KILLING THE CATS

Research workers in London are tryng to perfect a serum to check the epidemic which is killing thousands of cats in all parts of Britain. The death rate is rising. The disease appears to be increasing in virulence, and the death is following more rapidly upon infection. A cat, one day in perfect condition, may be dying or dead the next. The attack may even prove fatal within 12 hours, and veterinary surgeons are he'pless in the absence of a serum.

The disease has been identified as a form of gastro-enteritus due to a virus infection. This virus infection is peculiar to cats and there is no risk to any other animals or duman beings. Theresearch staff of one of the finest scientific laboratories in the world is now co-operating with veterinary surgeons in the search for a serum. - The Brandon Sun.

Better Personnel In Public Service

Better personnel in public service is one of the most challenging needs of the times, the National Leakue of Women Voters has decided. And the league therefore appointed a committee to hammer that fact home to the public in every possible way. Mrs. George Gellhorn, of St. Louis. Mo., is chairman of this committee "The spoils system must go," declares Mrs. Gellhorn. "In this patronage trend lies the danger to democratic government," she states. "Heretofore America has been rich enough to afford waste and inefficiency in government, but from now on government will cost enough, even though every dollar is wisely spent. "The times call for a new and most patriotic attitude on the part of the ruling politicians toward the public service. We cannot afford to pay for inefficient and indifferent government workers. We can have efficient government only by providing permanent, trained, capable em-

Mrs. Gellhorn is regarded as one of St. Louis' outstanding women. Her activities in the league she calls her "profession," but her interests extend to many public projects in her home as well as those of national scope.
