr. Hargrave died in 1900 and some years later Mrs. Hargrave came to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Henry.

Coming from a literary family, Mrs. Hargrave has always been an inveterate reader and up to the time of her accident had been active with the knitting needles and household light sewing. She was a kindly interesting neighbor and made many friends. She never grew old in intellect nor physically, and was a member of Knox United church. She had wonderful health. It was a beautiful ending to a lengthy life that she did not suffer, but slept quietly away.

The funeral service was held from the residence of Mr and Mrs Wm. Henry, Saturday afternoon, conducted by her pastor, Rev. W. H. Smith, and the remains were interred in Ebenezer cemetery, where many old friends and neighbors from the old home community in Egremont were gathered.

Friends from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hargrave, Markdale; Messrs David and Roy Robertson of Walkerton; Mr and Mrs C. E. Black, Toronto. The floral offerings were from: Mr and Mrs Wm. Henry; Mr and Mrs Cliff Henry; the Robertson family, Walkerton; Mr and Mrs Jas. Hargrave; Mrs. Wm. Hargrave and family.

Messrs Wilfred Daly, Carman Hargrave, Clifford Henry, Murray Allan, Roy and Clarence Hargrave, acted as pall-bearers.

Attorney-General Roebuck Attacks Hydro Contracts

BY THE WATCHMAN

Toronto.—The longest and most sensational address on Hydro since the inception of the great publicly-owned enterprise, that delivered by Attorney General Roebuck in the Legislature, has had resounding reverberations throughout the length and breadth of the province.

No more stinging attack upon the policies of public men has ever been heard in the House and the Attorney General made no bones about charging the former Conservative Hydro Commissions with a betrayal of the citizens by their purchase of power from private interests. Even hardened legislators, accustomed to brilliant efforts in past years from Conservatives and Liberals alike, professed astonishment at the prodigious effort put forth by the Hepburn cabinet minister.

The Attorney General piled the lid off the Hydro pot and when he produced its contents before a tremendously interested House, there were cries of "shame" as the recital of irregularities and secret agreements was brought to light. Space is too short to give anything but a cursory account of the Attorney General's address. Summed up, it was an indictment of the Henry and Ferguson governments and the Hydro Commissions of those administrations. So much private power had been purchased from Quebec interests, said Mr Roebuck, that the power users and taxpayers of Ontario had been bound in bondage to the province of Quebec. Huge deficits were the prospects for many years on Hydro operation in many parts of the province, he said.

Not only did the Attorney General in his 11-hour speech brand the former Commissioners as "betrayers of Sir Adam Beck," but he devoted considerable time to revealing how in the Municipal Underwriters had dabbled in political propaganda, using Hydro money to further their ends. The Attorney General was not satisfied with merely making charges, but intrigued the interest of the House by producing a mass of information about the "inside" dealings of the former Hydro commissions which Liberals for years had vainly tried to secure on the floor of the House when in the Opposition.

Interesting, too, was the fact that much of the information brought to light by Mr. Roebuck appeared to be news to most of the Conservatives in the House. Rarely was the Attorney General interrupted by Opposition members. His subject matter was too interesting, too well prepared, to allow of anything but a calculated reply.

Mr. Roebuck's speech served to bring under the spotlight the much-discussed Hydro contracts with Quebec corporations. And Premier Hepburn accentuated the significance of certain references made by the Attorney General when he announced his intention of bringing before the Legislature his government's proposals with regard to power contracts with these private corporations. If these contracts can be broken, the Hepburn Government, it is reported, will attempt to remove the burden of overbought power from the shoulders of the municipalities.

The Gatteau contract and the five "secret" supplementary contracts were denounced in vigorous language by the militant Attorney General. He endeavoured to show that these contracts, made in addition to a main contract for power from the Gatteau, were detrimental to the best interests of the province as a whole.

WHERE IS THE PROFIT IN ADVERTISING?

(By Bruce B. Bhowser)

You will frequently see in big city papers a half-page advertisement featuring only one thing, a woman's hat for example.

That advertisement may have cost $500, and you wonder how it will pay for itself.

Some women went and bought that hat. There was profit in that.

