"A HOUSE OF MEMORIES" (By Lou'se Yates Towriss)

A delightful little chap-book has been put on the Christmas reading George A. Putnam, former superin- chicken supper. "Then in a tapestry of dreams, weave both smiles and tears. The memory of kindliness that bles sed me through the years; The trustfulness of children, their guilelessness and mirth, And oft my dear departed ones come winging back to earth.

I weave the freshening rain-drops, chaste sparkle of the snow, cawing of the crow, The glory of the rainbow arch, across a fern-clad dell, their magic, mystic spell."
