Hampden Pulpit Filled by a Former Pastor

Sunday and Monday last, Rev. Austin L. Budge of Hagersville, occupied his one-time pulpit at Hampden and the welcome was mutual between pastor and people—they were delighted to have him in their midst once again and he was delighted to be there. The years since Mr Budge labored here are now widening considerably, but they have been kind to him too. Perhaps a few more grey hairs on the temple and the blood-course a little less rapid. But on the other hand he had gained in richness of experience and zest for the Master's work.

On Monday evening a splendid Hampden supper was served all who came to the baking set forth. Rev.
W. H. Smith, B.A. was in the chair. With his terse comment, the time did not drag. In the literary and musical program which followed Mr Budge 'reminded' and his stories delighted the audience. Other speakers who spoke in the same strain were Arch. Park, John Cooper and John Whiteford of Detroit. The Victoria Quartette of Hanover gave several selections as did also 'The Ramblers' on guitar and harp. The local choir with Mrs James Byers at the organ, gave of their talent, also the Henderson girls in a trio, and duets D. Donnelly and Helen Millgan.

Dr. W. A. Groves De'd.
Dr. W. A. Groves, Fergus, son of the famous Dr. Abraham Groves, died in Fergus on Thursday last, in his 58th year. Dr. Groves' health had not been good the past month following a motor accident in which he narrowly escaped serious injury. A number of years, Dr. Groves moved to Leamington and later went West, where he enlisted and served overseas for three years, a large part of which time was spent in base hospitals. On his return from the war, he held an office in Saskatchewan, in connection with Soldiers' Re-establishment Board, later returning to Fergus where for past three years he has been Medical Officer of health for the Canadian Pacific Railway, for Fergus district.

Beautiful Maples Cut Down.
The beautiful row of maple trees skirting the front of the property of Mrs. David Jackson, Upper Town is being rapidly broken into as a result of the severe windstorms that have occurred of late. Of course there is a reason, as Postum says, or these stately trees would not be in their somewhat protected area, a victim of the windstorms of this district.
Some of these maples are dying gradually from the top down, and in the trunk are being affected by dry rot, which leaves little resistance in the tree to a storm. The supposition is that the upper branches have been cut away too severely by the telephone Company, and the rain works into the heart of the tree, ultimately causing damage. These maples were set out long before any telephone lines were erected and it makes way for the paths of commerce.

Young For His Years.
The 'Review' had a pleasant visit on Monday from an old North Egremont boy, who has spent some time with his sister, Mrs Isaac Hooper.
On Saturday, 28th September, Mr.
Bone attained his 85th year, and let us add there are few men in Ontario today who at that age, are as virile and keen mentally, as Mr. Bone. He surely earns the sobriquet of 'Old-timer' for it is sixty years ago since he with his brothers Alfred and Fred left farming behind them in Egremont and for Western States 'o work for 'Jim' Hill of railroad contracting fame. Eventually he settled at Beardsley, Minnesota, which has been his home for some years. His wife, was a public spirited woman in the State and her death was greatly regretted. His family are occupying good financial positions today, two of his daughters in Collegiate work, earning incomes between three and four thousand dollars. Mr. Bone is now a free lance and plans to spend the winter in California. He came to Durham on Monday to hear Agnes Macphail in her nomination speech, as her fame had spread to his state.

Owen Sound Pastor at Queen St. Anniversary

Large congregations at both services Sunday last, greeted Rev. F. E.
Clydsdale, pastor of Central United church, Owen Sound, at Queen St. church anniversary. He delivered two most inspiring sermons, in the morning speaking from Ephesians 1:22-23, on "The new body of Christ," and in the evening from John 5:17, "My Father worketh hitherto and I work." Taking three subjects based on the text: "I believe in a working God," "I believe in a coming kingdom," and "I believe in sacred stewardship," Mr. Clydsdale lucidly revealed many truths.

Excellent music was provided at both services by the regular choir, with Mrs C. Graham as soloist, augmented by a men's choir.

Three Candidates Nominated for Grey-Bruce Constituency

ISSUES OF THE DAY WELL PRE-SENTED BY DR. CAMPBELL AND MISS MACPHAIL

Durham Town Hall never was more jammed than on Monday afternoon when aisles and stairs as well were crowded to hear the nomination addresses of the three Grey-Bruce candidates. Some two or three hundred were turned away, many coming long distances.

As expected, three and three only were nominated: Dr. L. G. Campbell Markdale, Conservative; Dr. W. A.
Hall, Walkerton, Liberal; Miss Agnes
C. Macphail, Croyton, U.F.O.-Labor.

Only Miss Macphail and Mr. Campbell were heard however. Re turning Officer Edwards, who was also the chairman, announced that Dr. Hall was unable to be present through illness. This was a disappointment to many in this part of the riding who had never heard the Liberal candidate.

Forty-five minutes was allowed to each candidate and the speakers took their full time, Miss Macphail having 15 minutes extra for reply.

As sitting member she was first called upon, and did not lose any time in denouncing Dr. Hall for his alleged tactics in the campaign. First she stated Dr. Hall was not too ill to be on the street in Walkerton that day, and she claimed he says she has done nothing in the House of Commons. On the table beside her she had placed a three-foot stack of Hansards with slips inserted to mark each speech she made there—several dozen of them. The other side with no slips showed Dr. Hall's work in the House. He made no speeches, did nothing but vote.

Dr. Hall, she heard, told a Chesley audience she had received Liberal campaign funds which she indignantly denied. He had told one elector at least she was against the Catholics and would endanger separate
