CANADIANS AND THEIR INDUSTRIES—AND THEIR BANK DAIRYING

HENRY: "Angus, do you ever think of the time we started this dairy business?"

ANGUS: "You bet I do, Henry. It all started with me driving that milk route at $20 a month and board. I worked early and hard for what I got, but the turn came when the boss was willing to sell out. The Bank of Montreal knew I was thrifty from the way my savings account had grown steadily. They helped a lot by lending me some money—on good security, of course; it gave me a good start. I still worked mighty hard, but the profits made me forget I was so tired. We have a nice balance at the Bank now."

HENRY: "Yes, and you took me in as a partner and gradually we worked up to a fine herd of our own and later a modern dairy outfit. And don't forget what our wives and children did, Angus."

ANGUS: "No, indeed! Even the girls joined calf clubs and borrowed money from the Bank to buy the first fine stock. They did their bit in building up our present prize-winning herd."

Not only are the largest dairy concerns in Canada customers of the Bank of Montreal, but hundreds of independent dairy farmers as well. Large and small, they keep their business deposits and savings at the Bank and borrow at times for seasonal requirements. Many of them call on the Bank for other services, such as credit information, market conditions. Many of them have their bonds and other valuable papers with the Bank for safekeeping.

HYMENEAL

BRYANT-LAMONT

The marriage took place at the parsonage, Holstein, by the Rev. Mr. Mercer of Isabel Elizabeth, second daughter of Mr and Mrs Hugh Lamont, Egremont, and Mr. Cecil Alexander Bryant, youngest son of James and the late Mrs Bryant of Tunbridge Wells, England.

The bride wore a pretty dress of crepe and satin. Her sister Jean attended her and wore blue crepe. Russell Drimie was best man. After ceremony the wedding party returned to the home of the bride where were assembled a number of relatives and friends. All sat down to a bounteous supper, the tables being adorned by a beautiful four story wedding cake.

The young couple left next day for Georgetown and Toronto, the bride travelling in a brown suede cord coat trimmed with beaver, and accessories to match. On their return they will reside on the 16th con., Egremont.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OF FORMER HOLSTEIN COUPLE.
