Hardening Child Against the Cold

Exposure Is Always Dangerous - Dress Little Ones Comfortably On Chilly, Raw Days

Fall and "hardening" time. "Hardening" is that foolish title too often given to exposure. Nothing makes us more irritable than to hear parents say the are hardening their children against cold weather and then see them do almost the opposite.

The gradual change in the weather does that for all of us. Pitch us from a July day into a post-Christmas blizzard and we would all be dead of pneumonia.

It is the slow change of atmospheric conditions and temperature that fortifies us against Eskimo climate. What we need to do is to use common sense ourselves so that we may do what nature intended-put more clothes on.

NATURE'S ROLE Nature thickens the coats of her own forest children in winter. She doesn't thicken ours because she gave us brains instead.

On a chill, gusty morning, a little chap out without a sweater. Just an expanse of bare legs and arms and a mite of a thin suit. Men and women were going about in comfortable woollens. But this bit of humanity was being "hardened" so he wouldn't catch cold.

Another day, a mother we know picked up a year-old baby, warm in the nursery, hurried on her bonnet and coat and took her right out on a fifteen-mile ride in the car. That, too, was a cool, windy day. I'm not going to coddle her," she said. "She has to get used to the air."

Still another mother refused to pull Making Of New Work Con- the same position, and there are a blanket up over Billy when she went in to inspect him at ten o'clock. "He slept with just a sheet over him all summer," she declared solemnly, "and I want to keep it up because I don't want him to get used to being warm."

OVER-ANXIOUS MOTHERS Now all these young mothers were functioning with the best intentions in the world. There are few mothers who are anything else but overanxious. But over-anxiety, like everything else, may get side-tracked down some narrow-gauge road and lead to trouble.

Things to remember are: Dress children as comfortably as you would dress yourself-not heavily but warmly, when weather is damp, chilly or windy.

Little girls particularly should be protected from cold. Any doctor will tell you that a number of the complaints that come to older girls and young women are the result of exposure to cold in the formative time of their lives. It is a well-known fact also that rheumatism frequently develops from chill and cold.

We see youngsters going off to school every morning on these ray damp fall days, with short socks and legs bare to above the knees and we do wish that we could impress upon mothers that this is absolutely wrong and that whether children like the appearance of them or not they should be wearing long woollen stockings or leggings.

Indian Forecasters See Mild Winter

QUEBEC - Quebec's Indian weather forecasters are at work again.

After carefully examining furbearing animals and finding the fur on their backs and stomachs short, they have arrived at the conclusion that Canada will have a mild wint-

Ordinarily, fur bearing animals are garbed in heavy coats of fur, an inch or more in length. This year the coats are but half the normal thickness - a sure sign, the Indians believe, that there will be no excessive cold or heavy falls of Another significant factor is that squirrels have not laid in great supplies of nuts. This is another sure sign of a mild winter.

Be it ours to see great things in the little. The hand of Omnipotence is on the dew drop as well as in the infinite constellation.—Parker.

Bank of Montreal's Strong Position

At the annual meeting of the | ter whether taxes are paid direct-Bank of Montreal, held at the Head Office on December 2, a large and representative gathering of shareholders expressed their unanimous approval of the statement and report of the directors for the fiscal year ending October

The balance sheet showed that the total assets amounted to $792,-800,000, compared with $759,100,-000 a year ago.

Profits, after deducting Dominion and Provincial Government taxes, amounted to $3,005,212 as compared with $3,204,369 in 1934 -a decrease of $119,000, over half of which is due to the increase in Dominion and Provincial taxes.

Sir Charles Gordon, president, in his address, said he was sorry interest on bank deposits was cut from three to two per cent. This, he said, was rendered necessary by the pressure of the Government and the Central Bank for lower rates on Government loans.

"These low rates," he explained, "have resulted in a drastic cutting down on the earnings of the chartered banks, which have been forced to reduce their rates to depositors. Based on the results of the Bank of Montreal, it means that the depositors in all Canadian banks are receiving some $17,000,000 less per annum than they did when the rate was 3%. In a sense this reduction may be regarded as a form of concealed taxation. I think that the sooner the public is educated to these facts, the better. Every man and woman should realize that no mat.

ly or not, no citizen escapes paying his share of the cost of government."

General Manager's Address Mr. Jackson Dodds, joint general manager, in explaining the various items in the Bank's statement, referred to the failure of the lowering of the interest structure of the country to stimulate borrowing of money for productive and constructive purposes, remarking: "Lenders naturally shortened the terms of their commitments. They would not risk long term investments at low rates in the face of experiments of one kind and another, whether monetary, economic or socialistic. Until confidence is inspired by the adoption and carrying out of sound policies, the balancing of budgets by effecting economies and by the reduction of taxes, long term investments will be postponed and business recovery retarded. "Taxation," he proceeded, "is primarily intended to cover state and municipal essential expenditures. That we have drifted a long way from the original intention is becoming more and more apparent. The burden of taxation imposed by our numerous governing bodies has grown to the point where it consumes capital resources, saps energy and enterprise, discourages industry, production and construcployment. ## Some Folks Miss Christmas

Christmas, it has been said, is almost as much a thing of the hearth as of the heart, and it is quite tru that the Yuletide festival is essentially one to be observed in the firelight and laughter of the home. A Christmas which lacks the joy of the family gathering, the customary pleasures of the heavily laden table, "In these times I do not think there the jolly games that are indulged in is any other movement that greater by old and young alike, can scarcely be called a Christmas at all. And Scout Movement." - Sir Francis yet there are hundreds and perhaps thousands of men (and to a smaller extent, women) who have to forego the real Christmas of hearth and home, for the sole reason that the ordinary machinery of workaday life cannot be closed down entirely, no matter how insistent the call of the gaily decorated homes, and the pleasures of the firelight and the festive

Increases Flow of Food — Erect Posture Produces "Perpetual Cerebral Anaemia

HAMILTON, N.Y. - Justification

A few months ago Dr. Donald A. Laird, Colgate's professor of psychology, found that office workers slowed down mentally after a heavy lunch more than after a light one. He suspected that the explanation might be that the digestive process was drawing blood from the brain. TEST PROVES CONTENTION

To test this, he had six young men do mental arithmetic while lying on cots, alternatively tilted so that their heads were a foot lower than their feet and a foot higher.

They made 100 successive mental additions in each position. With heads low, and ear flushing showing more blood to the head, they were 7.1 per cent faster and 14.1 per cent "The erect position of human be-
