Miss Macphail Honored by Egremont Friends

A splendid reception and banquet was tendered our popular member, Miss A. C. Macphail M. P. by her numerous Egremont friends in the Agricultural Hall, Holstein, last Wednesday evening, about 400 attending.

The following poem by J.A. Ferguson Egremont's poet, was read by Mrs. W. H. Rogers, in appreciation of our clever Member. She was presented previously with a finely worded address, which also appears below. It was read by Mrs J. Hill, and breathes out appreciation of her ability and work in Parliament and the affection of those who have the ability to recognize worth. A large bouquet of mums was presented at the same time by Mrs Alex Aitken. The sonnet by the same author was sung to an adapted tune by Wm. Ramage. Songs were sung by a quintette of young ladies; another by an equal number of boys, both bearing reference to the one being honored. Mr. and Mrs Eric Sharp gave two duets in the fine voice and harmony. Miss W. Blyth also sang. Speeches were given by W. H. Hunter, chairman, A. Haas, A. A. MacArthur, Reeve of Glenelg, F. R. Oliver, M.P.P. and Miss Macphail herself in a fine address in reply. Recitations by Misses Florence Patterson, Edith Hunter, Margaret Leith and Mr Archie Clark were much enjoyed. Two fine selections on a harmonica were given by J. Ziegler, Mt. Forest. A local orchestra of Miss Horsburgh at the piano, Wm. Ferguson and J. Carson on violins and another Cowan young man on the banjo, played while the large audience was gathering. The large agricultural hall was filled. A lunch was served at the close, with lots to go around. A short dancing season was had there after by those who cared.

The address reads: "Dear Miss Macphail: We have met on this happy occasion to celebrate with you our famous victory of Oct. 14, 1935. What a victory it is!

When the withered leaves were falling and the autumn winds were chill And the red deer sleek and handsome sped his way from hill to hill; When birds in flocks did gather to begin their southward flight, When the fields were bare of pasture and the cows came home at night, Then we heard the autos honking like the wild geese soaring high, And we knew what was the hurry as they rattled swiftly by, The thing we long were looking for had slowly come our way; The fourteenth of October and it was election day.

So the young girls woks up early and swept clean all the floors, The young men did the same outside and finished all the chores; The older man and lad's fair cut short their morning chats, They shined their shoes, brushed their hair and put on their Sunday hats. They said they'd do the same that day as they'd done before. They'd go and vote just as they pleased; tho' Grits and Tories swore, And like true ruralites they did, and shunned the rutted trail, Their footprints marked the new Highway, to vote for Miss Macphail.

The women folk smiled sweetly and their ballot marked with zeal With a pressure on the pencil that showed the act was real; For they had not forgotten yet that in the recent past, They did not have the privilege, their precious vote to cast.

And so they thought of Agnes, how she fought for women's rights, And how she bravely held her own among the higher lights; And how among the greater minds she helped to blaze a way, That made ten thousand people ask: "Where is that place called GR?"

And all day long the battle waged; her friends from far and near, Brought in the votes in confidence they had no cause to fear; For well they knew the sense of right would make the people think, And Parties in unholy fright, were hanging on the brink.

And when we heard the cheerful news at the closing of the day, We felt like little girls and boys, we'd run outside and play; But oh the great majority, it nearly gave us fits, We almost felt like weeping for the Tories and the Grits.

And now to both the parties we have a word to say, You'd better call your armies home and keep them out of Grey; And for your wonderous fighting men we never gave a hoot, You may have good repeaters but they don't know how to shoot.

The way we're making history this time in Grey and Bruce, Shows everything is working fine and there is nothing loose; To sum the whole thing up we'd say, without too much detail, It was a glorious victory for us and Miss Macphail.

Regardless of the fact that the country had swung to Liberalism also that your riding had been gerrymandered, making it very large and difficult and of course the three cornered fight. Still your majority is more than five times that of 1930.

"Your opponents were fond of telling us you had no party and could do nothing alone. We know what you can do and are not afraid to trust to your keen judgment, your absolute honesty and your Christian principles in the legislation of our country.

"We do regret that so many of your independent associates will be missing this coming session, but being independent, you can support legislation sponsored by either the Government or Opposition, so long as it is in the people's interest.

"This gathering in your honor represents the residents of Egremont township. We are proud of having polled your largest majority in the recent election and also of our record for consistent support of your candidature throughout your Parliamentary career. We are not proud of this record merely for the assistance it may have been to you, in being elected a member of the House of Commons for 5 successive terms, but rather as an evidence of our ability to recognize the greatness and grandeur of true service and to render it the homage and support which have been within our power.

"This occasion is one of glad thanksgiving that you, Miss Macphail achieved such a wonderful victory at the polls on October 14th. We are glad and grateful that our lot has been cast in your riding from the beginning of your public life and that we, through no particular merit on our part, have been privileged to be associated with a career that has won international recognition. Please accept this little token of love and may you be blessed with the best of health to carry on for years to come is the wish of all present."

IN MEMORIAM

LANE-In loving memory of our dear son and brother Arthur, who died Nov. 11, 1929. Six years have passed dear Arthur, Since you passed away, Yet the bitter pain of parting Rend's our hearts aches to-day. Short and sudden was the call, Of one so dearly loved by all, And only those who have loved can tell The pain of not saying the last farewell. A sudden shock, a loss severe, To part with one we loved so dear; Our loss was great, we'll not complain But trust in God to meet again. -Sadly missed by mother, sisters and brothers
