Would Make Beavers a Tourist Attraction

W. R. Cory, of Windsor, in a letter to the press, writes as follows of the beaver colonies in Bentinck:

"You have a colony of beavers which have built a dam in the swamp between the farms of Mr. Arthur Mountain and Mr. James Petty. Mr. Petty and Mr. Mountain object to the slight loss incurred through flooding of moderately valuable timber lots.

Your government in trying to prevent our national animal from becoming extinct, spends thousands of dollars every year, and forbids deliberate killing of beavers. Yet your game warden is proceeding to kill the beavers in a most inhuman way - namely by preventing them from storing up an adequate food supply for the winter through destroying their dam as fast as it is built. Has it occurred to you that you are extremely fortunate in having these beavers and that by your shortsighted destruction of the colony, you are robbing yourself of a tourist attraction which ranks extremely high?

At least one million Americans have never seen a beaver colony. Personally I would willingly drive a long way and pay a twenty-five cent fee to see that beaver colony of yours.

Why not make the most of your beavers, give them a chance to earn the value of the timber they use by attracting tourists to the district? Even if this angle of the situation does not appear logical to you, will you please explain to me why the Humane Society is allowing this inhuman method of destroying your beavers? And why, if it is forbidden to shoot a beaver, is it permissible to starve one to death? I'm not very interested in tourists, but I'd like to see a beaver colony, and I think a lot of other Canadians would. Surely it's worth the price of a few trees and an acre or two of swampland?"

In editorial comment on the matter the Owen Sound Sun-Times says:

"A suggestion has been made, and it sounds like a reasonable one, that the beavers be permitted to stay there, and that the government grant permission to the owners of the farm on which they have established themselves, to trap a certain number of them each year and dispose of the pelts as they see fit. Beaver pelts are among the most valuable of all Canadian furs and the farmers might be able to realize handsomely from their sale. In this way the farmers would become interested in their protection, and could well afford to allow the beavers to build their dams from the small trees they fell on the property. This suggestion may not be feasible, but it is at least worthy of consideration. If the beavers are discouraged to the point of moving to some other location, the result is going to be the same, and the work will have to be repeated. Grey County is already noted for its fur farms and why not add a beaver farm?"

FOR SALE - York Sow with nine pigs. Eric Sharpe, R.R. 3, Mt. Forest. Phone 13 or 148. (1)

Ballots and Common-Sense

(An election song for the people of Grey-Bruce. Someone furnish the music and let us all sing.)

In this big election that's not far away,
The Grits and the Tories will run;
Our heroine walks in the midst of the fray,
And she carries a doublebarrel gun.

Chorus:

So here's to the lassies and here's to the lads;
And here's to the women and men;
Who often were tricked, but who never were licked,
And now they are back here again.

This gun that she carries was oft used before,
To use it, was never a crime;
It never draws blood but its wounds they are sore,
It knocks them out, two at a time.

The left barrel is loaded with "Ballots," packed tight,
The right one, with good "Common sense,"
In holding our fortress that's built upon "Right,"
We're proud to use it in defence.

She's one of ourselves, and she's true to the poor;
She's honored by great, and by small,
The doctrine she teaches is sure to endure,
When parties will perish and fall.

She comes to our homes, and she chats to us all;
The children come in from their play,
They climb up on her knee; we tots that are small;
And tell her: "We live in Bliss Grey."

We'll all vote for Aggie and bless the great day,
When ballots were put to good use,
When friends of our Lady united with Grey,
And won a great battle in Bruce.

Rovers Go A'Roving

Here are five Canadian Rover Scouts on board the Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of York, in which they sailed from Montreal to attend the World Rover Moot being held this year in Sweden. Eastern and Western Canada are represented by the five, who, left to right, are: L. F. Domalik, of Peterboro, Ont., Allan Eiron, of St. Paul, Alta., A. B. Patterson, sea scout, of Ottawa, Ont., Kingston Webber, of Monroton, and A. C. Kesselier, of Saint John, N. B.

The Canadian Rovers will form part of a British contingent of 1,500 attending the Rover Moot, expected to attend. They will be in camp for six days at the Moot headquarters in Ingarnon Island, not far from Stockholm. Elaborate preparations have been made by the Swedish Rovers, hosts of the gathering, who are headed by Prince Gustaf Adolf, eldest son of the Crown Prince of Sweden. The camp will have a fire brigade, telephone system, post-office, hospital and will publish a daily newspaper in the four official languages of the Moot, English, French, German and Swedish.

The Swedish Moot will be the second World Rover Moot. The first was held in Switzerland in 1921. Two of the five Rovers in the above picture, A. C. Kesselier and Allan Eiron, attended the 1921 Moot.