Others who went in didn't like that particular hat, but bought another. There was profit in that.

Some bought no hat at all, but passed other counters where they saw other things which they bought. There was profit in that.

Of those who came there were some who had not been regular patrons but who will come back some day to buy something else. And there will be a profit in that over a long period of time.

But the largest profit of all is from those who do not come in as a result of the hat advertisement at all. They are the many who, when they saw the advertisement were reminded that the store sells the type of goods they like and so they decide to shop in that store the next time they go to town.

This latter group will out number all other groups combined, perhaps as much as 50 to 1, or 100 to 1.

Merchants who expect every ad in their local weekly to literally "pull its head off," should keep in mind that big city advertisers expect no such results. They depend on the steady pull of advertising to build always a larger group of buyers who will at least remember their store often enough to come in.

It is fine, but foolish to expect quick miracles from advertising. But go into it, believing in its long pull results and you will see results in a steadily growing list of customers.

QUEEN'S PARK

(By Observer)

Legislature galleries and benches at Queen's Park have just had their initial hearings of Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn in action. Whatever the judgment — and who can be spokesman for the thousands of listeners? — the audiences at the opening days of the Legislature were the largest ever witnessed in the historic old chamber; they committed parliamentary offence in applauding the appearance of the youthful Liberal leader; and they remained on "Leaders' Day" through hours and hours of oratory to hear Premier Hepburn out.

Conservative members — few of whom had ever heard Hon. Mr. Hepburn speak before — settled back in their benches with obvious interest and anticipation when the Premier arose after Hon. George S. Henry concluded his speech. Guessing the contents of their collective minds, they were querying, "What powers has this youngster who last election upset the electoral tradition of over 30 years?" Liberal colleagues behind the Premier paid their tribute with a burst of applause.

The former Prime Minister, Hon. Mr. Henry, was first to test the mettle of his opponent. The new Government had not the confidence of the electorate, Hon. Mr. Henry inferred. Then where was the Conservative candidate in the defaulted riding of Nipissing? How did the present opposition explain the greatly enhanced majorities given Liberal candidates in Wellington and Grey? Where were those Legislature candidates who spoke for Hon. Mr. Henry last election? With devastating, machine-gun-like punch, Premier Hepburn, right in the first few minutes of his first extended utterance, showed — partially, at least — why he is where he is in the confidence and affections of the Ontario public.

It was not much of an oratorical duet that the sitting and standing throngs who attended those interesting opening sessions listened and witnessed. It was too one-sided to be a great parliamentary thrill. Hon. Leopold Macaulay and Hon. William H. Price in turn felt the sting of the Premier's crisp, barbed commentaries upon past administration extravaganzas, heard the record of "Political Rewards" as issued by the former administration, and listened to Premier Hepburn reaffirm his intentions of eliminating "treachery" from within the Civil Service.

While Liberal benchers listened with frank admiration, their leader recounted the financial and administrative sins of the former government; Conservatives opposite grinned and "took it," with ex-Attorney-General Price shouting across the floor a reminder that the opposition, as its turn came to "bat," would have its say on the points of condemnation.

With Premier "Mitch" Hepburn leading the House, and out of the very vivacity of his own spirits, an answering most opposition criticisms, there should be few dull days at the Legislature this session. The Conservatives, apparently, are going to throw plenty of bricks, but on Leaders' Day they were already commencing to duck as they threw.

DORNOCH

March came in like a lamb. We hope it don't go out like a Lion. We have had almost enough storms and cold through February. We would like to see milder weather from now on.

The W. I. held their quilting at the home of Miss F. Robertson, Wednesday last, with 14 ladies present, who worked hard and got it out after lamp light. It will be worth more than 10c a ticket. The one who gets it will surely store it away in her Hope chest.

Our sympathy goes out to the McArthur's in their loss of a sister; also to Mrs. R. Mortley, who lost her aunt, who was like a mother and who cared for her in her childhood days when she lost her mother's care. Such is life. One after another, both young and old, are fast passing away from us.

Sorry to hear Nelson McIntosh is laid up with sore throat. We hope he will soon be able to be around again. He has hired a man to do his work.
